JAMES F. BURKE DIES SUDDENLY; G. O. P. COUNSEL

Succumbs in Hospital After Conferences With Hoover.

PRESIDENT CALLED AID, NOTING ILLNESS

Heart Attack Began Upon Train; Trip to Europe Was to Start Today.

An illness which became manifest during a conference with President Hoover last night, proved fatal to James Francis Burke, 65 years old, of Pittsburgh, general counsel of the Republican national committee. He died in Garfield Hospital several hours after he was taken there.

Mr. Burke had conferred with the President twice during the day. His illness had been presaged on his trip to Washington from Pittsburgh, for he was unable to sleep and spent most of the night walking the aisles of his car in order to get his breath.

During the afternoon conference, the President noted that Mr. Burke appeared to be ill and called Dr. Joel T. Boone, the President's personal physician, to attend him. Dr. Boone had him taken to his room in a downtown hotel and after an examination, persuaded him to go to Garfield Hospital.

Planned European Trip.

The announcement of Mr. Burke's death came from the White House. The death was caused by coronary thrombosis which followed a dilation of the heart that had apparently occurred some time earlier, the announcement said.

Mr. Burke had tendered his regrets to President Hoover that he would be unable to attend the acceptance ceremonies Thursday. He had planned to leave for New York and join Mrs. Burke to sail for Europe today. When it was seen that Mr. Burke was seriously ill last night, the trip was canceled on the insistence of Dr. Boone.

The President was deeply shocked when he was told of Mr. Burke's death, White House officials said.

Mr. Burke is survived by his wife, Mrs. Francis Scott Burke, a son and a daughter, a Mrs. Rogers, of Pittsburgh. His son was on the way to Washington last night.

(Associated Press.)

James Francis Burke was born in Petroleum Center, Venango County, Pa., October 21, 1867. Poste high in the Republican party came to him during his intensively active life. He represented the United States in the Parliamentary Peace Conference in Brussels in 1905. He was a fiery orator, a colorful figure.

Burke's father was an oil producer. In 1892 he was graduated from the University of Michigan

Flier Found Dead In Mountain Crash

Passenger Seriously Hurt as Rescuers Locate Pair Near Tucson, Ariz.

Tucson, Ariz., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—James Norris, Tucson aviator, whose plane crashed in the Santa Catalina Mountains yesterday, was found dead today at the bottom of a remote, rock-ribbed basin. His passenger, Archie Grout, of Tucson and Bosworth, Mo., was dangerously injured and doubt was expressed that he would live.

Dr. E. J. Gotthelf, a member of one of three parties of rescuers who entered the mountains last night after a boy had brought word of the accident, returned today for supplies and told of the tragic scene.

Grout and the body of Norris, he said, could not be brought to Tucson before late tonight or tomorrow, owing to almost inaccessible position of the plane. He believed Grout could not survive the arduous trip. The plane was a twisted mass, but it did not burn.

Mexican Ambassador To Resign, Is Report

Mexico City, Aug. 8 (U.P.).—It was reported tonight that Jose Manuel Puig Casaurane does not intend to return to Washington, although he has not yet resigned the ambassadorship. He has been mentioned as a possible successor to Abelardo Rodrigues, who left the post of secretary of industry to succeed to the war ministry.

It was believed that in event of Puig's resignation, which appears certain, Javier Sanchez Mejorada, former president of the National Railroads, would become ambassador. He was an intimate of the late Dwight W. Morrow, and is one of Mexico's ablest public men.

BOLIVIA REQUESTED TO LAY DOWN ARMS

U. S. and Other Neutrals to Send Similar Note to Paraguay on Chaco.

(Associated Press.)

Bolivia was called upon by representatives of the United States and other neutrals yesterday to lay down her arms in the Chaco by daybreak tomorrow. A similar request will be made of Paraguay as soon as Bolivia's disposition in the matter has been made known.

Delegates of Mexico, Cuba and Colombia, with Assistant Secretary Francis White of the State Department, drafted the note sent to Bolivia asking for cessation of hostilities under an armistice based on territorial positions of troops in the Chaco as of June 1, 1932, and giving the disputants until August 10 to comply. Uruguay, the other neutral, was not represented, but it was assumed she had concurred.

A note was dispatched to Paraguay informing that government of the terms of the message to Bolivia and asking that Paraguay be prepared similarly to suspend all hostilities and warlike preparations in its Chaco controversy with Bolivia.

Bolivia was requested to reply, as the matter was represented as being urgent. Although the text of the note was not disclosed, it was learned the neutrals "insisted" on compliances with their suggestions.

The Bolivian Legation yesterday made public a cablegram from the La Paz government terming "absolutely false" reports that Bolivian troops have recaptured Fort Carlos Antonio Lopez in the disputed Chaco region.

"Please deny this false statement, which probably means that Paraguay is preparing a pretext for a new aggression," said the cablegram.

Asuncion, Paraguay, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Fort Carlos Antonio Lopez, scene of the clash which precipitated the present conflict between Paraguay and Bolivia over the potentially wealthy Gran Chaco territory, changed hands again today for the third time within seven weeks.

Foreign Minister Higinio Arbo sent Secretary of State Stimson at Washington a message, notifying him that Bolivian forces attacked Fort Lopez anew and asking him to inform the other neutral American nations, which lately have attempted to bring about a peaceful settlement of the Paraguayan-Bolivian dispute.

June 15 Bolivian forces took the fort away from the Paraguayans. Jn July the Paraguayans took it back again. Today an official communique announced that the fort once more was in the hands of the Bolivans.

The communique asserted that Fort Lopez, which is about 100 miles west

LIBBY HOLMAN GETS FREEDOM IN $25,000 BAIL

Emerges From Seclusion and Takes Habeas Writ to Court.

IS HEAVILY VEILED FOR ARRAIGNMENT

Prosecutor Admits He Has Insufficient Evidence for First Degree.

Wentworth, N. C., Aug 8 (A.P.).—Libby Holman Reynolds, former Broadway blues singer, was released under $25,000 bail today pending her trial on a charge that she murdered her husband, Smith Reynolds, youthful heir to one-fourth of the R. J. Reynolds tobacco millions.

The young widow came out of the seclusion which she sought and obtained when officers of several States began a search in an effort to serve an arrest warrant on her, and surrendered to Rockingham County officers shortly before she went into court here with a writ of habeas corpus.

Remains Heavily Veiled.

Dressed in mourning and heavily veiled, she sat silently through the brief proceedings in which the State, through Solicitor Carlisle Higgins, consented to bail, announcing there was insufficient evidence now to support a first degree murder charge.

It was the same announcement and in almost identical words with that made Saturday by Higgins when Libby's codefendant, Albert (Ab) Walker, 19-year-old Winston-Salem youth who was a chum of Reynolds, obtained his release under $25,000 bond.

After the hearing, which was witnessed by a crowd that filled the small, brick courthouse, Libby went to Reidsville, 7 miles away, in an automobile with her brother, Alfred Holman, jr., and Dr. M. P. Cummings, Reidsville physician, who attended the singer throughout the proceedings.

Father Says "No Plans."

Asked when Libby intended to leave Reidsville, and about her plans for the immediate future, Holman at first said shortly:

"We have no plans."

Later, however, he said his daughter would not leave Reidsville tonight. Beyond that he gave no information.

In concealment since the Forsyth County grand jury indicted her and Walker last Thursday, Libby appeared in Wentworth at 2:50 p. m. today, coming from the direction of Reidsville.

Benet Polikoff, of Winston-Salem, defense counsel, said his client arrived in Reidsville, a tobacco manufacturing center, about 15 miles below the Virginia line, at 1:30 p. m., after a trip through the country. He said he did not know where she came from, or where she had been since efforts to locate her were begun.

Libby Holman Obtained Havre, de Grace Haven

Baltimore, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—The Baltimore News said today it had learned that Libby Holman Reynolds has been living in Maryland for the last three weeks and left early yesterday in a speedboat for an unannounced destination.

During her stay in Maryland, the paper said, she resided at an estate near Havre de Grace, belonging to Leonard Richards, jr., vice president of the Atlas Powder Co., who said it had been leased to persons he did not

COTTON UP $5 BALE; STOCKS SPURT BY $6

Trading Is Swiftest in Two Years, While Bonds Also Advance Sharply.

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—The most violent upswing in cotton in more than two years, the swiftest trading in stocks in nearly two years, and the sharpest advance in bonds in two months, marked the big bull push in the Nation's leading financial markets today.

Cotton surged up more than $5 a bale, as the Government estimated this year's crop far below the average of recent years, and Wall street quickly recalled that a short crop in that staple in 1921 was an important factor in boosting the markets out of the postwar depression.

Stocks met three successive waves of profit-taking, and the last one was sufficient to reduce the day's extreme advances substantially, but many leading issues closed $1 to $6 a share higher, and the turnover of 5,544,380 was the largest since October of 1930. At the best prices, when many stocks were up $2 to $8 a share, it was a market which would have gladdened the hearts of the bulls even in the prosperity mad days of 1929.

The bond market, forged ahead in the last hour, when stocks were slipping off from the crest, and the turnover in this market, at $14,698,000 par value, reached the largest proportions since April, in fact the largest since the leading New York banks formed their $100,000,000 bond investing pool early in June. Advances in many issues, particularly rails and utilities, ranged from $10 to $40 per $1,000 bond. Price averages showed the sharpest gain in this market in two months.

A wide range of staples participated in the advance. Wheat futures at Chicago advanced 1½ to 1¾ cents a bushel, getting up roughly 10 cents from the year's low. Hides were a bull feature of the New York futures markets, advancing 3-10 to 5-10 of a cent a pound, in the largest turnover in nine months, aggregating 4,600,000 pounds. Butter and eggs reached new highs for the movement at Chicago and in New York advances were registered by rubber, silk, copper, silver, raw sugar, coffee and cocoa.

There were indications that a group of New York bankers would participate in the plan suggested by Eu-

Colorado Names Primary Choices

Both Parties Will Select Candidates at Polls, September 13.

Denver, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—The Democratic Assembly today selected Alva B. Adams, of Pueblo, and John T. Barnett, of Denver, as the party's candidates for United States senator in the September 13 primary.

Edwin C. Johnson, lieutenant governor, and Judge E. V. Holland, of Denver, were chosen for the gubernatorial race, Johnson receiving 1,143 votes to 296 for Holland.

Republicans Saturday chose Karl S. Schuyler, Denver attorney, and State Senator Nate C. Warren, of Fort Collins, for United States senator, and James D. Parriott, Denver city attorney, and Warren F. Bleecher, former Boulder County legislator, for governor.

Under the Colorado system candidates must receive 20 per cent of the total vote at the State assemblies for designation on the primary ticket.

B.E.F. Ouster at Capital Is Praised by Payne

New York, Aug. 3 (A.P.).—The evacuation of bonus marchers from Washington recently was cited by Frederick H. Payne, Assistant Secretary of War, today as one of the manifold peace time duties of the Army.

Speaking at ceremonies in observance of the 143d anniversary of the War Department, Mr. Payne praised the Federal troops for handling the situation without bloodshed.

BARKLEY TAKES 34,000 LEAD IN KENTUCKY VOTE

Former Senator Martin Second, With Wright Running Third.

INCUMBENT IS FIRM FOR REPEAL PLANK

Regular Slate Has Edge in Spirited Race for Nine Seats in House.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—With almost one-half of the primary vote counted, United States Senator Alben W. Barkley tonight appeared almost certain of victory in his fight for a chance to be the first Kentuckian in 30 years to serve more than six years in the upper branch of Congress.

Returns from 1,829 of the State's 4,195 precincts gave the Democratic national convention keynoter 59,897 votes—more than a two-to-one lead over his closest opponent for the Democratic nomination, former Senator George B. Martin, who had 25,958. The third and last candidate, Dr. J. F. Wright, had 2,764.

Barkley, in his campaign, said he stands unequivocally on the Democratic platform, including the repeal plank, and Martin avowed he had always opposed prohibition. Wright also favored repeal.

Republicans will not select their senatorial nominee until September 7 in State convention here.

House Incumbents Win.

Incumbent Democratic representatives also appeared to have been successful in their fight for nomination. Of the 27 seeking the nine congressional nominations at stake, the seven incumbents were well in the lead, along with John Young Brown, speaker of the 1932 House of Representatives, and Finley Hamilton, one of the State administration candidates. Brown was the only one of the first nine not on the unofficial administration slate.

Returns from 1,667 precincts placed the following in the lead:

Fred M. Vinson, 38,282; Virgil Chapman, 35,775; A. J. May, 35,524; W. V. Gregory, 34,265; Glover H. Cary, 33,413; Brent Spence, 32,440; Brown, 29,485; C. R. Gadden, 25,361, and Hamilton, 24,176. All but Hamilton and Brown are incumbents and all nine supported the Democratic repeal platform.

Thatcher Leads in G. O. P.

In the Republican race, Maurice H. Thatcher, the only incumbent, had a lead of almost 3,000 over his nearest opponent on returns from 1,463 precincts. The vote for the first 9 of the 22 candidates stood: Thatcher, 12,182; former Representative Robert Blackburn, 9,503; William Lewis, 9,287; Hilliard H. Smith, 7,536; B. T. Rountree, 7,485; George P. Willison, 7,200; Hugh H. Asher, 7,121; former Representative J. Lincoln Newhall, 7,089, and D. E. McClure, 7,086. McClure, Newhall and Rountree stood on the Republican prohibition platform, while the others favored retention of the eighteenth amendment.

Under a 1930 congressional act,

Davison May Run On Ticket in N. Y.

Assistant War Secretary Is Urged as G. O. P. Candidate for Governor.

New York, Aug. 7 (U.P.).—F. Trubee Davison, Assistant Secretary of War, today announced he may be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor.

Davison, in a telegram to James L. Dowsey, member of the Republican State committee from Nassau County, Davison's home, said he would run for the office if the State Republican party desired him to do so.

Davison, en route by air from Washington to the West Coast on an inspection tour of Army air stations, telegraphed Dowsey from Phoenix, Ariz., after Dowsey had offered to withdraw his own candidacy for the nomination for attorney general since there would not be room for two Republicans from the same county on the State ticket.

Misdirected Shot Sends 13 Children to Hospital

East Chicago, Ind., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—A shotgun charge that went awry when two Negroes carried their quarrel into a playground tonight sent 13 children playing there to a hospital, suffering from superficial wounds.

Police said the charge had been intended for Hallas McGee. Neither he nor his assailant, Robert Herell, has been found. The children wounded were all Negroes.

Full Text of Stimson's Speech on Kellogg Pact

Following is the complete text of the address delivered in New York last night by Secretary of State Stimson, before the Council on Foreign Relations. Secretary Stimson spoke on "The Pact of Paris; Three Years of Development."

Four years ago the United States joined with France in the initiation of the so-called Briand-Kellogg pact for the renunciation of war. A year later, in 1929, the pact became formally effective, and it has now been adhered to by 62 nations. Scarcely had its ratification been announced on July 24, 1929, when it became subjected to the first of a series of difficult challenges which are still going on. In the defense of the pact in these tests the American Government has been a leader. I believe it would be appropriate, in the light of this three years' history, to take stock now of what the pact is, the direction in which it is developing, and the part which we may hope that it eventually will play in the affairs of the world.

Events have been moving so rapidly since the great war and we have been so close to them, that it is difficult to obtain an adequate perspective. I think, therefore, that it is well to summarize briefly the background out of which this great treaty came and against which it must be judged.

Prior to the Great War many men had had visions of a warless world and had made efforts to accomplish the abolition of war, but these efforts had never resulted in any very general or effective combinations of nations directed toward that end. During the centuries which had elapsed since the beginning of international law, a large part of that law had been a development of principles based upon the existence of war.

The existence and legality of war were to a large extent the central facts out of which these legal principles grew and on which they rested. Thus the development of the doctrine of neutrality was predicated upon the duty of a neutral to maintain impartiality between two belligerents. This implies that each belligerent has equal rights and is owed equal duties by the neutral. It implies that the war between them is a legal situation out of which these rights and duties grow. Therefore it is contrary to this aspect of international law for the neutral to take sides between belligerents or to pass a moral judgment upon the rightfulness or wrongfulness of the cause of either—at least to the extent of translating such a judgment into action. So long as a neutral exercised this strict impartiality, international law afforded

CHEERING REPORTS DELUGE PRESIDENT

Leaders Called for Advice on Speech Tell Him Outlook for Election Is Bright.

(Associated Press.)

A series of optimistic reports, all forecasting victory for President Hoover in his reelection campaign, yesterday poured in upon the Chief Executive and stirred the loudest hum of political activity heard at the White House in many months.

Concentrating on his Thursday night speech of acceptance, the President talked to one political leader after another, particularly about his handling of the prohibition and foreign affairs sections.

In return, each conferee reported he had delivered either to Mr. Hoover or Walter H. Newton, his political secretary, prophecies that the Chief Executive's chances for another turn in the White House were bright.

Senator Moses (Republican), New Hampshire, after two conferences totaling nearly three hours, said he was "able to report cheerfully" that both New York and Massachusetts could be listed in the Hoover column.

Representative William E. Hull (Republican), Illinois, said he had told Secretary Newton that trips through Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa had convinced him Mr. Hoover would poll heavy majorities there.

Cleveland Newton, former representative from Missouri, said he had

Arkansas Votes Today In Hotly Fought Contest

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—The biennial Democratic primary campaign in Arkansas, fought out on issues arising from present and past State administrations and the economic situation, ended tonight with seven men seeking to succeed Gov. Harvey Parnell and six running against Senator Hattie W. Caraway for renomination.

Confronted with the longest ballot in years, an estimated 225,000 voters tomorrow will mark their choices for these two offices and scores of other State, district and county places.

BRAZILIANS ATTACK OLYMPIAD REFEREE

Water Polo Team Barred After Massed Assault on Official at End.

Swimming Stadium, Los Angeles, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Brazil's water polo team was disqualified from further participation in the championships of the tenth Olympiad here late today, following their massed attack on Bela Komjadi, of Hungary, who had refereed their match with Germany.

At the same time J. Da Silva, goalie, Serpa, left back, and Branco, a reserve, were barred from further participation in the swimming events of the games.

In a written statement Dr. Lee Donath, president of the International Federation, said:

"The Brazilian Water Polo Team has been disqualified from further participation in matches of these Olympic games. Furthermore, three of the team—Da Silva, Branco and Serpa—if they are entered in any other aquatic events of these Olympics, will not be allowed to participate.

"The whole incident is being transferred to the International Swimming Federation."

Dr. Donath said he did not know what action the federation as a congress would take when it holds its meeting August 14.

The riot broke out late in the day, when the Brazilian team, protesting the decisions rendered by Komjadi, attacked him in a body as the game ended.

Police and pool attendants rushed to the rescue of Komjadi, as fists flew and many German and Brazilian countrymen rushed past the guards to the pool edge. The game was won by Germany, 7 to 3, after repeated fouls had been called on the Brazilians and as many protests had been made by the South Americans.

The referee's decision during the game had been greeted by frequent boos from the 9,000 persons in the stand, with most of the spectators feeling that the Brazilians had been discriminated against.

He ejected one Brazilian from the

STIMSON HOLDS WORLD'S PEACE IS U.S. CONCERN

Policy of Consultation and Moral Suasion Is Stressed in Speech.

KELLOGG-BRIAND PACT HAILED AS NEW ORDER

Traces Part Paris Treaty Will Play in International Affairs.

LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Defining American foreign policy anew in the light of three years' experiences under the Kellogg-Briand pact, Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson gave notice to the world last night that a threat to international peace—in whatever quarter—is an immediate and direct concern of the United States Government.

In a historic address before the Council on Foreign Relations, in New York, Mr. Stimson acknowledged that the Paris pact "necessarily carries with it the implication of consultation" with other powers when aggression is threatened and expressed the hope that this view "will become one of the great and permanent policies of our Nation." At the same time, he reaffirmed vigorously this country's allegiance to the doctrine of moral suasion against potential aggressors, as opposed to all systems of military or economic sanctions.

"From the day of its ratification on July 24, 1929," Mr. Stimson said, "it has been the determined aim of the American Government to make this sanction of public opinion effective and to insure that the Pact of Paris should become a living force in the world. We have recognized the hopes which it represented. We have resolved that they shall not be disappointed."

Joint Declaration Cited.

He cited as the keystone of American policy the joint declaration signed by President Hoover and Premier MacDonald after the Rapidan conversations in October, 1929, wherein both governments accepted the treaty renouncing war, "not only as a declaration of good intentions, but as a positive obligation to direct national policy in accordance with its pledge."

In line with this policy, Mr. Stimson recalled, the United States has undertaken on several notable occasions not only to remind other nations of their treaty obligations, but to lead the way in the mobilization of world opinion against overt aggression. And after a hasty review of such leadership in both the Sino-Russian and the Sino-Japanese clashes in Manchuria, he reverted once more to the cardinal point of the new American policy: "We have been determined that the new order represented by this great treaty shall not fail."

John W. Davis Presides.

Mr. Stimson's address was delivered before a distinguished audience in the Ritz-Carlton Hotel. The official text of his address, as made public at the State Department last night, later was broadcast from New York over a Nation-wide radio chain. John W. Davis presided at the meeting of the Council on Foreign Relations.

The primary purpose of his address, Mr. Stimson told his audience, was to trace the history of the Paris treaty for guidance as to "the direction in which it is developing, and the part which we may hope that it eventually will play in the affairs of the world."

Events have moved so rapidly since the World War, he continued, that the profound significance of the treaty, through which 62 nations have renounced war as an instrument of national policy, has been lost to many casual observers of international affairs. Briefly, he explained, the ulti-

80 Employes of District Exempted From Pay Cuts

McCarl Rules 51 Special Crossing Policemen, 25 Utilities Commission Workers and Others Are Excused From Furlough Restrictions.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

Approximately 80 municipal employes of the District yesterday were exempted from furlough-pay-cut provisions of the economy act, under a ruling of Comptroller General J. R. McCarl.

District employes receiving pay exclusively from miscellaneous trust fund deposits, not appropriated for, were specifically excused from furlough restrictions, McCarl wrote the District Commissioners.

The ruling affects some 51 special crossing policemen, 25 or 30 Public Utilities Commission employes engaged in revaluation work, and 2 or 3 others, it was said at the District auditor's office.

Other developments yesterday in the economy-law tangle were:

Representative James M. Mead (Democrat), of New York, chairman of the House committee on postoffice and post roads, asked the Comptroller if it would be necessary to bring mandamus proceedings against the Postmaster General to compel him to grant paid military leave to postal clerks.

Judge William J. Graham, of the Court of Customs and Patent Appeals, took issue with the Comptroller's ruling that a month's pay must be impounded in the Treasury for every employe furloughed for the 1933 fiscal year. He wrote the Civil Service Commission, which, in turn, forwarded his letter to the Comptroller.

Meanwhile the Comptroller delayed decision on the Civil Service appeal last week from this ruling. In its other phases, it vitally affects the future of the five-day week in Government.

The review may be handed down today. Unless the Comptroller re-

George E. Judd, of Capital, Marries Japanese Coed

Young President of Publishing Firm Hastens Ceremony When He Learns Professor's Daughter Is About to Return to Native Land.

Cambridge, Mass., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—A romance beginning while both were students at Columbia University three years ago resulted today in the marriage of Kini Tsunoda, 23, daughter of a Japanese professor at Columbia and Harvard, to George E. Judd, 26, of Washington, D. C., and Florida.

The ceremony was performed at the Faculty Club with Prof. R. Tsunoda and several close friends as witnesses. Dr. T. C. Porter, a missionary friend of the Tsunoda family, was the officiating clergyman.

Judd arrived hurriedly from Florida Saturday after he had learned Miss Tsunoda was to sail for Japan with her father in a few days.

Judd proposed and was accepted. Then he faced the Massachusetts five-day law, but secured a waiver.

With the waiver the couple sped to Cambridge City Hall and there was granted a license.

Tonight Mrs. Judd was continuing her plans for the trip to the Orient while her husband returns to Florida. She will rejoin him in the fall when her father returns to Columbia.

Mr. Judd has extensive farm holdings in Florida. He lives at 3411 Massachusetts avenue, Washington.

Inquiries at the Judd home last night were referred to Maj. Julius I. Peyser, attorney for the family, and the firm of Judd & Detweiler. According to Maj. Peyser, Mr. Judd succeeded to the presidency of the publishing firm on the death of his father, George H. Judd, some time ago. He has devoted much of his time to his orange groves in Florida, which are extensive, Maj. Peyser said. The active management of the publishing concern is in the hands of John H. Davis, vice president and general manager.

WORLD PEACE HELD AS CONCERN OF U.S.

Stimson Traces Part Paris Pact Is Expected to Play in Minimizing War.

mate significance of the pact is this: Whereas international law was historically based upon war and the rule of possession, the "new order," as he described it, is grounded upon the rights of nations in peace. He then traced this development through the League of Nations to the Paris treaty. He continued:

Duelist's Code Banned.

"Hereafter when two nations engage in armed conflict either one of them or both of them must be wrongdoers—violators of this general treaty law. We no longer draw a circle about them and treat them with the punctilios of the duelist's code. Instead we denounce them as lawbreakers."

In support of this view, he cited the definitions of former Secretary Kellogg while the treaty still was in embryonic form, and the later declaration of M. Briand, who quoted former President Coolidge on the policy that, "An act of war in any part of the world is an act that injures the interests of my country."

The repression of war in Manchuria in 1929 and again in 1931 were cited as evidences of the power of world opinion to check illegal aggression. The American note of January 7 last, declining in advance to recognize any new situation in Manchuria which might result from Japanese aggression, was characterized as a milestone in the testing of the real power of the Paris treaty. This principle was affirmed by 49 nations in the League Assembly at Geneva on March 11.

Strength of Moral Disapproval.

"Moral disapproval, when it becomes the disapproval of the whole world, takes on a significance hitherto unknown in international law," Mr. Stimson said. "For never before has international opinion been so organized and mobilized."

Mr. Stimson's observation that the Paris treaty implied an obligation upon all signatories to consult one another when the peace of the world appeared to be threatened was widely interpreted in diplomatic circles here as a significant development in American policy.

A "consultative pact" against aggression long has been a cardinal point of policy with several European powers, notably France, and that subject was for a time one of the major interests of the London naval conference of 1930.

After pointing out that "any effective invocation of the power of world opinion postulates discussion and consultation," Mr. Stimson elaborated his point with these words:

Force of Consultation.

"That the pact thus necessarily carries with it the implication of consultation has perhaps not been fully appreciated by its well-wishers who have been so anxious that it be implemented by a formal provision for consultation. But with the clarification which has been given to its significance by the developments of the last three years, and the vitality with which it has been imbued by the positive construction put upon it, the misgivings of those well wishers should be put at rest. That the American people subscribe to this view is made clear by the fact that each of the platforms adopted by the two great party conventions at Chicago contains planks indorsing the principals of consultation.

"I believe this view of the Brian-Kellogg pact which I have discussed will become one of the great and permanent policies of our Nation. It is founded upon conceptions of law and ideals of peace which are among the most cherished faiths of the American people. It is a policy which combines the readiness to cooperate for peace and justice in the world which Americans have always manifested; while at the same time it preserves the independence of judgment and the flexibility of action upon which our people have always insisted.

"I believe that this policy must strike a chord of sympathy in the conscience of all other nations. We feel that the lessons taught by the Great War must not be forgotten. The determination to abolish war which emerged from that calamity must not be relaxed."

Dr. Rinehart Leaves Utica for Washington

Utica, N. Y., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Dr. Stanley Rinehart, husband of Mary Roberts Rinehart, the novelist, left Utica for his home in Washington, D. C., on a private Pullman car late today, after being confined to a hospital for more than a week. He suffered a collapse at his summer camp at Little Moose Lake, in the Adirondacks, and, while he shows some improvement since he was brought here, his condition still is regarded as serious.

Millicent Rogers' Mate Denies Divorce Reports

Paris, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Arturo Peralta Ramos, Argentine husband of the former Millicent Rogers, tonight denied reports published abroad that he and his wife had been divorced. Mrs. Ramos is a daughter of Col. H. H. Rogers, American capitalist.

to him, his commerce and his property certain rights of protection.

And during the generations which preceded the Great War much of the growth of international humanitarianism was associated with attempts not to abolish war but to narrow and confine its destructive effects by the development of these doctrines of neutrality. Their chief purpose was to produce oases of safety for life and property in a world which still recognized and legalized the destruction of human life and property as one of the regular methods for the settlement of international controversies and the maintenance of international policy.

The Influence of Invention.

The mechanical inventions of the century preceding the Great War, and the revolutionary changes in industrial and social organization by which they were accompanied, have produced inevitable effects upon the concept of war which I have described. Communities and nations became less self-contained and more interdependent; the population of industrialized states became much larger and more dependent for their food supplies upon far distant sources; the civilized world thus became very much more vulnerable to war.

On the other hand, with these mechanical advances modern armies became more easily transportable and therefore larger, and were armed with more destructive weapons. By these changes the inconsistency of war with normal life became sharper and more acute; the destructiveness of war to civilization became more emphatic; apparent. The laws of neutrality became increasingly ineffective to prevent even strangers to the original quarrel from being drawn into the general conflict.

Finally there came the Great War, dragging into its maelstrom almost the entire civilized world; tangible proof was given of the impossibility of confining modern war within any narrow limits, and it became evident to the most casual observer that if this evolution were permitted to continue, war, perhaps the next war, would drag down and utterly destroy our civilization.

Organization Against War.

Before this war was over it began to be called "a war to end war," and at the Peace Conference at Versailles the victorious nations entered into a covenant which sought to reduce the possibility of war to its lowest terms. The League of Nations Covenant did not undertake entirely to proscribe wars between nations. It left unrestricted a zone in which such wars might occur without reprobation. Furthermore, it provided under certain circumstances for the use of force by the community of nations against a wrongdoer as a sanction. It created a community group of nations pledged to restrict war and equipped with machinery for that purpose. Some of this machinery, notably article 11, which provides, on a threat of war, for the calling of a conference for purposes of conciliation, has on several occasions proved a valuable influence in the prevention of war. Another important and beneficent result of the league organization has been the regular conferences which are held between the representatives of the different nations. These discussions have proved to be effective agencies for the settlement of controversies and thus for war prevention. By them there also has been developed, particularly among the nations of Europe, a community spirit which can be evoked to prevent war. In all of these ways there has been produced the beginning of a group sentiment which is wholly at variance with some of the old doctrines in respect to war.

War Is Outlawed.

Nine years later, in 1928, came the still more sweeping step of the Pact of Paris, the Briand-Kellogg pact. In this treaty substantially all the nations of the world united in a covenant in which they renounced war altogether as an instrument of national policy in their relations with one another and agreed that the settlement of all disputes or conflicts of whatever nature among them should never be sought except by pacific means.

The change of atttiude on the part of world public opinion toward former customs and doctrines, which is evidenced by these two treaties, is so revolutionary that it is not surprising that the progress has outstripped the landmarks and orientation of many observers. The treaties signalize a revolution in human thought, but they are not the result of impulse or thoughtless sentiment. At bottom they are the growth of necessity, the product of a consciousness that unless some such step were taken modern civilization would be doomed.

Under its present organization, the world simply could not go on recognizing war, with its constantly growing destructiveness, as one of the normal instrumentalities of human life. Human organization has become too complex, too fragile, to be subjected to the hazards of the new agencies of destruction turned loose under the sanction of international law. So the entire central point from which the problem was viewed was changed. War between nations was renounced by the signatories of the Briand-Kellogg Treaty. This means that it has become illegal throughout practically the ehtire world. It is no longer to be the source and subject of rights. It is no longer to be the principle around which the duties, the conduct and the rights of nations revolve. It is an illegal thing. Hereafter when two nations engage in armed conflict either one or both of them must be wrongdoers—violators of this general treaty law. We no longer draw a circle about them and treat them with the punctilios of the duelist's code. Instead, we denounce them as lawbreakers.

By that very act we have made obsolete many legal precedents and have given the legal profession the task of reexamining many of its codes and treatises.

The language of the Briand-Kellogg treaty and the contemporaneous statements of its founders make its purpose clear. Some of its critics have asserted that the pact was really not a treaty at all; that it was not intended to confer rights and liabilities; that it was a mere group of unilateral statements made by the signatories, declaring a pious purpose on the part of each, of which purpose the signatory was to be the sole judge and executor, and for a violation of which no other signatory could call him to account.

If such an interpretation were correct, it would reduce the pact to a mere gesture. If its promises conferred no rights as between the members of the community of signatories, it would be a sham. It would be worse than a nullity, for its failure would carry down the faith of the world in other efforts for peace.

"But such critics are wrong. There is nothing in the language of the pact nor in its contemporaneous history to justify such an interpretation. On its face it is a treaty containing definite promises. In its preamble it expressly refers to the 'benefits furnished by this treaty,' and states that any signatory power violating its promise shall be denied those benefits.

"The correspondence of the framers of the treaty show that they intended it to be a treaty which would confer benefits, which might be lost by a violation thereof. During the period when the treaty was under negotiation, Mr. Kellogg declared in a public address:

> "If war is to be abolished it must be through the conclusion of a specific treaty solemnly binding the parties not to resort to war with one another. It can not be abolished by a mere declaration in the preamble of a treaty." (Speech of March 15, 1928, before the Council on Foreign Relations at New York.)

In drafting the treaty Mr. Kellogg rightly and tenaciously fought for a clear, terse prohibition of war free from any detailed definitions or reservations. In his own words he sought—

> "A treaty so simple and unconditional that the people of all nations could understand it, a declaration which could be a rallying point for world sentiment, a foundation on which to build a world peace." (Speech of March 28, 1930, before the League of Political Education at New York.)

Any other course would have opened the door to technicalities and destructive limitations.

Warns Against Aggression.

As it stands, the only limitation to the broad covenant against war is the right of self-defense. This right is so inherent and universal that it was deemed unnecessary even to insert it expressly in the treaty. It is also so well understood that it does not weaken the treaty. It exists in the case of the individual under domestic law, as well as in the case of the nation and its citizens under the law of nations. Its limits have been clearly defined by countless precedents. A nation which sought to mask imperialistic policy under the guise of the defense of its nationals would soon be unmasked. It could not long hope to confuse or mislead public opinion on a subject so well understood or in a world in which facts can be so easily ascertained and appraised as they can be under the journalistic conditions of today.

The Briand-Kellogg pact provides for no sanctions of force. It does not require any signatory to intervene with measures of force in case the pact is violated. Instead it rests upon the sanction of public opinion, which can be made one of the most potent sanctions of the world. Any other course, through the possibility of entangling the signatories in international politics, would have confused the broad, simple aim of the treaty and prevented the development of that public opinion upon which it most surely relies. Public opinion is the sanction which lies behind all international intercourse in time of peace. Its efficacy depends upon the will of the people of the world to make it effective. If they desire to make it effective it will be irresistible. Those critics who scoff at it have not accurately appraised the evolution in world opinion since the Great War.

America Demands Peace.

From the day of its ratification on July 24, 1929, it has been the determined aim of the American Government to make this sanction of public opinion effective and to insure that the pact of Paris should become a living force in the world. We have recognized the hopes which it represented. We have resolved that they should not be disappointed. We have recognized that its effectiveness depends upon the cultivation of the mutual fidelity and good faith of the group of nations which has become its signatories, and which comprises virtually all of the nations of the world. We have been determined that the new order represented by this great treaty shall not fail.

In October, 1929, President Hoover joined with Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, the Prime Minister of Great Britain, in a joint statement at the Rapidan, in which they declared:

> Both our governments resolve to accept the peace pact not only as a declaration of good intentions, but as a positive obligation to direct national policy in accordance with its pledge.

That declaration marked an epoch.

Manchuria a Test.

In the summer of 1929 hostilities threatened between Russia and China in northern Manchuria. Both nations were signatories of the pact. It was the most difficult portion of the world in which such a challenge to this treaty could have occurred. Yet we at once took steps to organize public opinion in favor of peace. We communicated with the governments of Great Britain, Japan, France, Italy and Germany, and the attention of the governments of Russia and China was formally called to their obligations under the pact. Later during the same autumn, when hostilities actually broke out and military forces of Russia had crossed the Manchurian boundary and attacked the forces of China, our Government communicated with all of the signatories of the pact, suggesting that they urge upon Russia and China a peaceful solution of the controversy between them. Thirty-seven of these nations associated themselves with our action or signified their approval of our attitude. Although the aspect of the controversy had been extremely threatening and the forces of Russia had penetrated nearly 100 miles within the boundaries of China, the restoration of the status quo ante was accepted by both parties and the invading forces were promptly withdrawn.

Japan Violates the Pact.

In September, 1931, hostilities broke out between the armed forces of Japan and China in the same quarter of the world, Manchuria, and the situation was brought to the attention of the Council of the League of Nations, which was actually in session at Geneva. We were invited to confer as to the bearing of the pact of Paris upon the controversy. We promptly accepted the invitation, designating a representative to meet with the council for that purpose; and the attention of the two disputants was called to their obligations under the pact by France, Great Britain, Germany, Italy, Spain, Norway and the United States.

The hostilities between Japanese and Chinese armed forces continued and protracted efforts toward conciliation were made by the council of the league, which had taken jurisdiction of the matter. The American Government maintained its attitude of sympathetic cooperation with the efforts of the council and acting independently through the diplomatic channels endeavored to reenforce the council's efforts at conciliation. Finally, when in spite of these efforts Japan had occupied all of Manchuria, the American Government formally notified both that country and China, on January 7, 1932, that it would not recognize any situation, treaty, or agreement which might be brought about by means contrary to the covenant and obligations of the pact of Paris. Subsequently, on March 11, this action of the American Government was indorsed by the assembly of the League of Nations, at a meeting in which 50 nations were represented. On that occasion, under circumstances of the utmost formality and solemnity, a resolution was adopted, unanimously, Japan alone refraining from voting, in which the assembly declared that—> it is incumbent upon the members of the League of Nations not to recognize any situation, treaty or agreement which will be brought about by means contrary to the covenant of the League of Nations or to the pact of Paris.

American Policy Unchanged.

These successive steps can not be adequately appraised unless they are measured in the light of the vital change of point of view which I have described in the opening of this address. They were the acts of nations which were bound together by a new viewpoint toward war, as well as by covenants which made that viewpoint a reality.

Except for this new viewpoint and these covenants, these transactions in far-off Manchuria, under the rules of international law theretofore obtaining, might not have been deemed the concern of the United States and these 50 other nations. Under the former concepts of international law, when a conflict occurred it was usually deemed the concern only of the parties to the conflict. The others could only exercise and express a strict neutrality alike toward the injured and the aggressor. If they took any action, or even expressed an opinion, it was likely to be deemed a hostile act toward the nation against which it was directed.

The direct individual interest which each nation had in preventing a war had not yet been fully appreciated, nor had that interest been given legal recognition. But now, under the covenants of the Briand-Kellogg pact, such a conflict becomes of concern to everybody connected with the pact. All of the steps taken to enforce the treaty must be judged by this new situation. As was said by M. Briand, quoting the words of President Coolidge: "An act of war in any part of the world is an act that injures the interests of my country." The world has learned that great lesson and the signature of the Briand-Kellogg treaty codified it.

World Opinion Mobilized.

Thus the power of the Briand-Kellog Treaty can not be adequately appraised unless it is assumed that behind it rests the combined weight of the opinion of the entire world, united by a deliberate covenant which gives to each nation the right to express its moral judgment. When the American Government took the responsibility of sending its note of January 7 last, it was a pioneer. It was appealing to a new common sentiment and to the provisions of a treaty as yet untested. Its own refusal to recognize the fruits of aggression might be of comparatively little moment to the aggressor. But when the entire group of civilized nations took their stand beside the position of the American Government, the situation was revealed in its true sense. Moral disapproval, when it becomes the disapproval of the whole world, takes on a significance hitherto unknown in international law. For never before has international opinion been so organized and mobilized.

Consultation Inevitable.

Another consequence which follows this development of the Briand-Kellogg Treaty, which I have been describing, is that consultation between the signatories of the pact when faced with the threat of its violation becomes inevitable. Any effective invocation of the power of world opinion postulates discussion and consultation. As long as the signatories of the pact support the policy which the American Government has endeavored to establish during the past three years of arousing a united and living spirit of public opinion as a sanction of the pact, as long as this course is adopted and indorsed by the great nations of the world who are signatories of that treaty, consultations will take place as an incident to the unification of that opinion.

The course which was followed in the Sino-Japanese controversy last winter shows how naturally and inevitably consultation was resorted to in this effort to mobilize the public opinion of the world. The moment a situation arose which threatened the effectiveness of this treaty, which the peoples of the world have come to regard as so vital to the protection of their interests, practically all the nations consulted in an effort to make effective the great peaceful purposes of the treaty.

That the pact thus necessarily carries with it the implication of consultation has perhaps not been fully appreciated by its well-wishers, who have been so anxious that it be implemented by a formal provision for consultation. But with the clarification which has been given to its significance by the developments of the last three years, and the vitality with which it has been imbued by the positive construction put upon it, the misgivings of those well-wishers should be put at rest. That the American people subscribe to this view is made clear by the fact that each of the platforms recently adopted by the two great party conventions at Chicago contains planks indorsing the principle of consultation.

The Determination to Abolish War.

I believe that this view of the Briand-Kellogg pact which I have discussed will become one of the great and permanent policies of our Nation. It is founded upon conception of law and ideals of peace which are among the most cherished faiths of the American people. It is a policy which combines the readiness to cooperate for peace and justice in the world, which Americans have always manifested, while at the same time it preserves the independence of judgment and the flexibility of action upon which our people have always insisted. I believe that this policy must strike a chord of sympathy in the conscience of all other nations. We all feel that the lessons taught by the Great War must not be forgotten. The determination to abolish war which emerged from that calamity must not be relaxed. These aspirations of the world are expressed in the great peace treaty which I have described. It is only by continued vigilance that this treaty can be built into an effective living reality. The American people are serious in their support and evaluation of the treaty. They will not fail to do their share in this endeavor.

BOLIVIA REQUESTED TO LAY DOWN ARMS

of the point where the Apa River empties into the Paraguay River, had become nothing more than an observation post.

The fort is close to the principal Mennonite colony in the Chaco. It is near a little lake in the forest on the other side of which lies the Bolivian fort, Mariscal Santa Cruz Nuevo, also the scene of one of the initial clashes of the conflict.

From the Mennonite colony lines of Bolivian and Paraguayan forts run southward to the Pilcomayo River across the two largest land holdings in this part of the world. The largest, containing the Mennonite colony, is a 75,000,000-acre property owned by an Argentine company and worked chiefly for quebracho, an extremely hard wood used for leather tanning.

Farther to the south the forts pass alongside the holdings of the Paraguayan Land & Cattle Co., owned chiefly in the United States with an administrative office in New York. This is the property which the late Tex Rickard managed before he found Dempsey, Firpo, Carpentier and Tunney. The company owns 36,000,000 acres.

La Paz, Bolivia, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Reports that Bolivia had recaptured Fort Carlos Antonio Lopez in the Gran Chaco territory from the Paraguayans were officially denied here today.

Arequipa, Peru, Aug. 8 (U.P.).—Bolivia has about 40,000 men under arms, including 20,000 in the Gran Chaco, travelers arriving here today said. They said Bolivians generally resent the tenor of recent peace notes sent by neutral nations.

Child Sent as Express By Air to Reduce Cost

Detroit, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Fifty pounds of the air express transported from Detroit to Chicago by a trans-American airplane today consisted of 8-year-old Elinor Lucille Matheson. As a passenger, Mrs. Edmund S. Matheson discovered, her daughter would require a $18.25 ticket, but as 50 pounds of air express, she could ride for $7.25.

Charles A. Rheinstrom, general traffic manager of Trans-American Airlines, then issued an order forbidding the practice in the future.

Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior, who has been ill at his home here for several days, was reported improved today by his physician.

Observers Believe Course Would Modify Attitude of Japanese.

Peiping, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Marshal Chang Hsiao-Liang, who was ousted by the Japanese as Governor of Manchuria and is one of the strongest military leaders of China, announced in a telegram to chiefs of the central government today that if the Nanking administration desires he will resign all his official posts.

This action was his response to the resignation of Wang Ching-Wei, president of the executive council and virtually prime minister of the Nanking government, who stepped out August 6 in protest against Marshal Chang's policy of nonresistance in regard to Manchuria.

In Manchurian official circles it was said if the marshal's resignation is accepted he will retire from the field immediately, handing over his political and military responsibilities to any successor the Nanking government may appoint.

Foreign military observers here assert these developments will materially ease the Sino-Japanese tension in north China and will modify the attitude of Japanese military men.

DEMOCRATS CLAIM CREDIT FOR UPTURN

Chieftains, in Session With Farley, Say 19 States Sure for Roosevelt.

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Business improvement, the stock market spurt and the recent rise in commodity prices were attributed in part by two Democratic leaders today to what they called the "growing conviction" Gov. Roosevelt will be elected President.

Senator John S. Cohen, Atlanta (Ga.) editor and publisher and vice chairman of the national committee, and W. A. Julian, national committeeman from Ohio, were the leaders making this claim. They, with other lieutenants of Democracy had gathered in the party's national headquarters for the first of a series of strategy conferences with James A. Farley.

They came from nineteen States scattered across the map. Behind closed doors of a hall in the newly opened headquarters they spent five hours going over party finances, party prospects and plans for the Roosevelt-Hoover battle.

As they left the parley they made a unanimous claim that a Democratic victory in November already is in sight. Each of the 24 conferees claimed his State certain for Roosevelt.

"Upturn Expected."

The upturn in economic conditions was traced to the Democratic party by three members of the "floating" advisory committee, which will help Farley settle important problems of party strategy and policy.

"The recent upward trend in the stock market and the slight rise in commodity prices was to be expected," said Senator Cohen.

"In my opinion it has been mainly due to the changed policy of the Federal Reserve Board, which permits Federal Reserve banks to make loans to private individuals and corporations; to the adjournment of Congress, and to the certainty in the minds of the American people that there is to be a change in government.

Democrats Claim Texas.

"It is an undisputable fact that nine out of every ten people believe that Gov. Roosevelt is to be the next President of the United States, and the acceptance of this belief has brought renewed hope and renewed confidence in the future."

Jed Adams, national committeeman from Texas, said that State, which went Republican four years ago, would be Democratic in November.

George E. Starr, chairman of the Washington State committee, claimed his State would give President Hoover less than 100,000 votes if the election were held now.

A survey, said T. A. Walters, State chairman of Idaho, had convinced him the vote will run about five to three in favor of Roosevelt in his section.

While the conference was in session the Republican State committee launched an attack against Roosevelt's tariff stand, calling it "more ridiculous" than "Mr. Garner's offenses against good sense."

WHITE HOUSE IS DELUGED BY OPTIMISTIC FORECASTS

reported that State and others in the farm belt would fall in line and that Mr. Hoover's reelection was assured.

Meanwhile, White House officials announced that Calvin Coolidge had informed the President he could not be present at the notification ceremonies because travel irritated his hay fever. Both he and Mrs. Coolidge were invited to be White House guests, but declined in a letter described as "expressing sincere regret."

The Chief Executive received "regrets" also from James Francis Burke, counsel for the Republican national committee, and James A. Garfield, chairman of the committee which drafted the Republican prohibition plank at the Chicago convention. Burke conferred with the President twice during the day and Garfield three times.

The President was assured that Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, widow of the former President, would attend the ceremonies.

About 500 are expected at a White House garden party and luncheon Thursday afternoon for members of the notification committee, and many more will attend the formal notification that night.

Mr. Hoover is giving the greatest possible care to the prohibition part of his acceptance address. Garfield, who was called to the President's Rapidan camp yesterday, said as he left the White House yesterday he had discussed the speech at length. Asked if Mr. Hoover would strongly back the prohibition resubmission plank, he said, "I certainly hope so."

Senator Moses, when asked his views on this section of the address, said: "I asked many questions, all of which were satisfactorily answered."

E. A. Van Valkenberg, Philadelphia publisher and a prohibitionist, who was a guest at the President's camp over the week-end, said he had discussed the wet and dry question with Mr. Hoover and firmly approved the Republican resubmission plank.

Raymond Robbins, of Chicago, a member of the board of strategy of the allied forces for prohibition, conferred at length with Newton during the afternoon, but declined to discuss his visit.

Burke said he told Mr. Hoover he felt "Mr. Roosevelt was very ingenious" in holding hearings of the case of Mayor Walker on the same day as the Hoover notification ceremonies. He said on that day "the Republicans will be getting together here while the Democrats are getting apart at Albany."

Other conferees at the White House yesterday who said political matters were discussed included Perry Howard, Negro national committeeman from Mississippi; Chester Gray, legislative representative for the American Farm Bureau Federation, and Rufus Lee, of Omaha. All three conferred with Newton, the two latter calling with Cleveland Newton for their conference, at which they said the opinion was given that Mr. Hoover's chances are "moving along nicely" in the Midwest.

Coolidge's Hay Fever Is News to Plymouth

Plymouth, Vt., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—The attack of hay fever, which reports from Washington said would prevent Calvin Coolidge from attending President Hoover's notification ceremonies on Thursday, has had no apparent effect upon his activities here, Plymouth residents said tonight.

The former President, who has spent the greater part of the summer in the family homestead where he took the oath as President, strolled about his grounds as usual today and villagers said, of his reported affliction, "It's the first we've heard of it."

ROOSEVELT PRIMED ON FARM AID DATA

Governor Hears Leaders of Cooperative Marketing; To Talk in Middle West.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Leaders of cooperative marketing of farm products today outlined for Gov. Roosevelt how group selling has benefited the farmer and what they think should be done to give the tiller of the soil greater economic security.

The leaders, who called on the Democratic presidential nominee made up the executive committee of the National Cooperative Council. The organizations represented by the twelve spokesmen comprise "virtually all" of the cooperatives except those functioning in the grain and live stock industries, Henry Morgenthau, jr., conservation commissioner, explained. Mr. Morgenthau arranged for the group to visit Mr. Roosevelt.

At the head of the party was C. O. Mosher, of New Orleans, president of the council, and Robin Hood, secretary. The council's headquarters are in Washington.

While the governor was gathering farm cooperative information which he will use in preparation of a farm relief speech to be made in the Middle West, the stage was being set for the hearing on charges that Mayor Jimmy Walker should be ousted as New York City's mayor.

BOLTING OF SMITH DENIED BY GARNER

Candidate Answers Paper's Query on Story Spread in New England.

Boston, Aug. 8 A.P.).—The Boston Globe says Speaker John N. Garner has denied, in a letter, widely circulated rumors that he failed to support Alfred E. Smith in the 1928 presidential campaign or refused to talk with Smith at the 1932 Chicago convention.

The Globe says these charges have been circulated against Garner in New England, particularly in Massachusetts and Rhode Island, since his nomination for the Vice Presidency at the Democratic national convention.

In answer to a letter from a Salem woman, inquiring about the rumors and forwarded by the newspaper, the Globe says it received the following letter from Mr. Garner:

"I am in receipt of your letter of August 2, and in reply to your first inquiry have to say that I never bolted a Democratic ticket in my life and I have voted it ever since I was 21 years old. The fact is I was an enthusiastic supporter of Gov. Smith in 1928.

Describes Ban on Phone.

"In reply to your second inquiry as to whether or not I refused to talk to Gov. Smith by phone in Chicago, will say that I did not, excepting so far that I do not talk to anyone over the phone after 6 o'clock in the evening.

"The hotel (Mr. Garner was then in Washington, attending to his duties as Speaker of the House) has strict orders to that effect. Senator Sam Rayburn, handling the Garner headquarters in Chicago, knowing that fact, wired me to give orders that my phone could be rung in case he called me, and I did so."

Representative William G. Granfield (Democrat), of Springfield, the Globe continues, has openly protested the "whispering campaign" against the vice presidential candidate and has invited Garner to speak in Springfield during the campaign.

(Associated Press.)

A forecast that Speaker John N. Garner would begin his campaign for the Vice Presidency about September 15 was made yesterday by Representative Sam Rayburn, of Texas, who has been designated as liaison officer between Garner and campaign headquarters.

Garner's plans will not become definite until after he confers with Gov. Roosevelt in Albany next Monday.

Capital Couple Remarry After 10-Month Divorce

Norristown, Pa., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—A Washington (D. C.) couple, divorced last October in Georgia, were remarried here today.

They were married by Magistrate in the names of George Parrish Freeman and Euba Jo Freeman, of 158 P street northwest. Freeman gave his occupation as clerk, while the bride Harry Miss after obtaining a license gave hers as painting.

COOLIDGE WILL HELP HOOVER'S CAMPAIGN

Sanders Intimates Former President May Make Some Speeches.

Chicago, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Announcement that Calvin Coolidge will take part in the campaign to reelect Herbert Hoover was made tonight by Everett Sanders, chairman of the Republican national committee.

Mr. Sanders did not say how extensive a part the former President would have in the campaign, but intimated he might be prevailed upon to make one or more speeches.

Sanders, who was Secretary to Mr. Coolidge during his administration, returned to Republican campaign headquarters here recently after visiting the former President at Plymouth Notch, Vt.

The purpose of the trip to Vermont, Sanders said, was not to invite Coolidge to attend the President's acceptance speech in Washington, D. C., Thursday night.

Talked About Politics.

"We talked about politics and about the campaign," Sanders said, "but the acceptance program was not discussed."

Sanders said, however, the acceptance ceremonies would have a prominent part in the Republican campaign, which is not scheduled to begin in earnest for another month.

"In many States we have made arrangements for community gatherings, at which thousands of persons will hear Mr. Hoover's message by the radio," he said. "Town halls, theaters, lodge halls, public squares and even private homes with good radios will be utilized as gathering places.

In addition, Sanders said, party leaders attending the ceremonies will take advantage of the opportunity in Washington to complete details of the national campaign. Representative C. William Ramseyer, of Iowa, chairman of the Speakers' Bureau, left for the Capital today with intentions of making additions to the list for radio talkers in the campaign.

The chairman also announced that Lehr Fess, a Toledo lawyer and son of Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, has arrived here to serve as his assistant. Fess has been parliamentarian of the House of Representatives for many years and served in the same capacity at the last Republican national convention.

80 CITY EMPLOYES FREED OF PAY CUTS

verses himself, workers in five-day week establishments must lose one-eleventh of their pay instead of one-twelfth. No "administrative" furloughs could be granted until the 24-day "legislative" furlough had all been used up.

Yesterday's opinion exempting certain District employes from furlough and suspension of paid annual leave was in line with one recently rendered the Treasury Secretary exempting those employes of his department paid exclusively from bank assessments.

The comptroller has not overlooked the apparent injustice of excusing one class of workers and cutting others, for he added this notation to his ruling to the Commissioners:

"It is recognized that the operation of some of the provisions of the so-called economy act as applied under this and other decisions of this office will result in some inequalities, but this can not be avoided without doing violence to established rules for the construction of statutes and to the canons of interpretations."

In another decision yesterday, Mr. McCarl advised the Reconstruction Finance Corporation it can not hire members of the Army Engineer Corps to do any of its work, adding: "I know of no legal alternative method whereby the corporation may obtain and pay for the services of officers of the Army on the active list."

Representative Mead's letter to the Comptroller was in pursuance of McCarl's ruling that right to military leave was absolute. In view of the Postoffice failure to grant it, Mr. Mead said several postal employes had asked him if mandamus proceedings would be necessary.

Judge Graham, in his letter to the Civil Service Commission, held the Comptroller's ruling requiring impounding of one month's pay where workers are on a year's furlough, conflicts with the act itself. He said the provision was intended to apply only to workers who are receiving compensation, and those on a year's furlough are receiving none. Four employes of his court are now on one-year's payless furlough.

The legislative committee of the Federal Bar Association was authorized last night to investigate the possibility of further economy measures for Government departments when Congress convenes again. This action was taken at a meeting of the association at the University Club. The committee also was authorized to determine whether any unfairness has resulted from the economy act with the view of reporting such to the economy committees next December.

BURKE, G. O. P. CHIEF, EXPIRES IN HOSPITAL

with the degree of bachelor of laws. While in college he organized the American Republican College League. He became its president. The organization had a branch in every large university and college in the country.

It was his work in behalf of this league that first brought Burke to the attention of Republican party leaders. In 1892 he was chosen secretary of the Republican national committee. He was the youngest person ever to hold that post.

He was appointed to codify the navigation laws of the United States. Later he became counsel for the agricultural department of Pennsylvania.

In 1904, Burke was elected to represent the Thirty-first Pennsylvania District in Congress and was re-elected four times. He became a member of the banking and currency committee, chairman of the military affairs committee and Republican whip.

As a delegate to the Republican national convention in 1906, Burke forced consideration of the rule of representation adopted by the national committee, whereby Northern States were given increased power in naming presidential candidates.

After preparing the constitution of the United States Chamber of Commerce, Burke became first counsel for the body at Washington.

He was a member of the Pennsylvania and Michigan Bar Association.

Sharp Cotton Rise Adds $65,000,000 to Old Lint

(Associated Press.)

The sharp rise in cotton prices yesterday occasioned by the Government's prediction of only an 11,306,000-bale crop this season, put a potential $65,000,000 into the pockets of the holders of 13,000,000 bales of carry-over lint.

The Farm Board, with its 3,000,000 bales, if it chose to sell at yesterday's price, would make $15,000,000 more than if it had sold at last week's level. The board, however, has no intention of endangering the market by an effort to unload at this time.

Even with the sharp rise in prices the farmer will receive much less than in war times when cotton prices sky-rocketed to abnormal levels. Yesterday's price of 7 cents is far below that of 1919, when the price per pound received by producers on December 1, was 35.6, and the average price per pound at New York was 38.29.

COTTON CROP IS FAR BELOW LAST YEAR'S

(Associated Press.)

The Department of Agriculture yesterday forecast an 11,306,000-bale cotton crop for this year, 5,790,000 less than last season's production, and thereby sent the principal markets in that commodity surging upward.

The prediction was nearly 1,000,000 less than any private estimate had been and the market's reaction to the bullish news was to send prices up $5 a bale in both New York and New Orleans.

The department gave two main reasons for the startling drop in production: First, the boll weevil; second, the lack of the use of fertilizer and consequent smallness of plants.

Chairman Stone, of the board, said yesterday that the low forecast would not alter the board's plan to sell 650,000 bales in the crop year beginning August 1, 1932.

That old familiar pest of Dixie, the boll weevil, has had nature on his side throughout the present cotton-growing season in the form of a wet season, which encouraged the multiplication of weevils in many places. A continuation of such weather, the department said, would cause a loss from the weevils even more than seems probable at this time.

The difference in this year's crop and last year's on the basis of yesterday's forecast would more than absorb the holdings of the Farm Board and its agencies, but Chairman Stone warned that in addition to that 3,000,000 bales there were approximately 10,000,000 bales being held in storage and in compresses throughout the country. He added that a pickup in textile production, which he said seemed probable, would cause rapid inroads into this surplus, as much of it is held by professional traders or mills.

Stone said production costs per bale this year would be the lowest in recent farm history.

The department, in commenting on its forecast, said the lack of the use of fertilizer was explained by the farmers' effort to lower cost of production within the price received for the raw product.

BANKERS BACK PLAN FOR SURPLUS COTTON

Federal Reserve Governor Gets Support for Stimulation of Marketing.

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Eugene Meyer, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, left for Washington today with the assurances of leading New York bankers that they would endeavor to support his effort to stimulate the orderly marketing of surplus cotton now held by the Federal Farm Board.

These surplus stocks approximate 3,300,000 bales of which 1,300,000 are held by the board and 2,000,000 by the cooperative agencies. Their dollar value at present market prices is substantially in excess of $100,000,000.

Plan Expected in Week.

A final plan has not yet been drafted, but Mr. Meyer indicated that he would return to New York in a week or so, at which time it is hoped to work out a method whereby banks would finance the mills which, in turn, would contract for substantial amounts of the surplus cotton now held by the Federal Farm Board agencies.

While rumors still persisted that Meyer's trip here was in conjunction with a scheme to create a series of commodity pools, involving wheat, wool, copper and cotton, it was stated in authoritative quarters that no such plan had been broached. Meyer's proposal was said to involve a program which would encourage banks to finance manufacturers and fabricators so that they could buy large stocks of commodities and convert them into finished goods.

Bankers Oppose Pool Idea.

Representatives of Wall street banks who conferred with Meyer said emphatically that they would not be interested in a pool "jiggle" for the reason that such an operation would mean merely the transferring of present cotton holdings from one set of financial interests to another. They held that this would not do any lasting good. The problem, as they see it, is to get cotton into the mills, and from the mills into the hands of the public who would buy it in finished forms.

To attain this latter goal, they offered Meyer considerable encouragement. A cursory outline of the plan as it now stands indicates that the cooperative agencies would be expected to communicate with individual mill owners. These owners, once satisfied that cotton prices were reasonable and unlikely to be materially reduced, would then be asked to contract for large purchases from the Governmental agencies, presumably enough to meet a substantial part of their requirements for at least one year ahead.

STOCKS UP $1 TO $6; COTTON ADVANCES $5

gene Meyer to form a large fund, possibly as much as $100,000,000, from which loans would be made to finance the movement of raw materials to fabricators. Mr. Meyer was in New York during the day, and after some further informal discussions, left for Washington. A committee representing the New York Clearing House banks met to consider the project, and it was intimated that a statement might be made later in the week.

There was considerable difference of opinion among leading bankers as to the feasibility of the plan, but officials of some of the leading banks felt reasonably certain that definite action would be taken, probably first in cotton. The plan contemplates the financing of the movement of 3,300,000 bales of cotton held by the Farm Board and the cooperatives to the mills. Wall street has regarded the Farm Board holdings as a sort of sword of Damocles hanging over the markets.

Strange Couple Charged With Killing Rich Recluse

Natchez, Miss., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Discovery of their fingerprints on articles in the home of Miss Jane Surget Merrill tonight led to the placing of murder charges against Richard H. Dana, 61, and his housekeeper, Miss Octavia Dockery, 60, for the slaying of the 60-year-old wealthy recluse last Thursday night at her estate near here.

Filing of the formal charges followed announcement by experts that prints of both Dana and Miss Dockery had been found in different parts of the Merrill house, and Sheriff Clarence P. Roberts said he believed the mystery surrounding the killing of the lonely old lady, who deserted society 40 years ago, had been cleared.

The sheriff said investigation indicated that Dana and Miss Dockery had slain their eccentric neighbor because of bitter feeling over a herd of goats owned by Miss Dockery, which had wandered over the Merrill place.

Since the body of Miss Merrill was found in bushes 200 yards from her home, Dana and his housekeeper have been held in the Natchez jail as suspects. Tonight the sheriff said the man and woman had changed their stories. Each, however, stoutly maintained innocence of the killing.

The strange case involves three members of aristocratic Southern families, Merrill, Dana and Dockery.

Thirty years ago Dick Dana was a gay blade of Natchez, a graduate of Vanderbilt University and trained in music at a New York conservatory. He was the son of an Episcopal minister with prominent family connections. He claims kinship with Charles Anderson Dana, former publisher of the New York Sun.

BARKLEY IS LEADING IN KENTUCKY VOTING

Kentucky's number of representatives was reduced from eleven to nine and when the State redistricting act was held void recently, all candidates for the nomination were required to run from the State at large. The primary was held Saturday, but the count did not begin until today.

There was a much smaller vote than had been expected, only about 50 per cent of the Democratic vote being cast, and about 25 per cent of the Republican. Under Kentucky law, counting of the ballots did not start until today.

In several sections of the State legal tangles arose over failure of the election judges to sign the ballots along with the clerks in accordance with a new law. Instances of this were reported in Payette and Bell Counties. It also was claimed that in Bell County only one ballot box was used for both the Democratic and Republican votes instead of separate boxes for each.

Admiral Says Hawaii Needs Respect of Navy

Honolulu, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Recalling friction engendered between residents of Hawaii and Navy personnel in past events, Rear Admiral Yates Sterling today told the American Legion convention, "You in Hawaii need the good opinion and respect of the Navy more than the Navy needs your approval."

Sterling, commandant of the Fourteenth Naval District, which includes the Pearl Harbor Naval Base, pleaded for harmony and cooperation between the Navy and Honolulu civilians.

Culbertson on Bridge

PLANNING THE ATTACK.

MANY bridge players apparently suffer under the impression that their skill in the play of the game is shown by the number of finesses they attempt. A finesse is an encircling movement, which seeks to take advantage of the position of adversely held honors and thereby gain a trick. If there is no other way of finding the necessary trick, then, of course, a finesse should be taken, but many hands on which unsuccessful finesses are attempted would lend themselves to another method of development, if the Declarer would properly plan the play.

I recently saw a hand dealt at Duplicate Bridge, in an important tournament, upon which even some very strong players failed to find the proper continuation to produce game. The manner in which one Declarer found the game-going trick was interesting, although actually the method should have suggested itself to all.

4♠	Double(1)	Pass	Pass
Pass

(1)—An unwise Double, but doubtless predicated upon the theory that his partner's club suit is solid and that the diamond King should furnish the setting trick. The margin, however, is not sufficient, even though the most accurate play is necessary to accomplish the contract.

Against the contract of four spades, West opened the club deuce, which was won by East's King, and the Ace returned. West discarding a diamond. As a matter of fact, the squeeze was already beginning to operate, although East at this time did not realize it. A third round of clubs was ruffed by West, who returned a heart, which was won with the Ace in Dummy. South now proceeded to lead five rounds of trumps. On the spade Knave, West discarded another small diamond, but on the final round of trumps was unable to further defend the hand. In actual play, he bared the diamond King, realizing that he must retain his heart holding to prevent the run of the hearts in Dummy. South then crossed to the Dummy with his last heart, cashed the two top hearts, led Dummy's remaining diamond, and refused the finesse. The Ace dropped West's King, and the Queen won the thirteenth trick.

The squeeze, the means by which this hand was made, was a much better play than the finesse. West's shortage of clubs suggested that he held at least four hearts, and thus, regardless of the size of the cards in that suit, East could not hold defense in it. His unwise Double unquestionably marked him with some other strength than merely four trumps to the 9, and from the cards in sight for the Declarer, it was apparent that any important honor he could hold must be in the diamond suit. This being true, and West thus probably holding four hearts and the diamond King, the squeeze must work with inexorable precision. Equally, almost inevitably, the finesse must lose.

Today's Pointer.

In deciding between taking a simple finesse or playing a hand for a squeeze, the Declarer has available considerable information through a count of the suit distribution of opponents' hands. This information may either clearly indicate that the squeeze is the only possible method of making the hand, or, on the contrary, disclose that the outstanding honor must be finessed against in any event.

Tomorrow's Hand.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

South—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

HOW ONE ADDICT WAS CURED.

A GROUP of Cornell University research men, under the leadership of W. D. Bancroft, have been investigating the effect of drugs on the albuminous portions of the cell protoplasm for some time. It is their theory that certain drugs tend to solidify this protoplasm and other drugs to liquefy it. Different diseases or symptoms result when the protoplasm becoming too firm, and others are due to its becoming too fluid. They sought to relieve those conditions caused by too great firmness of the protoplasm by remedies which tend to liquefy it, and vice versa. The terms used are not accurate, but they are close enough to it for our purpose. The terms which the investigators use for the action in this particular instance are sodium rhodonate peptizes, the protein colloids that are agglomerated by morphine.

Having done the basic scientific work, the investigators were ready to apply their theory. They gave some dogs morphine until they had become addicted to the use of the drug, after which they stopped giving them morphine and kept them comfortable with sodium rhodonate. This experiment having proved successful, they were ready for a clinical trial on a human addict.

They found an addict who was using 25 grains of morphine a day. Among some who treat the morphine habit this man had the reputation of being "a mean case." They put him in a hospital, took all his drug away from him, and made certain he could get no more. For a day, or "thereabouts, they gave him the dose he said he was accustomed to taking, to check on his statements, since addicts are prone to mislead on this point.

This one appears to have told the truth. The next day the dose was cut in half. As a rule drug addicts take nearly twice as much drug as they need. The daily reduction was continued. By the ninth day the man was no longer getting any drug. As his dose was decreased day by day the dose of sodium rhodonate was increased in proportion to the need. The report is that the man did not suffer, that he went through the week with practically no discomfort, and that he did not know on what day he got his last injection—one of a fraction of a grain of morphine.

The authors give it as their opinion that the so-called drug hunger is not a hunger at all, but is a result of changes in the chemical constitution of the body cells, brought about by the drug. When the antidote is used the habit is broken without any of the feelings that go by the name drug hunger. They also think that a person cured by this method may not have the craving for the drug during the months-long period of convalescence that is so perilous for the reformed addict.

RAW OATMEAL.

Mrs. V. B. writes:

1. Is eating a cupful or more of raw oatmeal harmful to the system?

2. Will it cause consumption, or tapeworm?

REPLY.

1. Most people digest and assimilate raw starch tolerably well. Cooked starch is easier handled.

2. No.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

SWEETBREADS AND BRAINS.

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

Sweetbreads are the most delicate of all the edible organs. The kind generally sold in the market are the thymus glands from the neck of the calf. These sweetbreads come in pairs, varying in size with the age and the size of the calf. If you can not get sweetbreads, try brains. Calf brains are usually preferred, but beef, lamb and hog brains are very good.

Both sweetbreads and brains spoil very quickly. Buy them on the day they are to be used and give them their first cooking as soon as possible after they come into the house. Sweetbreads may be simmered for a short time in lightly salted water and then broiled, dipped in egg and crumbs and browned, creamed or used in salad, as you would chicken. The directions below, from the Bureau of Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture, are for cooking sweetbreads, but apply also to brains.

For a family of five you will need two pairs of sweetbreads. They will go farthest if creamed and served on toast or in patty shells. Rinse the sweetbreads in cold water and simmer in a small quantity of salted water for 15 or 20 minutes, or until they turn white and become firm. Let them cool in this same liquor. Break the sweetbreads into small pieces and discard the tough membranes and fat. Make a sauce, using part milk and part liquor in which the sweetbreads were cooked.

For broiling, keep the lobes whole. Place in a shallow pan, pour melted butter over them, sprinkle lightly with salt and broil under the gas flame until they are a golden brown. Baste occasionally with melted butter and a little of the stock. Turn and brown on the other side. Make a sauce to serve with them from the drippings in the pan, flour, and some milk or stock.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

A chic fall tailleur in fancy navy blue woolen with high waistband and reincrusted decoups front and back. Two shirtwaists of white crepe with different collar effects give a pleasant variety. (Courtesy of Martial et Armand, Paris.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Soignee—perfect in neatness, in attention to details, in harmony of details. That's what a lovely lady is—and that is all that she is, to the eye. No loveliness lingers where neatness and harmony are lacking. And there is no possible excuse, neither lack of time nor illness, or attention to more important things; nothing, really, excuses a woman from being a harmonious sight to the eye.

It's so easy when you get into the habit of it. Automatically, one takes a stitch here or there, heats the iron and gives a swish there or the other place, dabs this or that spot with a piece of cotton dipped in cleaner. One is a lovely lady, after all and simply cannot tolerate spots or missing snaps or frayed edges, that's all there is to it.

You get that way consciously doing it, until it becomes an unconscious necessity and actuality. If you haven't been taught to expect these things from mother or maids as a child, you teach yourself to do them as an adult, the results being the same, if a little more difficult to attain after one is accustomed to carelessness. Yet, once attained, the habits of neatness and harmony are ineradicable.

Soignee—demanded of a lovely lady. Soignee, a necessity to loveliness.

There is a hint of the return of the shawl for evening. Here and there one sees a lovely lady wearing a shawl, obviously from choice rather than because it is a family heirloom she has purloined from the top of the grand piano. One expects to see the return of the shawl, perhaps about the time of the opening of the opera—now that cheap shawls have worn out, and only elegant and valuable ones remain.

In this respect let me say that the proper and graceful handling of a shawl is an art—such an art, indeed, that it needs almost be born in one, or at least well practiced. Surely it has been this, as well as the prevalence of inexpensive and consequently unbeautiful shawls, that have caused their eclipse?

How many hats do you really think you have in your hatbox that you can use this fall? Well, if you send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this week's illustrated leaflet, you will probably have ten times that many! Because there are simply l-o-t-t-t-s of those demode hats that can stand a pretty easy makeover, my deah! Yes, the leaflet tells you how to go about it and I here and now promise you that all you have to do is read it and act out the instructions, to have just lots more hats for this fall than you thought you were going to have. Send for the leaflet and see!

Miladi Capricious and the wise Couturiers! Yes, a tailleur of navy blue fancy woolen, with two different blouses, for the different moods that miladi might be wearing. What, only two moods! Yes, only two moods! Yes, only two moods, at least, only two tailored moods a day!

Martial et Armand are responsible for the model I sketched for you today, in all of its odd chic and its variations.

'Nif you have a single, solitary jeer for a leaflet, well, send it, oh I pray, willyu, for the love of ennything you wish.

Estimates Under Study By Commissioners

The District Commissioners spent the entire day yesterday studying the departmental estimates for 1934, together with the recommendations of the special economy committee, and will resume their deliberations today without revealing the figures involved.

Indications are that the District heads are cutting all estimates to the bone. They inetnd to confer with Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, chairman of the economy committee, and they may call some of the department heads before them prior to making public the estimates.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

"No Place Like Home," for Comfort, but Keep It Looking Cool.

MAKING the most of these days of depression is no easy task to most of us; but one charming wife and mother that this writer is proud to know is laughing at the hard life. In the better days, she has spent entire summers at seashore and mountains and fashionable resorts, yet she cheerfully proclaims "no place like home."

Her home is a model of cool comfort, too. Heavy drapes and curtains have come down, winter rugs have been rolled up, the flimsiest cool tiebacks trim her windows, her floors are uncarpeted save for a few thin, straw throw rugs, windows are completely open but during the sunniest few hours of the day the shades are drawn. But at night these shades are up, to let all the fresh air in.

The children live in their little backless bathing suits or in thin dresses that are fashioned after such suits.

The family has been forced to move to a smaller and less luxurious place, but ingenuity has replaced the comfort that the times took away. The roof of the store below forms an extension outside of three of the family's windows. The extension has been wired with tennis court fencing and ivy planted in boxes all around. A mat, picked up in a department store at a very nominal price, looks for all the world like a big patch of green grass. A hammock hung criss-cross, a small chair, a footstool and the children's toys—and this lowly balcony can hold its own against a penthouse terrace.

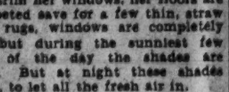
Several times a week the marvelous mother of our story takes the children to the backyard of a friend, turns the hose on them, lets them romp or relax or play.

She has learned the wisdom of staying home on Sunday, avoids crowds (which we must admit add a hemmed-in, close, uncomfortable feeling). When occasionally an opportunity to go to the beach is offered, the excursion is made on a week-day, when only a small part of the "rest of the world" is heading for the same destination.

Keeps Wrinkles Away.

You are doubtless asking, "What has all this to do with beauty?" Simply this: In the first place, it adds immeasurably to one's loveliness to look fresh, crisp and cool, and next to looking refreshingly lovely oneself is the knack of keeping one's home invitingly cool. Surprising how a drawn shade, a thin chintz hanging, a few green plants can give the lie to the thermometer when it registers 90. But my little story has an even more significant beauty lesson. This marvelous mother who is laughing at life may have tiny, becoming little lines, character lines, around her mouth and eyes, but she is definitely keeping the deep aging, unlovely worry wrinkles away. And I am sure you agree that's an accomplishment these days.

If you want a few hints for looking lovely, yourself, and feeling cool and fresh in spite of stifling weather, send stamped, return envelope for my bulletin called "Laws for Looking Cool."



Elsie Pierce, famous beauty lecturer, will answer any questions on beauty you wish to ask her. Address Miss Pierce, in care of The Washington Post, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

James A. Reed Attacks Man-Made Moral Laws

Kansas City, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—James A. Reed, former United States senator, today told 400 delegates to the biennial convention of the Supreme Lodge of the Knights of Pythias and the Supreme Temple of Pythian Sisters it was a mistake to try "to make the people good by terrorizing them with the law." "They pay attention only to the moral law and not to the laws written by man," he said.

Leslie R. Crouch, of Portland, Oreg., supreme chancellor, and Mrs. Elsie E. Vandervort, of Washington, supreme chief, were among those who delivered welcoming addresses.

Buster Keaton Divorced On Charge of Neglect

Los Angeles, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—A divorce from Joseph Francis (Buster) Keaton, film comedian, was awarded today to Mrs. Natalie Talmadge Keaton, who testified he neglected her. Mrs. Constance Talmadge Netcher, former film actress and sister of Mrs. Keaton, corroborated her testimony.

An attorney for Mrs. Keaton, Jerry Geisler, informed the court a property settlement had been made and that a provision had been entered giving Mrs. Keaton custody of the two children.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

IF AUGUST 9th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:15 a. m. to 10:25 a. m., from 1 p. m. to 2:30 p. m., and from 6:40 p. m. to 8 p. m. The danger periods are from 7 a. m. to 8:30 a. m., and from 4 p. m. to 5:15 p. m.

You will be working under auspicious planetary conditions on August 9th to get things done and to put things over. It will be a day for hustlers, not drones. It will not be an inspirational time, however, and sheer animal spirits may drive you into blundering mistakes, just "to be doing something."

The child born on this August 9th will be in possession of a brilliant conglomeration of possibilities, but it is doubtful whether it will ever take life into its own hands and make much of it. This will be due to both mental laziness and a willingness to "catch a ride," when walking is necessary for its own development and observation.

You have a manner, if born on August 9th, of one who is in the whirl of life, and not sitting on the outskirts. You have the characteristics of an outward growing person, one who is in sympathy with, and of, the human world. Your aims are not beyond the stars, and your desires are more for an interesting life than for perfection. You have one of the greatest secrets of success—from the throne to the kitchen—the art of getting along with people.

You always are able to hold your own without force and to demand respect without effort. Your personality is magnetically, not tyranically, compelling. You have that perfect self-command and indifferent self-confidence which wins the world's appreciation and is found in most successful leaders.

If you ever harnessed your energies to one job, the results would be spectacular. This, however, you will never do. Fame, position and money mean nothing to you for their own sake. The right kind of friends, material comfort, and time to do superficial digging in various directions, outside the demands of grim duty, are the things for which you strive. In the family circle, you are a leading light—the one to smooth things over, to suggest here, or to laugh there, all to keep things moving in the right direction.

FIVE CERTIFIED FEATURES

1. BUNDLES WASHED IN NET BAGS: In the washroom, every bundle is properly classified for color and fabric and washed in individual NET BAGS, the same as our finished services, with the purest materials, according to formulas approved by the Laundry Owners' National Association.
2. NECESSARY PIECES PROPERLY STARCHED: All articles requiring starch are carefully starched by hand with the same high-grade starch used in the finished services, making ironing easier, producing a beautiful finish and imparting that necessary body to clothing to keep it looking fresh.
3. EACH PIECE SHAKEN OUT & NEATLY FOLDED: Each piece of flat work and wearing apparel is shaken out and neatly folded, classified according to color, with flat work and wearing apparel separated. Each piece when picked up comes up alone; no knots or tangles; no pieces spoiled by contact with fugitive colors.
4. SILKS, WOOLENS, BLANKETS AND CURTAINS: You can safely include any article—even silks, woolens, curtains and blankets. Nothing is used in washing that will injure them. Silks will not change color and woolens will not shrink. Curtains will be starched, if desired. Blankets need only to be hung in the air for drying.
5. WRAPPED IN WAXED PAPER: Your bundle is returned neatly wrapped in wax paper, making a practically air-tight package which prevents mildew and insures the safe delivery of your laundry free from odors, fresh and clean-smelling. Your bundle returned ready to iron, may be completed at your convenience.

AVIATRIX DESCRIBES DEVOTION TO CLARKE

Mrs. Keith-Miller, on Stand, Also Tells of Fondness for Lancaster.

Miami, Fla., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Dramatic recitation by Mrs. Jessie M. Keith-Miller of her love for Haden Clarke, young author, and of a love that changed to "intense fondness" for Capt. W. N. Lancaster, charged with slaying Clarke, today preceded the closing of the State's case against the British flier.

As she walked from the witness stand Mrs. Keith-Miller became semi-hysterical.

"They're crucifying me," she wept to an acquaintance at the courtroom door.

Lancaster himself, poised and calm, took the stand in the afternoon to relate in detail his experiences up to the time he left Miami March 6, 46 days before Clarke was killed, on a Western aviation venture by which he hoped to gain funds for the living expenses of Mrs. Keith-Miller, Clarke and himself. He was the first defense witness.

Lancaster told of meeting Mrs. Keith-Miller in London in 1927 and of her joining him on a London-Australia flight. Then followed a long story of his financial and aerial reverses in the United States.

He will be questioned further tomorrow.

Lancaster began his testimony with a careful choice of words. He said he was 34 years old and had served with the Australian and English forces in the World War.

He did not appear nervous, but seemed eager to get his story before the jury.

Mrs. Keith-Miller's testimony today was given between laughter and tears. The session was marked by frequent verbal clashes between the diminutive aviatrix and N. Vernon Hawthorne, the prosecutor.

From the witness stand she denounced him for questioning her about many things she said she had told him previously in confidence. She claimed Hawthorne had told her at the end of an early investigation of the case that he had "looked into Lancaster's soul and had seen an honorable man, incapable of shooting Haden Clarke."

Since the death of Clarke, to whom she had become engaged, she said she had learned that he had lied to her about many things and that she no longer loved his memory. Weeping, she said: "His physical condition was incorrectly attributed to me. I didn't object, for I was passionately in love with him."

Lancaster, she said, she had never loved passionately, but that she had always intended to marry him before Clarke came into her life. Clarke was shot to death in her home April 21. Lancaster also was a guest there.

She testified she was still very fond of Lancaster, but that she had not loved him for two years. She said Lancaster would die for her, and Hawthorne asked her if he would lie or steal. She said he did neither.

G. W. SHOCKEY DIES; TRACTION OFFICIAL

Head of Capital Street Car Transportation Is to Be Buried in Virginia.

George W. Shockey, for many years superintendent of transportation for the Capital Traction Co., died early yesterday at his home, 1402 Emerson street northwest, following a brief illness. He was 58 years old.

A native of Vienna, Va., Mr. Shockey had been employed by the traction company since 1895. He was the first inspector in the company's service, being appointed in 1900, after five years as a conductor. He was later made chief inspector, holding that position until 1916, when he was appointed superintendent of transportation.

Mr. Shockey was classed as an expert in the handling of difficult traffic situations. Following parades or in the wake of snowstorms which blocked Pennsylvania avenue, he was always with his men battling to restore orderly operation of street cars.

Surviving Mr. Shockey are his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Roy Harlow, of this city, and a son, Roy R. Shockey, of Philadelphia.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon, at 2 o'clock, from his late residence. Interment will be in Vienna.

Funeral services will be held at the residence at 2 p. m. tomorrow, the Rev. William B. McIlwaine, jr., of the Second Presbyterian Church, officiating. Burial will be in Bethel Cemetery.

Swanson Sees Ultimate Cut in World Armament

(Associated Press.)

Reporting on his European assignment as American arms conference delegate, Senator Swanson, of Virginia, yesterday expressed optimism over ultimate cuts in world armaments, but said diplomats would have to abandon "feather dusters" and use force if pledges emanating from Geneva are to be made effective.

Declaring all nations now were interested intensely in the economic problem, the Virginian, who is ranking Democrat on the Senate foreign relations committee, asserted "real plain talk" and an improved political situation in Europe would be required to bring the Geneva promises to accomplishment.

The senator withheld all opinion on the inclusion of war debt revision in a general economic parley as proposed by Chairman Borah of the committee.

He joined with Gov. Roosevelt, the Democratic presidential nominee, in advocating removal of tariff "barriers" as a quick means of stimulating international trade.

Representative Montague, another Virginia Democrat, returning yesterday from the Interparliamentary Union session at Geneva, also reported agitation for removal of tariff walls, and said the European debtors were not preparing to make much, if any, payment.

"There is a demand all over the world for something to be done to relieve the wretched economic conditions," said Swanson. "Every nation is suffering. Stabilization of the rate of exchange and an improvement in the price of silver will go tremendously far also in improving conditions."

He expressed concern over talk in Germany of building up the army beyond the treaty limits fixed at Versailles after the World War, but on the whole he was optimistic over the German and European outlook.

Swanson May Take 1932 Post.

(Associated Press.)

The acceptance by Senator Swanson, of Virginia, of the chairmanship of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee was predicted yesterday in highly authoritative quarters.

The senator, just back from the World Disarmament Conference at Geneva, said he had not had time to consider the matter, but it was known party leaders were urging him to serve and close friends said he would.

The committee is charged with overseeing senators' campaigns, and senators are to be elected this year in 33 States.

Senator Tydings, of Maryland, is the present chairman, but by custom must relinquish the post because he is a candidate for reelection this year. Invariably a senator not encumbered with a contest heads the committee.

MORE BRIGHT SPOTS FOUND IN BUSINESS

Gain in Unfilled Orders for Locomotives Is Among Encouraging Signs.

(Associated Press.)

Buoyed by advancing stocks, bonds and cotton prices, the Nation's business yesterday was encouraged by other bright spots in financial circles. Developments included:

New York—The American Locomotive Co. reported unfilled orders on July 1 at $2,145,513—about $1,000,000 above the amount of unfilled orders on the same date last year.

Washington—Department of Labor statistics said employment in the radio industry increased 4.8 per cent in June over the previous month.

St. Paul, Minn.—H. H. Himann, executive manager of the National Association of Credit Men, predicted in a speech a ten-year era of prosperity for the Northwest with rapid recovery from the present "reconstruction period."

Washington—The Bureau of Mines reported coal production increasing.

Lincoln, Nebr.—Bids will be called September 8 for $1,000,500 in State highway construction.

Chicago.—Peter B. Carey, president of the board of trade, said the rise in grain prices put new hope in the breasts of American producers.

HOME LOAN BANKS.

Organization of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board should be a notable contribution to the return of better times. President Hoover has selected five capable directors who are well acquainted with the home loan business and who are in complete harmony with the purpose of the home loan act.

Franklin W. Fort, of New Jersey, the new chairman, is well known in Washington. His selection gives assurance that the project will be carried out on a basis of experience and business efficiency. William E. Best is president, and H. Morton Bodfish is executive manager of the United States Building & Loan League. Their membership on the board foreshadows harmonious working relationships between the new banks and building and loan agencies. Dr. John M. Gries is also thoroughly acquainted with the problems in this field, having served as secretary of President Hoover's conference on home building and ownership. Nathan Adams, the fifth member of the board, is a bank president from Dallas, Texas.

The new board probably will lose no time in perfecting its organization and setting up the home loan bank system for active business. As soon as that work is completed, relief for home owners may be expected. Building and loan associations, savings banks, insurance companies and similar institutions may join the system by subscribing to the stock of the banks. The banks in turn will furnish credit to these institutions so that it may be passed on to home owners.

Under present conditions home owners find it extremely difficult to obtain credit. In some instances funds are needed to keep up installments on mortgages. Taxes frequently become a pressing problem. Commercial banks are reluctant to lend for such purposes because of the necessity of keeping their resources in liquid form. Consequently, foreclosures are frequently necessary, funds for new construction are scarce, and the extension of mortgages is almost impossible. The new system of banks is created to meet this situation.

There is every indication that the home loan banks will stimulate building activity. In many localities housing is becoming inadequate because of insufficient credit facilities. One recent survey showed that more than $500,000,000 in construction is ready to go forward just as soon as credit is available. If the home loan banks can loosen credit enough to set this program in motion, it will make a notable contribution to the general economic recovery as well as to the relief of individual home owners.

BREAKING WORLD RECORDS.

World records have fallen like leaves in autumn at the Olympic contests in Los Angeles. The many thousands of spectators who have watched the athletic youth of almost every country in action probably pay little attention to the records that have gone into discard. But for the millions of interested readers who follow the course of this great festival of sports in the press, the passing of previous records is a measuring rod by which the prowess of the athletes assembled in the southern California city may be measured.

One brilliant achievement has followed another in such close succession that it is difficult for the public to keep abreast of the games. In 25 of the 29 track and field events for men and women Olympic records have been shattered. Even some of the losers in this year's contests excelled anything the world had seen before. No one has trimmed very much time off from world records, but the number of events in which slight improvements have been made by this year's contestants is in itself a phenomenon.

The United States has taken the lion's share of the honors in the field and track events. This country has considerably more than three times as many points to its credit as has its nearest competitor, Finland. The supremacy of the United States in this field is widely recognized. America loves sports. It is the playground of the world. No country has seriously threatened the lead of the United States since the Olympics began; probably no other country entertained hope of carrying off first honors.

Yet there are honors enough for all in a colossal athletic meet of this kind. Argentina, Japan, Finland, Italy, France, Great Britain, Germany, Sweden, Canada and other nations have scored signal victories. New heroes have emerged in every land.

The psychological effect of these games upon the world is intensely interesting. At a time when the world is generally discouraged and sick, a crop of marvelous athletes achieves a whole series of new victories. The implication of such an accomplishment is that the human race is steadily progressing, that human endurance is greater than ever before, and that man makes more skillful use of his strength. The writing of many new records may actually be due to the larger number of people who participate in athletics today. But it has a buoyant effect upon the public. It tends to diminish the economic troubles of the world and to revive a spirit of confident determination. People everywhere are reminded that the business of building strong bodies and quick perceptions goes on in spite of the fluctuations in economic charts. It is quite reasonable to classify the Olympic games as one of the important factors that are changing the mental attitude of the people of all nations. Hope, cheer and courage are again taking control of the human spirit.

ORGANIZING AGAINST WAR.

An extremely interesting exposition of the Kellogg pact was made by Secretary Stimson last night before the Council of Foreign Relations in New York City. The contract made by sixty-two nations to renounce war as a national policy has been challenged as ineffective, and is now undergoing development. Mr. Stimson outlined its inception, following the creation of the League of Nations, which clung to the ancient tradition that nations which decide to go to war have a right to do so, and that the rights of other nations are subordinate to this supreme right to start trouble.

Mr. Stimson explained how international law had striven to narrow and confine the destructive effects of war by development of neutral rights. This procedure did serve to a degree to save life and property, but it still recognized the right of two or more nations to set the world on fire.

The Kellogg pact, by adopting an entirely new attitude toward the ancient right of nations to make war, is in Mr. Stimson's opinion "a revolution in human thought." The world, he said, "simply could not go on recognizing war, with its constantly growing destructiveness, as one of the normal instrumentalities of human life. Human organization has become too complex, too fragile, to be subjected to the hazards of the new agencies of destruction turned loose under the sanction of international law. So the entire central point from which the problem was viewed was changed. * * * Hereafter when two nations engage in armed conflict either one or both of them must be wrongdoers—violators of this general treaty law. We no longer draw a circle about them and treat them with the punctilios of the duelist's code. Instead we denounce them as lawbreakers."

Critics say, "That's all very well, but how are you to stop them from fighting? The Kellogg pact should be amended by adding a proviso that the nations renouncing war shall be punished."

Mr. Stimson answers this criticism by stating that the pact rests upon the sanction of public opinion. This is the sanction which lies behind all international intercourse in time of peace. There has been an evolution in public opinion since the world war. What was tolerated once is not tolerated now.

The mobilization of world public opinion to deter would-be belligerents is becoming more easy, and its operation is more potent. Public opinion was quite influential in the case of Russia and China; it is the force which is now exerted by many nations jointly to deny to Japan any of the fruits of conquest in Manchuria; and it is being applied with great effectiveness to prevent war between Bolivia and Paraguay. This peaceable and invisible weapon is proving to be more powerful than armaments in discouraging the belligerency of nations.

The Kellogg pact is in effect an assumption of authority by all nations to subordinate the quarrel of two or more nations to the superior right of the world to enjoy peace and safety. Heretofore the quarrel developed into war, and neutrals did the best they could to keep out, and to protect their nationals against injury. Sometimes they were compelled to make war themselves, after war-maddened nations had trampled upon their rights. The United States, for example, was not concerned in the quarrel that developed into the world war, but it was compelled to make war to protect its rights. Now all nations declare that they will not make war, and through the agency of the Kellogg pact they naturally get together and apply the pressure of world opinion against would-be warmakers. Going still further under the doctrine originated by President Hoover, they agree to deny to violators of the Kellogg pact any of the fruits of conquest. They will not recognize territorial acquisitions resulting from the use of force.

Peace nations, and not belligerents, now have the whip hand. Nations that would have been neutral under the old regime are now the masters of the situation, instead of suffering injuries as innocent bystanders. The world is working out a system which insures peace as the right of all peoples. War-makers have no legal rights resulting from war, and are denied the spoils of war.

COUNTY MERGERS.

Local and county governments in many parts of the country are taking advantage of hard times to press for modernization of their administrative machinery. The people are more inclined to support consolidations and other changes in the direction of economy when taxes become unusually burdensome. In times of high prosperity local pride and distaste for political innovations hinder the work of reorganizing county governments. But in some localities taxes have become almost intolerable. Most citizens are willing to forget local pride for the sake of escaping exorbitant taxes.

A symposium on county government presented in the National Municipal Review shows that efforts to consolidate counties are being made in 32 States. Tennessee and Georgia have already put county merger programs into effect, with prospects of considerable savings for taxpayers. Some other States are gradually taking over the functions performed by county units, to avoid inequities, red tape and high costs of financing improvements.

The county system of local government as it was originally developed in the United States is almost obsolete. Counties were once essential administrative units in which the ideal of self-government was literally carried out. Communication was difficult and it was necessary to have a county seat readily accessible to every citizen. Now that situation has changed. People move from State to State with greater ease than they used to travel from one county to another. Under modern conditions county administrations in many cases are not needed. Overhead expenses are high; corruption is widespread, and inefficiency is general.

Roads and schools are the two largest items of expense for counties. Each county must purchase road building equipment that is in use only part of the time. It is not in a position to obtain credit at low interest rates. When roads are built by 50 different counties in a single State, they may not coordinate into a unified highway system. Thus, a great deal of money may be spent without securing effective results.

Not every county can afford to maintain a high school with modern equipment, including laboratories and athletic fields, but several counties merged together can easily provide such facilities. Efficiency and economy can not be attained when each small county must operate as if it were a complete civic unit.

North Carolina and Virginia have taken over all responsibility for roads within their borders. As a result they provide better highways at smaller costs to taxpayers. It would probably be unwise for States to take control over school systems. If counties were consolidated into larger units, they would doubtless be able to solve most of their school problems without substantial aid from the States.

In so far as the depression stimulates this movement toward county mergers and toward elimination of obsolete administrative machinery in local governments it will be a blessing in disguise.

Clarence True Wilson predicts that unless President Hoover comes out bone-dry a third-party movement with Senator Borah as its candidate will spring up within twenty-four hours. Why such procrastination?

Those who expect a peaceful ending of the row between Mayor Jimmie Walker and Judge Seabury must not forget that neither is a signatory of the pact renouncing war.

What this country needs is a good 5 per cent dividend.

COMMUNISM

From the Chicago Tribune.

The discovery of evidence that Communist agents had engaged in starting and spreading rumors resulting in unjustifiable runs upon banks is not surprising. It was a device the alert and ruthless mischief-maker could hardly fail to try and it will reappear when conditions encourage its use. Defense against it is very difficult, in great measure impossible. Depositors may be exhorted to protect themselves from anonymous suggestions, but in times of great stress distrust is natural or even inevitable. It is to be hoped the stage of panic fear has passed in the present depression, but in the meanwhile hundreds of sound banks have been ruined, with great loss to those who invested in them, to depositors, to the communities they served, and to the whole public whose property values have been reduced, at least temporarily, whose employment has been endangered, whose reemployment has been postponed because of the depth to which bank failures carried the depression.

A better founded banking system would have better withstood these attacks, and we hope and believe improvements in laws and conditions will bring one to us as some compensation for the losses all have suffered. But in the meanwhile the Communist scheme to break banks is something to be remembered. It is or should be an instruction in the practical meaning of revolution for many people to whom the theories of radicalism are unknown or of little interest. Communism promises a new world for the masses of mankind, but it does not say anything about what it costs, not only in the enslavement of men when once attained, but in the suffering it causes in the process of attainment. In America our whole system of living is based upon private property and the right to acquire and possess it. The Communist would destroy this system, and the object of the plot against small banks was to create such widespread loss and suffering among the possessors of small means as to create despair and blind revolt. The fanatic revolutionary does not care what misery he creates if it will serve his purpose. In Russia he killed without mercy and holds his power today by terror. In America, where the possession of at least some property is almost universal, the effort of the red revolutionary must always be directed at its destruction, regardless of the fact that the first and chief victim must be the people whose welfare he purports to be seeking.

A system must be more advantageous to the masses than bolshevism has yet produced in Russia to be worth the misery which its establishment would cost the mass of the American people. The ruin of the small banks is only a small foretaste of what the Communists would do to the American workman, the American farmer, and all the people of this country.

KITE WIRES DANGEROUS.

That flying kites equipped with wires instead of string is a very real danger is shown by the fact that last year eleven boys between the ages of 9 and 15 years were electrocuted through flying kites thus equipped, says the New Jersey Public Utility Information Committee. It is important to emphasize these dangers so that tragedy may not result from a popular and exhilarating pastime.

Parents, guardians and school teachers should instruct children and urge that neither copper nor any other kind of wire should be used as kite strings. Safety for youthful kite fliers may be made even more effective if they are urged never to fly their kites where there is a possibility of contact with any kind of overhead wiring.

BALLAD OF THE UNWANTED BRIDGE PLAYER.

I know what to do with an ace.
I know what a two-bid intends.
With all methods I've kept quite apace,
But still I am shunned by my friends,
Since on more than good nature depends
A bridge player's love and regards.
Who draws me in loss surely ends,
For I never hold any cards.

I sit with a smile on my face
As one who good humor pretends,
If I move to the high winner's place
My luck neither changes nor mends,
I am one who ill-fortune attends.
No fairy my lintel post guards.
To play with me none condescends,
For I never hold any cards.

I may have of dumbness a trace,
But whose wit's so great that he lends?
My hands are reviewed with ill-grace,
Every six-spot I put down offends.
My partner a vicious look sends.
He would stone me with flints and with shards
Because my hand with his never blends,

Getting Money Isn't Sordid Until After You Get Enough

By ROBERT QUILLEN

IN times like these, cheerful philosophers remind us again that money does not make people happy.

That is one of our current half-truths that isn't true at all unless it is qualified.

Money is power, and egoists who enjoy the sense of power are made happy by the wealth that provides it.

Money provides the means of display, and vain people who enjoy showing off are made happy by the wealth that enables them to do it.

But the happiness that money provides is not confined to the egoist and the show-off. It is shared by all of us who possess a decent pride and the ability to appreciate luxury and beauty.

The philosopher may feel no need of "material things," but ordinary people are not philosophers. They derive much of their happiness from the possession of automobiles, good clothes, radios, books, electric refrigerators, tiled bathrooms and vacuum cleaners. And millions who do not possess such things are unhappy for want of them.

Money doesn't always make happiness, but the lack of it always makes misery.

That is the point overlooked by those who scold "materialists."

Those who have food enough do not realize that a thing so common can make people happy, but the hungry can find happiness in nothing else.

Money is unimportant if you have more than you need. It is more important than anything else if you have less than you need.

There you have the truth on which to build a just and happy civilization.

A recent survey of middle-class homes revealed the fact that incomes of $2,500 to $5,000 provide all of the "modern conveniences" enjoyed by the rich.

If an income of $2,500 is required to buy comfort and plenty, those who have less are denied some of the happiness that money can provide. And those who receive more can derive from it no increase of happiness.

The income needed to escape unhappiness may be more or less than $2,500. No matter. The point is that every man must be given the opportunity to earn it.

Poverty in a land of abundance is a shame and disgrace. Lesser ills can not be cured while it is tolerated. And poverty is any state wherein unhappiness is caused by want of the things money can buy.

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

Art of Showmanship.
Baltimore Sun.

The governor exhibits the qualities of good showmanship by arranging to have Jimmy Walker and Samuel Seabury confront each other in the executive chamber at Albany with the governor appearing in the role of arbiter and judge. This aptitude for showmanship is more, please note, than a mere matter of campaign advantage.

The ability to dramatize issues and causes is one of the essential qualities of popular leadership. Every great President of modern times has possessed this quality in more or less generous measure. It was most marked in Woodrow Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt, the two men who by common consent are regarded as the most conspicuously successful public leaders of their time. It has been most lacking in the present incumbent of the White House, and the absence of any ability to dramatize his own issues has acted throughout the past three years as a brake on effective and decisive policies in government.

It is, of course, too early in the campaign to suggest that Gov. Roosevelt is a sure master of the arts of showmanship which play so large a part in the tasks of a public leader. It is easy to overshoot the mark in such matters and those who do overshoot pay a penalty as heavy as those who do not shoot at all. So far, however, Gov. Roosevelt has played his part with moderation and dignity as well as high technical skill.

Americanism.

Electing public servants who serve to get the salary; wondering why they cripple the Nation to please a little crowd of voters.

A Dangerous Device.
Minneapolis Journal.

Rather than see his home loan plan go by the board, President Hoover has swallowed, against his own better judgment, the Glass currency scheme, attached to the home loan bill as a rider and providing for a deliberate tampering with the currency. The Glass scheme permits expansion of the present volume of currency by an extra $1,000,000,000, based on Government bonds. This device would match a billion in interest-bearing debt with another billion of non-interest-bearing debt, secured, like the interesting-bearing debt only by the willingness and ability of the general public to endure taxation.

The new dollars, when and if issued, will have little more tangible behind them than the unlimited supply of new money proposed by Gen. Jacob S. Coxey, in the form of legal tender notes, would have. Congress finally has made possible the starting of the printing press, grinding out merely promissory money. The danger, of course, is that the printing press, once started, can not be stopped. The power to create money is obviously a dangerous power, when held in the same hands that hold the power to spend money. Nothing is easier than resort to the printing press to cover deficits created by governmental extravagance. And that means progressive inflation.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The Other Side of the Arlington County Vote on Byrd Plan.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It was with great interest that I read a letter published in The Post of August 5, signed "Fairfax County Voter," in which voters of Arlington County were advised to vote to remain within the provisions of the Byrd road act.

I feel that there is a great deal more than a somewhat doubtful reduction in taxes, which is the only possible good feature of the Byrd plan, to be considered by every voter who goes to the polls on Tuesday, August 9. Arlington County has a reputation for independence of thought and action. The political powers have been unable to control Arlington County as they have the other 99 counties of our State.

Shall we at a time when we have just taken the greatest step forward in the history of our county by changing our form of government and putting our county on a business basis, thereby dealing the courthouse ring a real body blow, now take a longer step backward by surrendering to the State highway commission at Richmond one of the most important functions of our new county board? Should we do this, we would be playing directly into the hands of the State machine, which will naturally look to the courthouse ring for guidance in county affairs in return for the ring's cooperation in affairs of State-wide importance.

In their anxiety to have us vote to remain within the provisions of the Byrd act, proponents of this plan have seen fit to question the integrity, ability, and efficiency of our county board, which, in spite of the almost hopeless mess in which they found county affairs, has in six months done more to put Arlington County on a sound progressive business basis than any previous board was able to do in four years. Now, we should remember that if we vote to stay in the Byrd plan, we will have a resident engineer, appointed by the chairman of the State highway commission, who in turn is appointed by the governor.

As between the advice of four of five members of our new county board who were elected by us in an open campaign and who have joined hands with responsible civic leaders in opposing the surrender of the principle of local self-government, and the advice of the courthouse ring and disgruntled politicians, who favor the Byrd plan, my choice is easy.

I am with the county board in its fight to retain, for Arlington County taxpayers, control of our own roads and streets, and I intend to vote to withdraw from the Byrd plan next Tuesday.

Mr. Johnson Thinks Americans Have the Habit of Pushing a Good Thing Too Far.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The philosophy of most Americans seems to be that you can not get too much of a good thing. If a little exercise and golf are good, a lot more exercise and golf are better. If a drink of liquor tastes good, two or three drinks would taste better, hence they generally slop over in their drinking.

In the stock market in 1929 if radio, steel and telephone were worth two or three hundred dollars a share, they were worth five hundred, maybe a thousand. When our millionaires get ten millions they want a hundred. John D. Rockefeller seems to be the only really successful, sensible man in America; for when Americans tried to make an automobile for every member of the family, including the baby, and burn up all the gasoline in the country, and it looked as though he would soon have all the money in the country, he quit and began giving it away.

Americans eat on this theory. They dig their graves with their teeth. If a bit of steak is good a whole steak would be better. They eat to die, not live. Soon as they get hold of an idea in regard to education, government or finance they rush into print or out in the streets to push their wonderful new truths, want everybody to adopt them and seek to use force to compel them, and so it goes all along the line. One might go on and enumerate a thousand ways in which Americans go to extremes including the bonuses and pensions to war veterans, but one must refrain or this idea, which is a good one, will be pushed too far.

JEREMIAH JOHNSON.

M. de Monzie Was Right After All, Says Highbrow in Library of Congress.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In your issue of August 7, there appeared a news article which stated that M. de Monzie, the minister of national education in France, while speaking at the dedication of a monument to Cardinal Richelieu, was ridiculed for saying: "He had a nephew in public life in the time of Charles X." Critics go on to say that the Duke of Richelieu, a grand-nephew of the great cardinal, "was premier under Louis XVIII, in 1815 and 1820, and that he died in 1822, two years before the accession of King Charles X."

As this second rhetorical embellishment contains a terminological inexactitude which needs correction, and as I am a highbrow from Boston, whose duty it is to cast light in dark places, I have the honor to report that M. de Monzie's statement was correct. Charles X succeeded his brother, Louis XVIII, as King of France in 1820, not in 1824, as the above article would imply, and if Richelieu died in 1822, he would have had ample time to serve King Charles X.

Please correct the incorrect "correction," and oblige.

MERCHANTS FEARING BOYCOTT, IS REPORT

Shannon to Issue Subpenas in Oklahoma Inquiry of U. S. Competition.

Kansas City, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Reporting that some merchants at Lawton, Okla., feared a boycott by Army officers at Fort Sill if they testified before his committee investigating Government competition in business, Representative Joseph B. Shannon (Democrat), Missouri, left tonight for the Oklahoma Army post town to issue subpenas.

The committee chairman said many merchants at Lawton, who had complained informally of competition from the post exchange at the fort, would not appear voluntarily.

"What little business they get from persons stationed at Fort Sill may mean the support of their families, and they are unwilling to jeopardize it," he added.

Leavenworth Exchange.

The subpenas will be served in time to bring witnesses before him at the resumption of the hearings in Lawton Wednesday.

During the committee sessions in Kansas City, which closed temporarily last Friday, merchants from Leavenworth, Kans., appeared to object to competition from the Fort Leavenworth post exchange, which it was brought out sells items ranging from groceries to bright-hued pajamas for women. Several Leavenworth witnesses said they feared the Army men might retaliate with a boycott.

Shannon announced the hearings would be reopened in Kansas City about August 18 to take testimony from any one who desired to appear.

He said L. B. Webb, president of the Farmers Cooperative Grain Dealers Association, of Dodge City, Kans., had been invited to be present at that time and denied a charge made today by Webb that representatives of Kansas cooperatives had received "evasive" replies to their requests for a chance to be heard.

(United Press.)

A suit, charging the War Department with being engaged in unfair and destructive competition with the warehouse industry, has been filed in District Supreme Court against Secretary of War Patrick Hurley by the New York Warehouse, Wharf and Terminal Association.

The action was revealed when attorneys for the War Department yesterday obtained a postponement of hearing until August 22. The suit specifically is a petition for a writ of mandamus to compel the Secretary of War to evict from the $11,000,000 Port Newark Army Base the Mercur Corporation.

Surplus war properties, the association charges, are being used in unfair competition with private business at Boston, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Norfolk, Jacksonville and New Orleans.

The association charges the Mercur Corporation has a dollar-a-year lease on the Army base.

TELEGRAPHIC DISPATCHES

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Police were answered with a shower of bottles and broken water glasses today when they ordered a crowd of some 500 persons to disperse. An emergency squad quelled the disturbance. Three persons were arrested. The crowd, clothing workers, had gathered to protest against the alleged shipment of unfinished clothing to out-of-town shops, where, union members charged, the work is completed by nonunion workers.

Dayton, Ohio, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Rev. Walter C. Tredtin, for the past two years president of Trinity College, Sioux City, Iowa, was named as president of the University of Dayton today. He will succeed Rev. Bernard P. O'Reilly, who has been president nine years and who will be director of extension activities and regent of the law school.

Milwaukee, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—David S. Rose, former mayor of Milwaukee and for almost 50 years a figure in Wisconsin politics, died at a hospital early today. He was 75 years old. His right leg had been amputated Friday in an effort to save his life after gangrene had set in following the amputation of a toe.

Manchester, N. H., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—George I. Haselton, president of the State senate in 1915, today announced his candidacy for governor on a "wet" platform. His candidacy will be a direct challenge to Gov. John G. Winant's attitude on the liquor question. The governor, who is seeking reelection, is regarded as a "dry." Both are Republicans.

High Point, N. C., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—High Point's industrial areas hummed in unison for the first time in nearly a month today as the last of 6,000 textile and hosiery strikers went back to word. Approximately 1,200 workers at the Adams-Millis full-fashioned hosiery mill and the Highland cotton mill marched back to their posts following a wage settlement effected Friday between mill owners and the idle workers.

St. Paul, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—United State Senator W. E. Borah, of Idaho, tonight was the guest of Frank B. Kellogg, judge of the World Court, at the latter's home here. Senator Borah came here from Rochester, Minn., where he underwent an examination at the Mayo clinic, which pronounced him physically fit. He plans to leave tomorrow for his home.

Denver, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—William C. Patton, World War veteran with ten years of a life sentence for murder behind him, today remarried Margaret Patton, who divorced him after his conviction in 1922. Patton, who was recently brought from the Colorado Penitentiary to Fitzsimons General Hospital near here, wracked with tuberculosis, said he wanted his wife to receive his war-risk insurance. Physicians said he probably would die within 48 hours.

SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Former C. O. P. First Ladies Invited to Notification.

MRS. HOOVER HAS INVITED several former mistresses of the White House at the notification luncheon on Thursday, and at the notification ceremonies on Thursday evening. Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt will arrive tomorrow evening in time to congratulate the President on his birthday anniversary and will attend the White House luncheon and the ceremonies at Constitution Hall the following day. Other First Ladies have been asked by Mrs. Hoover. Of the five women now living who formerly presided over the White House, three are Republican. Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Mrs. William Howard Taft, who is at her summer home at Murray Bay, Canada, also has been invited, as has Mrs. Coolidge, the latter evidently declining the invitation as did Mr. Coolidge.

Mrs. Roosevelt will entertain at tea tomorrow at Sagamore Hill, N. Y., for the Edith Kermit Roosevelt Women's Republican Club, of Oyster Bay, of which she is honorary president and of which her daughter, Mrs. Richard Derby, is president. The tea is to be given tomorrow because it is the birthday of President Hoover. Dr. Wicker Bacon will be among the speakers.

The Ambassador of Belgium, M. Paul May, who is spending a few days in Washington from Newport, where he is passing the summer, was among those lunching at the Mayflower yesterday. With the Ambassador was the Counselor of the Italian Embassy, Count Alberto Matchetti di Muriaglio.

The Minister of Albania, Mr. Faik Konitz, entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Mayflower for Mrs. Sidney Gest, of Philadelphia who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Rennert for several days.

Last evening the Minister entertained at dinner for the retiring First Secretary of the Bulgarian Legation and Mrs. Bisseroff.

The Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Ogden L. Mills will turn over their yacht, Avalon, to the latter's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Fell, jr., who, later in the summer, will entertain a party of friends cruising along the New England coast.

The Secretary of War, Mr. Patrick J. Hurley, was among those lunching at the Mayflower yesterday.

Maj. Gen. Simonds Returns To U. S. From Europe.

The new commandant of the Army War College, Maj. Gen. George S. Simonds, has returned to this country from Europe. Gen. Simonds will assume his new duties here in about two weeks.

The First Secretary of the Bulgarian Legation and Mme. Bisseroff will go to New York today and will sail tomorrow on the Manhattan for Europe, where the former will take up his duties at the foreign office. Mr. Bisseroff has been in Washington for nine years, and during that time he and Mme. Bisseroff have made many friends in the Capital, who will regret their departure.

Mr. Colman J. O'Donovan, Secretary Irish Free State Legation, and Mr. Eugene Scallon, Secretary South African Legation, have returned to Washington after spending a few days as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Mangan, jr., at their cottage in Margate, N. J.

The Assistant Secretary of War for Aviation, Mr. F. Trubee Davison, who has been commuting between Washington and his Locust Valley, Long Island, home, by plane, has started on a two-week trip to the West. During his trip he will visit the various airports of the service.

The Solicitor General, Mr. William D. Thacher, has come to Washington from his summer home in Watch Hill, R. I., where Mrs. Thacher is established for the summer.

The Assistant to the Attorney General, Mr. John Lord O'Brian, will return to Washington the last of the week from Asheville, N. C., where he has been on official business.

The Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Ernest Lee Jahncke will return to Washington the last of the week from the West Coast, where the former made an inspection tour of naval stations. They will be accompanied by their daughters, Miss Adele Jahncke and Miss Cora Jahncke.

Mr. Robert Patterson Lamont, former Secretary of Commerce, is at Wardman Park Hotel.

Former Representative S. Wallace Dempsey has returned to Washington after a motor trip in the Adirondacks, where Mrs. Dempsey is spending the summer at the Lake Placid Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wills Greenslade are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, Marie Melanie, on Sunday. The baby is a granddaughter of Rear Admiral and Mrs. John Wills Greenslade.

Mrs. James G. Haskell, of Wardman Park Hotel, is at home after a two-weeks' visit with her aunt, Miss Mary Martin, of Gordonsville, Va., who returned with her, and is now visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Graves, of Woodley Park.

John P. Hancock Engaged To Mobile Girl.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kay, of Mobile, Ala., announce the engagement of their daughter, Anne, to Mr. John Pannill Hancock, son of Mrs. Charles P. Hancock, of this city. The wedding will take place within this month.

Miss Kay is at present visiting her brother-in-law and sister, the Secretary of the British Legation and Mrs. Dudley Humber, in Panama. Mr. Hancock is a chemical engineer and for the past four years has been employed at Miraflores, Canal Zone.

Mr. John Palmer Hodges will go to Bridgeport, Conn., the end of the month to be the best man in the wedding of Miss Barbara Senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Senior, of Short Hill, Easton, to Mr. G. Russell Blanchard, of Linwood, Mass., which will take place on September 3.

Miss Louise Turner entertained at dinner last evening on the Shorebeth Henning and Lieut. Nelson Lanham terrace in honor of Miss Elizabon Head, whose marriage will take place tomorrow. The guests included members of the wedding party.

Miss Elinor Ryan and her brother, Mr. Joseph Ryan, of Washington and New York, have returned to the Plaza in New York after passing three weeks at Martha's Vineyard.

The Rev. Dr. Maurice S. Sheehy, assistant to the rector of the Catholic University, will entertain at luncheon on Monday for the national officers of the Catholic Daughters of America.

Mrs. Charles McCormick Wilson has returned to her residence on the Hudson after an absence of several years in California.

Miss Mary R. Taff Wed To William N. Reynolds 2d.

The marriage of Miss Mary Ruth Taff, of Jacksonville, Fla., to William N. Reynolds 2d, took place yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, with the Rev. Andrew M. Brodie officiating. The wedding was of the utmost simplicity with only the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. H. H. Reynolds, of Reynolds Homestead, Critz, Patrick County, Va., and a few close friends in attendance.

Both the bride and the bridegroom are of noted ancestry and are natives of Virginia. Mr. Reynolds is the son of the late H. H. Reynolds and is the nephew of William N. Reynolds, of Winston-Salem, N. C.

The bride is a graduate of Brenau College, of Gainsville, Ga., and Mr. Reynolds attended the Valley Ranch School in Wyoming, and is a graduate of the Augusta Military Academy of Virginia.

Mr. Reynolds and his bride left last evening for Manor Richlieu, Quebec, Canada, where they will remain for several weeks.

The friends and relatives of the bride and bridegroom who accompanied them from the Greenbrier and White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., are the guests of Mrs. Reynolds at the Willard for a few days.

Her Engagement Is Announced

LUMBER IS NOW HUB OF OTTAWA DEMAND

Canada Would Slash Soviet Exports to Britain Worth $140,000,000.

Ottawa, Ontario, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Lumber appeared today to have superseded wheat as the major commodity on which Canada will demand British tariff preferences at the imperial economic conference.

If this demand is met, it will mean Soviet Russia will be pushed out of a good part of the British lumber market which she has been enjoying during the last few years.

Shortly after the arrival in Ottawa of the premiers and other high officials of the maritime provinces and British Columbia, it was reported that Prime Minister R. B. Bennett of Canada and Stanley Baldwin, leader of the British delegation, met at a private conference. They were understood to be considerably concerned by the growing agitation on the part of Dominion lumber men against British purchases of Russian timber.

Enormous Supply.

Canada, which has an enormous supply of exportable lumber in British Columbia, Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, is prepared to ship one-third of the United Kingdom's annual imports of 4,100,000,000 board feet, worth $140,000,000. At present the Dominion supply is only 4.4 per cent, and Soviet Russia ships 36.7 per cent.

Canada's lumber-producing provinces are in a bad way economically. There is much unemployment and curtailed exports have meant a vast accumulation of stocks.

There has been considerable agitation against the United States tariff of $3 per 1,000 feet. But export figures subsequent to June 21 are said to show that the drop in Canadian exchange has almost nullified the tariff.

The American market is of small consequence to Canada in comparison with the British market.

Effect on America.

It appeared that no ban was to be asked on lumber from the Scandinavian countries.

The extent to which American lumber interests might be affected by an agreement between Britain and Canada may be seen in these statistics: Last year the United States exported to Great Britain rough Southern pine valued at $1,234,000, Southern pine boards and planks worth $818,000, Douglas fir boards and planks worth $1,232,000, and Douglas fir rough timbers worth $270,000.

To be sure there might always be a British market for certain amounts of American lumber, but it is possible that a good share of the United States exports could be supplanted by Canadian white pine.

MacDonald Extends Visit.

Belfast, Ireland, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald has decided to stay in Ulster until Wednesday, it was announced today. When he attended services at the Marquis of Londonderry's private chapel yesterday Presbyterian hymns were included in recognition of his presence.

MONTICELLO FUNDS IN NEED OF $127,000

Appeal Says Shrine Will Be Lost if Financial Aid Is Not Forthcoming.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Results of nine years' work toward the permanent preservation of Monticello, home of Thomas Jefferson, at Charlottesville, may be entirely lost unless financial aid is immediately forthcoming, the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation announced today.

The call for help is forced upon the board of governors of the foundation by the present economic depression, Stuart G. Gibbony, president of the foundation, said today.

"When the depression set in," Mr. Gibbony said, "we decided to make no further public appeal for funds for Monticello while these conditions lasted. However, the depression has continued so long that we now face the serious problem of raising the money to make the payments on the mortgage and to meet the debts of the foundation. Just when we are so close to the final goal, and only a comparatively small sum is needed to complete the work which has been carried on so successfully for almost nine years, the whole achievement is now in jeopardy and may be lost entirely if the public does not come to the rescue of Monticello immediately."

The property was purchased in 1923 at a price of $500,000, of which only $100,000 remains unpaid. An additional sum of $324,883 has been spent during the last nine years for the maintenance of the property as a patriotic shrine, for essential repairs and improvements and for insurance, interest and other charges. Gifts of Jefferson relics, valued by the foundation at over $100,000, have been received at Monticello, making the total value of the work of the foundation over $800,000.

A total of $127,000 is needed, the foundation announced, before the property will be clear of debt and the foundation free to carry on its work of preserving and maintaining Monticello as a shrine.

THE HELPFUL R. F. C.

("More States Ask Loans From Reconstruction Finance Corporation."—Headline.)

WE'VE been foolish with our money,
We've been careless keeping books,
And the outlook's sad and dreary
From the way the ledger looks;
We've been profligate and silly
And we now are up a tree—
So we'd like some quick assistance
From
the
R. F. C.

When the ship of State was sturdy
And its ribs were stanch and sound
We piled on excessive canvas
And we ran the boat aground;
On the rocks we saw her battered
By the gale and heavy sea—
So we'd like a speedy rescue
By the
R. F. C.

When the seas were still and glassy
We threw all the charts away;
We let rust the anchor cable
And forgot the stormy day;
When the gale came down upon us
We were gay and fancy free—
So we now would like a life line
From
the
R. F. C.

When the skies were clear and sunny
We just had a lovely trip
And to any hint of trouble
We gave answers light and flip;
To the warnings and the signals
We just laughed, "Tee hee! Tee hee!"—
So we now seek aid and succor
From
the
R. F. C.

When the weather it was flawless
We all danced and sang below;
We forgot to mind the tiller
Or to watch out for the blow;
Now the ship is badly leaking
And it's battered terribly—

SOMETHING BEHIND IT.

SCIENTISTS report that the Oldoway Man, believed to be the oldest specimen of homo sapiens, is not so old as believed. Sounds as if they were getting ready to run him for public office.

OLYMPIC REACTION.

Some fellows might not fear the life,
But you can tell the world that this cuss
Would be afraid to have as wife
A girl who far could throw the discus.

Elmer Twitchell declares that Mayor Walker could never win public confidence in a race for the governorship. "His pajamas are too gay for that job," reasons Elmer.

FAR SEEING.

Mayor Walker, it is rumored, will seek the governorship if ousted as chief executive of New York City. And if ever ousted as Governor he would probably aspire to the Presidency. Tammany already has a slogan for him: From ouster to White House!

ONLY REASONABLE.

The bathing beach censors must be having a tough time this summer. We understand the tactful ones are just warning the nude little dears that they mustn't think they have any more privileges on the public beach than they have in their own bathtubs.

U. S. Attacks Improper Canning of Crabmeat

(Associated Press.)

A drive on the improper packing of crab meat in Virginia and Maryland is being conducted by the Federal Food and Drug Administration.

The administration's office announced yesterday that 1,400 1-pound tins of crab, "put up in a very insanitary manner" at a St. Michaels, Md., plant, was seized last month. All plants in the area, the administration said, are being inspected.

A HOOKUP of wire line and radio facsimile transmission facilities by means of which a picture taken at the Olympic games at Los Angeles may be received in London, Berlin and Buenos Aires within a single hour has been provided.

For the occasion of this Olympiad, according to W. A. Winterbottom, R.C.A. Communications, Inc., has supplemented its regular facsimile service to London and Berlin with a special circuit to Buenos Aires, in order that South America as well as Europe might have pictures of important events by the quickest means that modern science can devise.

CHRISTY WALSH'S annual all-sports all-American dinner will be broadcast tonight (WRC, 10:30 o'clock) from Los Angeles. There will be no set speeches, but the principal sports and news writers covering the Olympic games, as well as the leading coaches and athletes will be heard; also members of the all-American football team of 1931 and the all-American track team of 1930.

Charles S. "Casey" Jones, veteran pilot, will assume the role of radio announcer in Columbia's attempt to broadcast direct from the plane in which Frances Marsalis and Louise Thaden will try for a refueling endurance record.

Jones will be in a special radio-equipped plane that will accompany the women flyers. Wire lines will be lowered from the convoy ship and plugged into microphones and headphones in the endurance plane. Attempts will be made periodically throughout the flight to broadcast the two-way conversation between "Casey" and the endurance pilots.

THE necessary equipment of the N. B. C. Music Library includes a hand truck. It is used to haul some of the larger music scores to and from the studios. Among the heaviest music sets is the complete orchestral score of Wagner's "Parsifal," which weighs 125 pounds. * * * Jack Denny's Orchestra, playing from New York, will be featured in the Lucky Strike Dance Hour tonight * * * Radio Joe will stage a "Shoe Strings Production Nite," in honor of the company which will put on an amateur theatrical show at the Wardman Theater on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week * * * Arthur Tracy, the Street Singer, will make his debut on the "Music That Satisfies," program (WMAL, 9 p. m.)

FAILURE of England to mint coins with milled edges in the late seventeenth century brought about one of the greatest epidemics of typhus that ever swept through her slums and prisons.

Dishonest persons began a practice of gathering up coins, snipping a few bits of gold or silver off the rough edges, then passing the coins on. The government was forced to call in all coins for recasting.

Additional revenue was necessary to keep up coinage, and each building was taxed for the number of windows it had. Poorer householders and jailors boarded up their windows; sunlight and fresh air were kept from homes and prisons; vermin thrived, spreading dread typhus in slums and prisons.

Baseball Job For Hornsby Doubtful

Slight Chance Is Seen for Managerial Post in 1933.

Reds, Giants Offer Only Possibilities, Is Belief.

By PAUL MICKELSON.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Unless a managerial storm blows unexpectedly from peaceful regions, Rogers Hornsby is almost certain to remain out of the big major league show in 1933, perhaps forever.

Within less than a week of his sudden release as pilot of the Chicago Cubs, all doors appear to have been shut against him.

When the "Rajah" was booted from his baseball throne last Tuesday the wise men of the game figured he was headed for the managership of the St. Louis Browns because of his popularity in the Mound City and his friendship with Owner Phil Ball. But no sooner had he returned to his home there than Biff Killefer was signed to a 1933 contract, Hornsby's friends said he would never succeed the present Browns manager for friendship's sake, but still one of his best chances faded there.

Phillies Re-Sign Shotton.

Philadelphia, another remote chance to stay in the National League, followed suit before a rumor connecting Hornsby could drift in that region. The Phillies signed Burt Shotton to a three-year contract.

A survey of the managerial situation in both majors today revealed but two chances for Rogers Hornsby landing, Cincinniti and the New York Giants. Both were in the midst of unsatisfactory seasons, but those who knew Hornsby wouldn't even consider them as possibilities.

It was known that Bill Terry had an inside track on a two-year contract to manage the Giants, while the Cincinnati management was kindly disposed toward Dan Howley, who lost a great chance to create trouble in the National League race by injuries and the illness of his star hitter, "Chick" Hafey. All the other managers in the National seemed to be "sitting pretty," although the Pittsburgh fans were sick at heart because of the great Pirate slump.

3 American League Berths Fixed.

At least three managers were definitely "in" around the American League—Connie Mack with the Philadelphia Athletics, Lew Fonseca with another year's contract with the White Sox, and Killefer at St. Louis. Joe McCarthy was in a good spot with the New York Yankees far ahead in first place and so was Roger Peckinpaugh, who has done some good construction work with the Cleveland Indians. Walter Johnson appeared to be a managerial fixture at Washington.

If there were two probable openings, they were at Detroit and Boston, although Frank J. Navin, of the Tigers, said last winter that he never considered any one better qualified as a manager than "Bucky" Harris. Boston, too, was quite pleased with the work thus far of its new manager, Marty McManus.

Hornsby's playing days may not be over just yet, but even he admits that he can't go much farther because of his aging legs. He's one baseball player, however, who won't play for nothing and it is questionable whether he would even care to leave the peace of his farm, where he makes money growing grass for golf greens, for the amount some club would offer him as a utility man or pinch hitter.

Monotype Yacht Lead Increased by Holland

San Pedro, Calif., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Jan Maas, of Holland, finishing in third place in the monotype yacht races today, ran up his lead for the Olympic championship over the Englishman, Colin Ratsey, to seven points, with Edgar Behr, of Germany, trailing in third place in the standings.

A Frenchman, Jacques Lebrun, sailed the best race today, to take first place in a time of 1 hour 27 seconds over the 2-mile course, which was favored only by light weather. Santiago Amat Cansino, of Spain, was second in 1 hour 1 minute 44 seconds, Mass' time was 1 hour 2 minutes 29 seconds.

In the point standing, Holland had 49; England, 42; Germany, 37; Spain, 36; France, 33; Canada, 29; Sweden, 27; United States, 26; Austria, 18; South Africa, 15; Italy, 12.

The other competitors finished as follows in the race today: Colin Ratsey, England, 1 hour 2 minutes 53 seconds; Reginald M. Dixon, Canada, 1 hour 3 minutes 9 seconds; Edgar Behr, Germany, 1 hour 4 minutes 26 seconds; Sven Gustaf Thorell, Sweden, 1 hour 4 minutes 57 seconds; Charles Lyon, United State, 1 hour 5 minutes 34 seconds; Hans Riedel, Austria, 1 hour 5 minutes 39 seconds, and Silvio Treleani, Italy, 1 hour 5 minutes 58 seconds.

Grimes Reveals Mailed Fist In Managerial Velvet Glove

NEW YORK, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—The Chicago Cubs can smoke in the clubhouse or any place else they please, now that Charlie Grimm is manager, but they have already discovered that their new boss carries an iron fist in his velvet glove.

Rollie Hemsley, Cub catcher, was having too good a time over in Camden, N. J., in the small hours of last Saturday morning and was picked up by the gendarmes, charged with disorderly conduct.

Grimm, solicitous, bailed him out, paid his fine, had a long talk with him and then slapped a fine and a suspension on his star catcher and sent him home to Chicago.

"I hated to do it," he said today, "but I couldn't overlook a thing like that. I had a long talk with Rollie and I believe I'll have less trouble with him now, or none at all."

Grimm has no special ideas as to managing a ball club. The same discipline rules continue as under Rogers Hornsby, except that smoking now is allowed in the clubhouse. Hornsby didn't smoke himself, so forbade his men to smoke when they were around him.

He does differ with Hornsby whether a manager should do all the thinking.

"These fellows are big league ball players, and they can think for themselves," he said. "They have ideas, just as I have, and I want them to offer them to me. The way I see it every player has as big a stake in my success as a manager as I have, and the thing for us to do is to work together for everybody's good."

The Cubs have won 4 and lost 2 under Grimm for a percentage of .666, which is a hundred points better than they did under Hornsby.

Grimm isn't claiming any pennants, but he says the Cubs will be in there fighting.

LAUREL CARD SHIFTED TO TOMORROW

1,600 at Arena as Rain Stops Bouts After Opener.

RAIN, breaking shortly before the close of the opening bout, forced postponement of last night's 32-round boxing program in Twin City Arena, with upward of 1,200 in the stands and several hundred outside the gates. The matches, it was announced, will be staged tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock, with all holders of stubs and tickets to be honored.

Although denied seeing what promised to be one of the best cards of the season, fans warmed up to a snappy four-round duel between Young Raspi, a willing 129-pound scrapper from Baltimore, and Sam Romano, 128 pounds, a youngster with lots of pluck from Walter Reed Hospital. The fight ended in a draw as spectators hastened to available places of shelter to protect themselves from the torrential downpour. Raspi used his left jab effectively, going after his opponent nicely for two rounds. Romano came back strong in the third and fourth.

De Capua and Banovic in Main Go.

In tomorrow's scraps Jimmy DeCapua, light-heavyweight from Daytona Beach, Fla., and Bingo Joe Banovic, registered out of Binghamton, N. Y., will trade punches in the feature match scheduled over the ten-round route.

Considerable, if not principal, interest has been focused on the six-round semiwindup between Young Van, promising young puncher, and his rival, Sammy Britt. Postponed fours will bring together Kid Monte, of Norfolk, Va., and Johnny Koles, of Baltimore; Johnny Maya, of the Pacific Coast, and Sailor Leonard, of the Tidewater section of Virginia; Young Zinkhan, of Baltimore, and Arthur DeBeve, the crouching French lightweight battler. Another four-rounder will be added.

Argentine Ambassador Congratulates Zabala

(Associated Press.)

Hailing the victory of Juan Carlos Zabala, who yesterday won the Olympic marathon in record time, Argentine Ambassador Felipe Espil yesterday sent the following telegram to his diminutive countryman:

"As representative of the Argentine government and as a compatriot I send you my warmest congratulations. Your feat, known today in all the countries of the world, is inseparably linked with the name of Argentina."

Zabala, Ambassador Espil said, is the best messenger Argentina could have sent to the United States.

"He is but 20 years old and is the living expression of that new race which is in the state of formation in my country, an admirable combination of the old racial characteristics which develops our nation."

GLEDHILL IS BEATEN AT RYE NETS

Bows to MacGuffin in Only Upset of Afternoon.

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Ranking male tennis players swung into action in the Eastern grass courts championship today and promptly lost one of their leading contenders. Keith Gledhill, of Santa Barbara. Gledhill, apparently overtennised and indifferent as to whether he won or lost, was eliminated by the steady New York player, Harold MacGuffin, in straight sets, 6—4, 6—2.

All other favorites advanced to the second round although many of them were forced to extra sets. Berkeley Bell, Clayton Lee Burwell, of Charlotte N. C.; Martin Buxby, of the University of Texas; Gregory Mangin, of Newark, and Fritz Mercur, of Bethlehem, Pa., all traveled three sets in their first round matches.

Buxby Eliminates Bryan.

Buxby eliminated the young Chattanooga star, Robert Bryan, 6—4, 5—7, 8—6. Bell defeated Hal Surface, of Kansas City, 3—6, 6—4, 6—1, and Burwell won from Ray Palmer, Malba, N. Y., 6—3, 3—6, 8—6. Karl Kamrath, of Austin, Tex., forced Mangin to call upon all his strokes to win at 4—6, 6—4, 6—2, and Mercur had trouble with the Scarsdale, N. Y., veteran, H. H. Bassford, but won, 7—5, 1—6, 6—3.

Two Southtern aces, Cliff Sutter, of New Orleans, and Bryant Grant, jr., of Atlanta, advanced in straight sets. Sutter defeated Albert Law, New York, 6—4, 6—3, and Grant won from Frank Bowden, New York, 6—3, 7—5.

Other winners included J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J.; Wilbur Coen, Kansas City; Eddie Jacobs, Baltimore, and Lester Stoefen, Elbert Lewis and Keith Wener, of Los Angeles.

Sidney B. Wood, winner at Seabright and Southampton, withddrew from the tournament today.

Cards Twice Defeat Phils, 7-6 and 6-4

Philadelphia, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—The Phillies' pennant hopes were given another jolt today when they dropped two games to the St. Louis Cardinals for their fourth successive defeats. The world champions won the opener, 7 to 6, and then took the nightcap, 6 to 4, in eleven innings.

Two three-run rallies, one in the eighth and the other in the ninth, wiped out a 6 to 1 lead established by the Phillies in the seventh to give the Cards the first game. Jimmy Collins' eighteenth home run with Jim Bottomley on base in the eleventh provided the winning margin in the second encounter.

Special to The Washington Post.

MUNICIPAL STADIUM, Cleveland, Aug. 8.—While Monte Weaver without question has shown himself to be the Nationals' best pitcher in this, his first season in the majors, it must be admitted that he also is the luckiest on the Johnson staff. Today, while getting credit for a 7-to-6 victory over the Indians, his mates, thanks to two errors by Infielder Johnny Burnett and one by Earl Averill, and a clean theft of home by the veteran Sam Rice, scored two more runs than they did hits, to win by a whisker.

The loss snapped an Indian winning streak which had reached six in a row and dropped the Tribe back to third place in the race, below the idling Athletics.

Weaver was batted off the peak in the eighth and General Alvin Crowder finished out the string for him and checked the Indians in the nick of time. The starter was thus credited with his ninth straight triumph and became one of the three flingers in both major leagues to turn in as many as eighteen victories this season.

Errors Undoing of Hildebrand.

Oral Hildebrand started on the hill for the Indians and, due largely to the three errors by his mates, did not last through the fourth, the Nats' second and last scoring frame, "Sarge" George Connally relieved him and later Clint Brown came on the scene. While this trio was granting but five hits, the Tribe was garnering a dozen safeties, all but two of which came while Weaver was on the job.

Washington's big inning was the second, which netted five runs. Cronin singled as a starter and took third on West's one-shot after Kuhel had flied out. When Averill let the drive get past him, West carried on to second. Bluege walked, filling the bases, and then Burnett came through with his first butter-finger stunt. He let Berg's drive go through him, two runners scoring, and Bluege taking third. Weaver fanned, but Rice walked and the isles again were packed. This put it up to Myer and he doubled, scoring two and advancing Rice to third. Seeing that Hildebrand was paying little attention to him, Rice took a long lead off the base and then suddenly dashed for the plate, reaching it safely by a goodly margin.

Burnett also gave the Nats a start in their other scoring frame, the fourth, fumbling Bluege's opening roller. Berg sacrificed and both were safe when Bluege beat Hildebrand's throw to nip him midway. Weaver advanced both on a sacrifice and Rice then cleared the bases with a single. Connally took up the native mound burden at this point and the Nats were through for the day.

Weaver First Falters in Fourth.

It was not until after the Nats had piled their total to seven that the Tribe was able to break the ice, Weaver faltering in the home half of the fourth. Voamik's opening single, a walk to Morgan, a long fly, Cissell's single and Kamm's triple netted three runs, and another was molded in the seventh. Burnett's double and two useful outs were the ingredients used in its making.

In the next frame, Weaver was pounded off the hill. With Cissell and Kamm on the runways as a result of singles, and two out, Porter walked to fill the bases and Burnett partially atoned for his previous leaky fielding by doubling two mates home and putting the Indians just one run behind. Crowder came into action then and intentionally walked Averill, again crowding the runways. A hit here would have beaten the Nats, but Vosmik could not get it, going out on a fly to West.

Again in the ninth, the Indians threatened and again Crowder was able to tighten up. Morgan beat out a roller as a starter and, after Myatt flied out, Cissell singled Morgan to third. A long fly would have knotted the string and sent the game into extra innings, but Kamm's best was a foul to Berg and Brown then ended the game by looping to West.

U. S. Leads Olympics In Free Exercises

Olympic Stadium, Los Angeles, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—The United States took the lead in Olympic gymnastics competition today, scoring 103 points in the team exhibition on free exercises. Hungary ranked a close second with 101. Italy totaled 99.4, Finland 99.2 and Japan 86.3.

Stephen Pelle, of Hungary, was the high individual scorer at the conclusion of today's program, amassing 28.8 points out of a possible 30. Georges Miez, Switzerland, all around champion in the 1928 Olympic games, counted 28.3, and Mario Lertora, of Italy, 27.7, to place second and third, respectively

Nurmi Status Is Shelved As Finns Maintain Purity

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Finland, storm center of the tenth Olympiad, claimed at least a partial triumph today in the legislative maneuvers when the International Amateur Athletic Federation, after voting itself blanket powers of suspension by a one-vote margin, then did a right about face and decided to shelve for two years the entire issue growing out of the celebrated Paavo Nurmi case.

In effect, this was a hard won vote of confidence for the executive council, which had suspended Nurmi for alleged professionalism last April, over Finland's protest, and then rejected the Finnish star's entry for the Olympics without passing definitely on his status.

Finnish delegates claimed not only a victory in shelving the proposition to clothe the council with extraordinary powers, but, moreover, that Paavo is still officially an amateur and entitled to compete anywhere as such.

"We will sanction Nurmi as an amateur at home or abroad," declared L. J. Miettinen, of Finland. "We consider the federation now, and for the next two years at least, has no power to suspend him."

Officials Approve 12 World Records

Ten Marks to U. S. Stars as Result of Olympic Performances.

Los Angeles, Aug. 8 (U.P.).—The International Amateur Athletic Federation, world's supreme athletic authority, today approved twelve new world track and field records.

Ten of the marks approved were made in the Olympic games here last week. Eight went to Americans as follows:

Eddie Tolan, 10.3 seconds for 100 meters; Bill Carr, 46.2 seconds for 400 meters; George Saling, 14.4 seconds for 110-meter hurdles; Glen Hardin, 52 seconds for 400-meter hurdles; Bill Miller, 14 feet 1⅞ inches in pole vault; James Bausch, 8462.235 points in decathlon; the 400-meter relay mark of 40 seconds made by Toppino, Kiesel, Dyer and Wykoff; the 1,600-meter relay time of 3 minutes 8.2 seconds by Fuqua, Ablowich, Warner and Carr.

Boy Pedals to Coast, But Misses Olympics

Los Angeles, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—A Newcastle, Pa., high school boy, Jack Cole, 17, who won the high jump and mile run for his team, arrived here today on a bicycle just in time to miss the Olympic track and field events. He rode his bicycle from Newcastle to Los Angeles in 23 days.

The youth said he would remain here several days before pedaling on to San Francisco to visit relatives.

Nats Send Burke To Chattanooga

Move to Aid Lookouts in Flag Race Cuts Washington Staff to Six.

With the Nationals out of the first-place fight in the American League, President Clark Griffith is trying to get his Chattanooga farm home in front in the Southern Association. On Sunday he sent Infielder Wes Kingdon to the Lookouts to fill in at second, while Second Baseman Wally Dashiel nurses a leg injury, and yesterday he wired Pitcher Bobby Burke, with the team at Cleveland, to hop a train for Chattanooga.

Burke has been of little use to the Washington team this season, but he may be able to win a few games in the Southern. He goes on 24-hour option so that he may be immediately recalled if Manager Johnson needs him. The departure of the southpaw cuts down the Nat mound staff to six, the smallest it has been in years.

HURLS NO-HIT GAME.

Tubby Palmer, youthful radio entertainer, pitched a no-hit, no-man-reach-second-base ball game yesterday, giving the Wyandotte Eagles a 13-0 win over the Jimmie Foxx Insects. He allowed one walk, hit one man and one man reached first on an error.

America Also Triumphs In Men's Diving; Rowing And Boxing Start Today

16 Nations to Send Fighters Into Ring in First Bouts.

Single Sculls and 4-Oared Crews to Open Rowing Program.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Referees will be inside the ring and render their decisions, along with those of two judges, for the first time in Olympic boxing competition, when the fistic features of the international games start tomorrow afternoon.

This was decided today by the International Boxing Federation, which also specified that a decision must be reached by the three officials, no draws being permitted; that the contestants must wear shirts, have only one handler in their corner and weigh in tomorrow at 9 a. m., with a two-hour period of grace to make the class limit if they fail the first time.

Bouts Limited to 3 Rounds.

One setback will eliminate a contestant. The bouts will be scored on a point basis, with a maximum of 30 points per round. Each bout will be limited to three three-minute rounds, with the usual one-minute rest between rounds.

Sixteen nations have entries in the Olympic fisticuffs, with the United States, Italy, Argentina, Germany and Great Britain sending especially strong teams into the fray. Italy won the team title four years ago, with Argentina second and the U. S. A. third.

Eddie Flynn, among the welterweights, and Fred Feary, slugging heavyweight, are among the American favorites.

Oarsmen Finish Training.

Long Beach, Calif., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Oarsmen added final touches to a long training grind today preparatory to the opening tomorrow of the "Battle of Alamitos Bay," when first trials will be held to determine seven Olympic rowing championships, including the defense of the sculling title by Bobby Pearce, of Australia.

Interest centers around the eight-oared competition, in which the United States will seek its fourth successive title. Navy won for this country in 1920, Yale four years later and California in 1928. The present California squad is rated as one of the strongest ever assembled. This competition starts Wednesday.

As the sun begins to dip into the West tomorrow four-oared shells with coxswains will dart away from the starting line, to officially begin the quadrennial competition.

Italian Crew Defends Four-Oar Title.

Germany, Brazil, Italy and New Zealand's entries will compete in the first heat, followed by the United States, Japan and Poland. The powerful Italian crew is defending the Olympic title in this four-oared event and is a strong favorite to repeat. Three of the oarsmen and the coxswain were in the 1928 shell. Poland has a strong crew, while the United States and Germany also figure to be in the running. Japan is believed to have only an outside chance.

Other events listed for tomorrow include pairs without coxswain and single sculls. Two heats of the single sculls, winding up the first day's program, are expected to furnish one of the most spectacular battles of the entire competition.

Mystery Man From South America.

The lone representative from the South American republic has caught the fancy of the fans through his aloofness. Since his arrival he has practiced alone, a mystery man of tremendous bulk, but no conversation. He stands 6 feet 6 inches and weighs around 198 pounds. Most of his workouts have been early in the morning and late in the evening after other contestants have stowed away their shells and relaxed for the day.

California remained the prerace favorite in the eight-oared competition. Canada's aggregation is formidable and the Cambridge University men

Dutch Girl Is Second to Miss Madison in Olympic Dash.

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN.

OLYMPIC SWIMMING STADIUM, Los Angeles, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Helene Madison, Seattle's queen of the waterways, won the first women's title of the tenth Olympiad aquatic championship today, the 100-meter free style final, in Olympic and world's record breaking time.

The 20-year-old girl from the Northwest outdistanced a cosmopolitan field of crack swimmers by churning through the distance in 1 minute 6.8 seconds.

It was a large day for the United States, with three Yankee acrobats sweeping the 3-meter springboard diving finals after three hours of graceful demonstration this morning.

Every Record Broken.

With the international championships only three days old, every Olympic record at stake has been washed from the books.

The last of these to go was Alberto Zorilla's 400-meter free style mark of 5:01.6, set in 1928, when Takashi Yokoyama, Japan's leading threat, won the first heat of the preliminaries in 4 minutes 53.2 seconds.

Six thousand persons were on hand for the diving championships, while an afternoon crowd of 9,000 appeared to see the fourth Olympic record in as many events drop to the bottom of the last 50-meter plunge.

Mickey Riley Galitzen won the diving championship by amassing 161.28 points, with Harold Smith second, totaling 158.54 points, and Richard Deneger, of Michigan University, third to the two Los Angeles stars with a 151.82 total, to sweep the first three places for the United States.

Alfred Phillips, of Canada, was fourth, almost 20 points in the rear of the American trio, followed by Leo Essar, of Germany, and Kazuo Kobayashi, of Japan.

The first three diving places thrust the United States into the team-point lead with 27, against 10 for Japan, 3 for Canada and 2 for Germany.

One second behind Miss Xudison in the 100-meter free style final was Willimijntje den Ouden, 14-year-old Dutch girl, who yesterday broke the world's record and quickened the Olympic mark for the fourth consecutive time during the meet.

Miss Madison Gains From Start.

Helene took the lead after the first 25 meters and increased her advantage with every stroke on the home stretch. Third was Mrs. Eleanor Geratti Sayville, of San Francisco, only a stroke behind the Hollander. Josephine McKim, of Los Angeles, came in fourth.

These placings gave the United States women's team 17 points, with 5 for Holland, 2 for Australia, and 1 for South Africa.

Yokoyama flashed the best form in the 400-meter heats, but he was forced all the way by James Gilhula, United States, who was credited with

CEE TEE SCORES SECOND VICTORY IN ROW AT HAWTHORNE

Dixiana Star Is Victor By Neck

Impish Challenges Too Late to Overtake Winner.

Annimessic Finishes Third; Mowris Disappoints.

HAWTHORNE RACE TRACK, Chicago, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—The Dixiana Stable's Cee Tee scored a neck victory over Impish today in the Hinsdale Purse to account for a second straight win at Hawthorne.

Mowris, J. H. Manheimer's candidate for the Illinois Owners' Handicap, which will be run Saturday, cut out the early pace, but faded badly and was out of the money. Jockey R. Tilden got Cee Tee out in front going into the stretch, but had to apply the bat to withstand a great challenge by Impish.

Annimessic made a gallant try in the stretch, but started too late and just managed to save third money. Cee Tee ran the mile and a sixteenth in 1:47, and paid $8.36 to win. Abraham Bartelstein's Kibitzer was badly cut down during the early running and was forced to pull up.

Grand Time Cops Feature at Saratoga.

Saratoga Race Track, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—The Saratoga Sales Stakes, a dash of 5 and one-half furlongs for 2-year olds, which were sold at public auction here a year ago, resulted in a handy triumph for William Ziegler, jr.'s colt, Grand Time. The son of High Time, running back to his good second to Happy Gal in the Flash Stakes, registered by a half length over J. J. Robinson's Little Lad. W. H. Lipscomb's Hibora and the Brookmeade Stable's Okapi brought up the rear, well beaten.

Grand Time, favorite at 7 to 5, completed the distance over a muddy track in 1:08 2-5 to collect $3,375 and a $500 cup donated by the sales company which sold the winner.

Tony Pascuma, who rode Little Lad, was in the stand after the race, but the stewards did not consider the light interference apparently caused by the winner sufficient to justify a disqualification.

Grand Time went right to the front and Little Lad, on the inside, kept within a half length of the pacemaker all the way, while the other two contestants dropped back after 3 furlongs. Elston had Grand Time under control through the final furlong and Little Lad could not seriously menace the favorite.

JOE AND ASBESTOS

(Watch Sunday's Post for New Secret Code) —By Ken Kling

Asbestos is still dodging standout horses and is trying for long shots. One 20-to-1 shot is worth 20 even money winners. The roll sank to $47.38 yesterday.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: HAWTHORNE RACE TRACK, CHICAGO, AUG. 8.

Don Romiro, Miss Melody and Cee Tee stepped down for me here today, while I was well represented by money horses at good prices. Both of Mike's Saratoga specials were scratched when the course turned muddy. He's right on the job, however, with another pair for tomorrow. Here they are: Scuttle, Tinema.

I've heard some talk that Flo O'Neill will be a good thing at Fort Erie tomorrow. Worth an across the board shot. BILL.

FIRST RACE—LILLIAN Z is a smart miss and I am taking her to beat MINTOGEE in this dash for 2-year-olds. DUPEE gets the No. 1 post and may break into the money from there.

SECOND RACE—ERVAST is the class of this gang, I do believe. Shares top weight with some of the others, but I see him turning the trick. SARAZEN II looks like the place horse ahead of GUNFIRE.

THIRD RACE—LUCILLE K is my choice to defeat these. Has the speed and has worked well. STROLL ALONG may surprise by getting in the money. The show end to VOLWOOD.

FOURTH RACE—HATTERAS may be the medium of an upset here. Has been racing well and if let go today is likely to grab the big dough. LAFERIA'S last was a beaut. SUNEROS for the third cash.

FIFTH RACE—YONKEL, SEVEN VEILS and LASALLE to battle it out for this purse. REHOBOTH is unreliable, but could defeat the others with a best effort.

SIXTH RACE—INHERITOR has beaten better than these. GABBO has gone back, but may be second ahead of CULLODEN.

SEVENTH RACE—SUITOR was defeated by a nose the last time, but the veteran appears to be at tops and may stick it out today. SPUD for the place and QUIBBLER to show.

EIGHTH RACE—OUTER HARBOR is my 20-1 special in the final. MODERN TIMES to place ahead of SOUTHLAND BELLE.

SPEER FACES NEW FOE TONIGHT

Manich to Substitute for Kwariani on Bolling Card.

THE long arm of Uncle Sam's Immigration Service has tapped the burly shoulders of Kole Kwariani, and in the Russian's place tonight at Bolling Field there will appear George Manich, who will meet Frank Spear in the feature presentation on a card of five exhibitions.

The substitution probably will pep the card up a bit, and insert a much-needed old face into a card of strangers. Manich is quite an institution around local wrestling precincts. He was built up into a Londos match last winter on Joe Turner's circuit and apparently is a good journeyman rassler.

Otherwise the bill remains the same, starting at 8:30 o'clock with women free if accompanied by escorts. The rest of the matches are Tony Rocco vs. Jack McArthur; Charley Hanson vs. Ivan Zirkoff; Mike Mazurki vs. Mihaly Orgavany, and Tiger Paula vs. the Masked Marvel.

Roccohas Wrestled Londos to Draw.

Rocco is the most interesting of the newcomers on the bill. Records substantiate his claims of victories over Wladek Zbyszko, Dan Koloff, Jim McMillen and a draw with Jim Londos, all achieved back in the dusty history of the mat.

The final round of Joe Turner's so-called mat-ch play tournament for the right to meet Jim Londos some time, will be rassled out Thursday night at the stadium. The match is between Jim McMillen and Gino Garibaldi, whose reputations are so secure that even the wrestling wisies are wondering which will be picked.

Other bouts on the Turner bill are Rudy Dusek vs. Frank Brunofico; Fred Grobmeier vs. Lou Plummer; Herman Hickman vs. Johnnie Maxos and Pat O'Shocker vs. Chief Whitefeather.

Dick Spaulding Leads Team Against Pilots

A former Washington American League ball player, Dick Spaulding, will be in the line-up of the Camden, N. J., All-Stars at Griffith Stadium tonight when the club meets the Washington Pilots.

Other former big leaguers now connected with the New Jersey team are Third Baseman Ernie Padgett, Cleveland; Catcher George Gillam, St. Louis Cards, and Pitcher Rube Chambers, Philadelphia Nationals.

The game starts at 8:30 o'clock.

Colored Playground Tennis Finals Today

Milton Robinson, Logan's defending champion, will meet Harry Jackson, of Cardoza, in the final round of the senior colored playground championship today at 1 o'clock at Howard. Robinson reached the finals yesterday by swamping Harry Liberty, of Willow Tree, 6—0, 6—0. Jackson gained the title round Saturday by beating Thurston Lewis, of Rose Park.

Ed Yearwood, of Howard, and Tom Jackson, of Cardoza, will fight it out for the junior title also at 1 o'clock.

Stocks Take Higher Ground In 5,544,380-Share Sales

Largest Turnover Recorded Since October, 1930, in Buoyant Trading.

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Financial markets refused to swerve from currently charted courses today; rather, they set additional sail, catching a breeze that at times approached gale proportions.

Stocks, far from intimidated by the week's record, stormed upward on turnover of 5,544,380 shares, the largest since October, 1930, when the market was taking the opposite direction.

Prices closed well under their best, but net gains of many leaders ranged from 1 to 6 points. At the times they were up roughly 2 to 8. The strength once more well distributed, although motors, utilities and rails showed prominently. Cotton fell away from its top, holding more than half the bale of its extreme rise.

Realizing sales surged through the entire list at intervals, but not until the last hour did they cut much of a swath. Then American Telephone soared from 114¾ to a closing of 117, making the net gain 2¼. Union Pacific more than halved a 7-point advance, Santa Fe, which had run up 8, closed 6½ to the good. U. S. Steel touched 44⅞, or about 3 points up, and cut its gain to a fraction.

Wall street heard much and made much of prospective plans to aid commodities through organized efforts to expand purchases and to relieve the markets surplus stocks would have threatened prices. The organization move in this direction, it was mentioned, would be to help cotton, grain, the market's bullish interpretation of such a proposal became quickly apparent at the opening.

Then the sweeping price advances caught the public imagination and hardly open to dispute, and the market's strongest talking point undoubtedly its own action. Advices among professional and other traders, it was reported, have been bullish on the rise, although its motive to date has been sufficient to cover such opposition.

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

What the Stock Market Did

	Mon.	Sat.
Numer of advances	562	470
Number of declines	140	76
Stocks unchanged	108	111
Total shares traded	805	657

Stocks.

Advances rolled up 2 to 8 points, which were trimmed about one-half by profit-taking. The market at times took on near-boom aspects. The turnover of 5,544,380 shares was the largest since October, 1930.

Bonds.

Prices continued the upward trend, as trading caught the spirit of fast-moving stocks. The average gain was nine-tenths of a point. Sales totaled $14,698,000.

Curb.

The determined march to higher ground was maintained in a record sale of 460,000 shares. Prices weathered profit taking in the drive.

Wheat.

Values advanced nearly 2 cents on the buoyancy in other markets. The report of shortage in grain supplies also contributed to the rise.

Cotton.

Heavy general buying sent prices $5 per bale higher. The average net rise ran 86 to 87 points. The record advance was caused by the Government crop report.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

LONDON—The outstanding feature on the stock exchange was the continued decline in leading British securities on persistent selling attributed to broadening interest in other directions. Favorite international issues were higher on Wall street, and Argentine rails were strong.

Clarence G. Casl[illegible]ing was chosen ... president of the Pan American Bankers' Association at the annual convention here today.

Frances Pe[illegible] maintained a firm front apart from irregularity in French bourses. All sections rose moderately with the Dutch shares leading. International issues were strong and the Paris bourse was firm.

Berlin—Prices were firm but trading was dull on the boerse today.

CURB PUSHES HIGHER IN RECORD '32 SALE

460,000 - Share Turnover Defies Profit Taking; Industrials Mixed.

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Continuing where it left off on Saturday the curb market today staged another vigorous uprush, which was checked somewhat in the late trading by heavy profit taking. The day's transactions totaled 460,000 shares, the largest volume this year.

In the utilities late realizing slowed down the forward movement. Electric Bond & Share issues closed at small net declines and a few other favorites in this group were on the minus side. Utah Power & Light preferred and a host of other senior utility issues continued their upswing with undiminished vigor.

Industrial specialties were mixed, though several showed notable strength on top of their sharp gains of the past week.

The telephone division was buoyant with Bell of Canada 3 points higher and New York Telephone more than a point to the good. Swift International was the outstanding feature of the food shares, rising about 2 points.

Efforts were made near the close to bring the oils into line, and some success was achieved in Standard of Indiana and Gulf, each of which picked up a point or so.

Per Capita Cash Circulation Increased in July to $45.85

(Associated Press.)

Money in circulation on July 31 amounted to $5,726,304,202, equivalent to $45.85 for every man, woman and child in continental United States.

In making this announcement the Treasury yesterday told a total gain of $31,303,880, or 22 cents for each person, was shown over the previous month. It also was an advance of $889,309,690, or $6.88 for each person, as compared with the corresponding date of last year.

The circulation peak was reached on October 31, 1920, when the total was $5,698,214,612, or $53.21 per capita.

BONDS ROLL ONWARD IN VALUES RECOVERY

Nine-tenths of Point Gains Accomplished in Steady, Satisfactory Trading.

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Bonds took a whirl with the fast-moving stock market today when a flood of last-minute buying orders resulted in one of the most active sessions since last April.

All categories participated in the upturn, with the rails and utilities running neck and neck for the leadership. Sales totaled $14,698,000 and the average for 60 corporate loans advanced nine-tenths of a point.

There were no auspicious news developments which might have affected senior securities and some dealers attributed the day's spurt partly to speculative elements.

Among the rails the day's heaviest trading took place in Nickel Plate 6s, which jumped 3½ point. Gains of 1 to 4 or more points were also recorded by issues of Santa Fe, Baltimore & Ohio, Boston & Maine, Central of Georgia, Chesapeake Corporation, Chesapeake & Ohio, St. Paul, Chicago & Northwestern, Rock Island, Colorado & Southern, Delaware & Hudson, Erie, Great Northern, Illinois Central, Louisville & Arkansas, M.-K.-T., Missouri Pacific, New York Central, New Haven, Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Southern, Union Pacific and Wabash.

A shipment of $23,100 from Mexico brought the day's imports up to $1,025,200. There were no exports and no change in earmark account. The International Acceptance Bank, Inc., as agent for the Bank of Manhattan Trust Co., announced that it was receiving $1,500,000 in gold bars from London.

KELVINATOR INCOME DROPS TO $730,002

June Quarter's Earnings Regarded as Indication of Improvement.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Net earnings of Kelvinator Corporation for the quarter ended June 30, were $730,002 after all charges, including Federal income tax, it was announced yesterday by President George W. Mason of the corporation. This compares with $1,620,632 for the corresponding period of 1931. As of June 30, the corporation has net current assets of $6,287,287, of which $1,791,115 is in cash and United States Government securities.

In commenting on conditions in general, Mr. Mason states, "The fact that Kelvinator showed substantial net earnings for its June quarter in face of existing adverse conditions is a gratifying indication of the present position as well as the future of the industry.

"Kelvinator's unit shipments for the quarter just ended were 20 per cent higher than for the corresponding period of 1931. This indicates the increasing public demand for electric refrigeration in general and Kelvinator products in particular. These figures also point to the fact that any improvement whatever in general business conditions will be reflected in an immediately increased demand for electric refrigerators.

"Having charged off substantial inventory losses due to price reductions and having effected substantial operating economies, Kelvinator is in a position to take full advantage of any improvement in conditions."

That 75,000 persons could be restored to employment in the scrap iron and steel industry if bank credits needed by the industry, estimated at $15,000,000, could be made available immediately, was the statement made by Benjamin Schwartz, director general of the Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel.

CEE TEE SCORES SECOND VICTORY IN ROW AT HAWTHORNE

Dixiana Star Is Victor By Neck

Annimessic Finishes Third; Mowris Disappoints.

HAWTHORNE RACE TRACK, Chicago, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—The Dixiana Stable's Cee Tee scored a neck victory over Impish today in the Hinsdale Purse to account for a second straight win at Hawthorne.

Mowris, J. H. Manheimer's candidate for the Illinois Owners' Handicap, which will be run Saturday, cut out the early pace, but faded badly and was out of the money. Jockey R. Tilden got Cee Tee out in front going into the stretch, but had to apply the bat to withstand a great challenge by Impish.

Annimessic made a gallant try in the stretch, but started too late and just managed to save third money. Cee Tee ran the mile and a sixteenth in 1:47, and paid $8.36 to win. Abraham Bartelstein's Kibitzer was badly cut down during the early running and was forced to pull up.

Grand Time Cops Feature at Saratoga.

Saratoga Race Track, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—The Saratoga Sales Stakes, a dash of 5 and one-half furlongs for 2-year olds, which were sold at public auction here a year ago, resulted in a handy triumph for William Ziegler, jr.'s colt, Grand Time. The son of High Time, running back to his good second to Happy Gal in the Flash Stakes, registered by a half length over J. J. Robinson's Little Lad. W. H. Lipscomb's Hibora and the Brookmeade Stable's Okapi brought up the rear, well beaten.

Grand Time, favorite at 7 to 5, completed the distance over a muddy track in 1:08 2-5 to collect $3,375 and a $500 cup donated by the sales company which sold the winner.

Tony Pascuma, who rode Little Lad, was in the stand after the race, but the stewards did not consider the slight interference apparently caused by the winner sufficient to justify a disqualification.

Grand Time went right to the front and Little Lad, on the inside, kept within a half length of the pacemaker all the way, while the other two contestants dropped back after 3 furlongs. Elston had Grand Time under control through the final furlong and Little Lad could not seriously menace the favorite.

JOE AND ASBESTOS

(Watch Sunday's Post for New Secret Code)

—By Ken Kling

Asbestos is still dodging stand-out horses and is trying for long shots. One 20-to-1 shot is worth 20 even money winners. The roll sank to $47.38 yesterday.

AT THE POST

DEAR AL: HAWTHORNE RACE TRACK, CHICAGO, AUG. 8.

Don Romiro, Miss Melody and Cee Tee stepped down for me here today, while I was well represented by money horses at good prices. Both of Mike's Saratoga specials were scratched when the course turned muddy. He's right on the job, however, with another pair for tomorrow. Here they are: Scuttle, Tinema.

I've heard some talk that Flo O'Neill will be a good thing at Fort Erie tomorrow. Worth an across the board shot. BILL.

FIRST RACE—LILLIAN Z is a smart miss and I am taking her to beat MINTOGEE in this dash for 2-year-olds. DUPEE gets the No. 1 post and may break into the money from there.

SECOND RACE—ERVAST is the class of this gang, I do believe. Shares top weight with some of the others, but I see him turning the trick. SARAZEN II looks like the place horse ahead of GUNFIRE.

THIRD RACE—LUCILLE K is my choice to defeat these. Has the speed and has worked well. STROLL ALONG may surprise by getting in the money. The show end to VOLWOOD.

FOURTH RACE—HATTERAS may be the medium of an upset here. Has been racing well and if let go today is likely to grab the big dough. LAFERIA'S last was a beaut. SUNEROS for the third cash.

FIFTH RACE—YONKEL, SEVEN VEILS and LASALLE to battle it out for this purse. REHOBOTH is unreliable, but could defeat the others with a best effort.

SIXTH RACE—INHERITOR has beaten better than these. GABBO has gone back, but may be second ahead of CULLODEN.

SEVENTH RACE—SUITOR was defeated by a nose the last time, but the veteran appears to be at tops and may stick it out today. SPUD for the place and QUIBBLER to show.

EIGHTH RACE—OUTER HARBOR is my 20-1 special in the final. MODERN TIMES to place ahead of SOUTHLAND BELLE.

SPEER FACES NEW FOE TONIGHT

Manich to Substitute for Kwariani on Bolling Card.

THE long arm of Uncle Sam's Immigration Service has tapped the burly shoulders of Kole Kwariani, and in the Russian's place tonight at Bolling Field there will appear George Manich, who will meet Frank Spear in the feature presentation on a card of five exhibitions.

The substitution probably will pep the card up a bit, and insert a much-needed old face into a card of strangers. Manich is quite an institution around local wrestling precincts. He was built up into a Londos match last winter on Joe Turner's circuit and apparently is a good journeyman rassler.

Otherwise the bill remains the same, starting at 8:30 o'clock with women free if accompanied by escorts. The rest of the matches are Tony Rocco vs. Jack McArthur; Charley Hanson vs. Ivan Zirkoff; Mike Mazurki vs. Mihaly Orgavany, and Tiger Paula vs. the Masked Marvel.

Roccohas Wrestled Londos to Draw.

Rocco is the most interesting of the newcomers on the bill. Records substantiate his claims of victories over Wladek Zbyszko, Dan Koloff, Jim McMillen and a draw with Jim Londos, all achieved back in the dusty history of the mat.

The final round of Joe Turner's so-called mat-ch play tournament for the right to meet Jim Londos some time, will be rassled out Thursday night at the stadium. The match is between Jim McMillen and Gino Garibaldi, whose reputations are so secure that even the wrestling wisies are wondering which will be picked.

Other bouts on the Turner bill are Rudy Dusek vs. Frank Brunoficz; Fred Grobmeier vs. Lou Plummer; Herman Hickman vs. Johnnie Maxos and Pat O'Shocker vs. Chief Whitefeather.

Stocks Take Higher Ground In 5,544,380-Share Sales

Largest Turnover Recorded Since October, 1930, in Buoyant Trading.

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Financial markets refused to swerve from recently charted courses today; rather, they set additional sail, catching a wind that at times approached gale proportions.

Stocks, far from intimidated by last week's record, stormed upward in a turnover of 5,544,380 shares, the largest since October, 1930, when the market was taking the opposite direction.

Shares closed well under their highs, but net gains of many leaders ranged from 1 to 6 points. At the best they were up roughly 2 to 8, with strength once more well distributed, although motors, utilities and rails showed prominently. Cotton fell back from its top, holding more than $4 a bale of its extreme rise.

Realizing sales surged through the stock list at intervals, but not until the last hour did they cut much of a dent. Then American Telephone dropped from 114⅜ to a closing of 110¼, making the net gain 2¼. Union Pacific more than halved a 7-point advance. Santa Fe, which had been up 8, closed 6½ to the good. U. S. Steel touched 44⅜, or about 3 points up, and cut its gain to a fraction.

Wall street heard much and made much of prospective plans to aid commodities through organized efforts to expand purchases and to remove from the markets surplus stocks which have threatened prices. The latest move in this direction, it was reported, would be to help cotton, and the market's bullish interpretation of such a proposal became quickly apparent at the opening.

That the sweeping price advances had caught the public imagination seemed hardly open to dispute, and the market's strongest talking point was undoubtedly its own action. Skeptics among professional and other traders, it was reported, have been fighting the rise, although its momentum to date has been sufficient to bowl over such opposition.

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

What the Stock Market Did

	Mon.	Sat.
Numer of advances	562	470
Number of declines	140	76
Stocks unchanged	103	111
Total shares traded	805	657

Stocks.

Advances rolled up 2 to 8 points, which were trimmed about one-half by profit-taking. The market at times took on near-boom aspects. The turnover of 5,544,380 shares was the largest since October, 1930.

Bonds.

Prices continued the upward trend, as trading caught the spirit of fast-moving stocks. The average gain was nine-tenths of a point. Sales totaled $14,698,000.

Curb.

The determined march to higher ground was maintained in a record sale of 460,000 shares. Prices weathered profit taking in the drive.

Wheat.

Values advanced nearly 2 cents on the buoyancy in other markets. The report of shortage in grain supplies also contributed to the rise.

Cotton.

Heavy general buying sent prices $5 per bale higher. The average net rise ran 86 to 87 points. The record advance was caused by the Government crop report.

LONDON—The outstanding feature on the stock exchange was the continued decline in leading British securities on persistent selling attributed to broadening interes in other directions. Favorite international issues were higher on Wall street and Argentine rails were strong.

PARIS—The bourse maintained a firm tone apart from irregularity in French rentes. All sections rose moderately with Royal Dutch shares gaining 100 points. International issues were strong and the close was firm.

CURB PUSHES HIGHER IN RECORD '32 SALE

460,000 - Share Turnover Defies Profit Taking; Industrials Mixed.

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Continuing where it left off on Saturday the curb market today staged another vigorous uprush, which was checked somewhat in the late trading by heavy profit taking. The day's transactions totaled 460,000 shares, the largest volume this year.

In the utilities late realizing slowed down the forward movement. Electric Bond & Share issues closed at small net declines and a few other favorites in this group were on the minus side. Utah Power & Light preferred and a host of other senior utility issues continued their upswing with undiminished vigor.

Industrial specialties were mixed, though several showed notable strength on top of their sharp gains of the past week.

The telephone division was buoyant with Bell of Canada 3 points higher and New York Telephone more than a point to the good. Swift International was the outstanding feature of the food shares, rising about 2 points.

Efforts were made near the close to bring the oils into line, and some success was achieved in Standard of Indiana and Gulf, each of which picked up a point or so.

Per Capita Cash Circulation Increased in July to $45.85

(Associated Press.)

Money in circulation on July 31 amounted to $5,726,394,202, equivalent to $45.85 for every man, woman and child in continental United States.

In making this announcement the Treasury yesterday said a total gain of $31,303,880, or 22 cents for each person, was shown over the previous month. It also was an advance of $889,309,890, or $6.88 for each person, as compared with the corresponding date of last year.

The circulation peak was reached on October 31, 1920, when the total was $5,698,214,612, or $53.21 per capita.

BONDS ROLL ONWARD IN VALUES RECOVERY

Nine-tenths of Point Gains Accomplished in Steady, Satisfactory Trading.

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Bonds took a whirl with the fast-moving stock market today when a flood of last-minute buying orders resulted in one of the most active sessions since last April.

All categories participated in the upturn, with the rails and utilities running neck and neck for the leadership. Sales totaled $14,698,000 and the average for 60 corporate loans advanced nine-tenths of a point.

There were no auspicious news developments which might have affected senior securities and some dealers attributed the day's spurt partly to speculative elements.

Among the rails the day's heaviest trading took place in Nickel Plate 6s, which jumped 3½ point. Gains of 1 to 4 or more points were also recorded by issues of Santa Fe, Baltimore & Ohio, Boston & Maine, Central of Georgia, Chesapeake Corporation, Chesapeake & Ohio, St. Paul, Chicago & Northwestern, Rock Island, Colorado & Southern, Delaware & Hudson, Erie, Great Northern, Illinois Central, Louisville & Arkansas, M.-K.-T., Missouri Pacific, New York Central, New Haven, Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Southern, Union Pacific and Wabash.

A shipment of $23,100 from Mexico brought the day's imports up to $1,025,300. There were no exports and no change in earmark account. The International Acceptance Bank, Inc., as agent for the Bank of Manhattan Trust Co., announced that it was receiving $1,500,000 in gold bars from London.

KELVINATOR INCOME DROPS TO $730,002

June Quarter's Earnings Regarded as Indication of Improvement.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Net earnings of Kelvinator Corporation for the quarter ended June 30, were $730,002 after all charges, including Federal income tax, it was announced yesterday by President George W. Mason of the corporation. This compares with $1,620,632 for the corresponding period of 1931. As of June 30, the corporation has net current assets of $6,287,287, of which $1,791,115 is in cash and United States Government securities.

In commenting on conditions in general, Mr. Mason states, "The fact that Kelvinator showed substantial net earnings for its June quarter in face of existing adverse conditions is a gratifying indication of the present position as well as the future of the industry.

"Kelvinator's unit shipments for the quarter just ended were 20 per cent higher than for the corresponding period of 1931. This indicates the increasing public demand for electric refrigeration in general and Kelvinator products in particular. These figures also point to the fact that any improvement whatever in general business conditions will be reflected in an immediately increased demand for electric refrigerators.

"Having charged off substantial inventory losses due to price reductions and having effected substantial operating economies, Kelvinator is in a position to take full advantage of any improvement in conditions."

That 75,000 persons could be restored to employment in the scrap iron and steel industry if bank credits needed by the industry, estimated at $15,000,000, could be made available immediately, was the statement made by Benjamin Schwartz, director general of the Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel.

WHEAT VALUES SOAR ON STOCKS' ADVANCE

Nearly 2 Cents Per Bushel Added; Corn and Oats Join Upswing.

Chicago, August 8 (A.P.).—Wheat values went skyward by leaps and bounds today in the largest speculative purchase movement witnessed in months.

Jumps of wheat prices accompanied sensational advances of stocks and cotton, and were in spite of mammoth selling to realize profits. Special impetus for the soaring of wheat came from announcements that breadstuff supplies on ocean passage had been reduced to less than one month's necessities for Europe, and that the United States wheat visible supply was 50,000,000 bushels below the total a year ago.

Wheat closed strong at the day's zenith, 1⅜ to 1⅞ above Saturday's finish; corn, ¾ to ⅞ up; oats, ¼ to ½ advanced, and provisions showing a rise of 12 to 25 cents.

At first, wheat resisted the effects of stock market buoyancy, and was dominated by heavy realizing sales. When wheat, however, had fallen one cent a bushel, greatly expanded buying force developed in almost a twinkling, and prices made a quick vertical rise of 2½ cents, with only transient subsequent reactions.

Public participation in the wheat market made grain trade developments a subordinate influence, the fact being very apparent that general speculative demand was broadening to a surprising degree.

Corn and oats reflected wheat strength.

Provisions responded to hog market upturns.

Butter and Egg Futures Rise to New High Levels

Chicago, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Butter and egg futures again soared on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange today, prices for the third consecutive trading session shot to new highs for the year. November butter reached 21⅝ cents, August, 21 cents, and October eggs 19¼. Closing prices of butter were up ¼ to ⅜ cents and eggs were up ½ cent.

Total sales were Butter, 3,456,000 pounds; eggs, 4,260,000 dozen. A block of 66 cars of eggs changed hands in one sale, the largest single block in recent years. This represented a total of 790,000 dozen with a value of $160,000.

General Motors Sales Drop to 36,872 Cars

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—A considerable drop in sales of the General Motors Corporation for July was announced today.

Sales to dealers for the month, including those of Canada and overseas, totaled 36,872 units, against 52,561 in June and 87,449 in July, last year.

24 SHARES FRAMED AS TRADING PAWNS

Stock, Valued at $2,596 in 1929, Bought in June for $96.

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—A prominent banker—a student of charts, trends and indices—has captured the depression, framed and photographed it, and hung it on the walls of his office as an "historical lesson in the depreciation of values."

On June 7 the banker sat at his desk and watched stock prices dribble from the ticker. To his analytical mind it looked as though they were scraping bottom. The idea for an experiment occurred to him. He called in his secretary.

"Go out and buy me one share of stock in each of 24 corporations whose issues are listed on the New York Stock Exchange and are quoted under $10 a share," he directed. "Don't try to select these shares on the basis of earnings, book values or current assets. Just pick out the ones that have been most active in the past two or three years."

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—The long lane of decreases in the United States Steel Corporation's backlog did not turn in July, according to Wall street estimates of the unfilled tonnage statement due Wednesday. Notwithstanding a further reduction in mill operations, it is expected the figures for July 31 will show another drop, which would mean another new low record in the corporation's history.

World cocoa consumption will exceed production by 30,000 tons in the year to October 31, 1932, according to an estimate by Czarnikow, Witkin & Co., members of the New York Cocoa Exchange. Total production is put at 489,000 tons, compared with 806,841 tons a year ago, with consumption at 520,000 tons, against 551,304 tons last year.

Reports in the steel trade indicate slightly more activity in some sections of the Youngstown district. The Carnegie Steel Co. has resumed operations at its Ohio works plant after a two weeks' shutdown.

A New York Cocoa Exchange seat sold today at $1,800, an increase of $100 over the previous sale.

A New York and Chicago banking syndicate will offer tomorrow $20,000,000 of Peoples Gas Light & Coke Co. first and refunding mortgage 6 per cent gold bonds. While the bonds are priced at 97 to yield about 6.24 per cent, some bids of 99 were reported by dealers today.

A protective committee has been formed to represent the holders of consolidated mortgage 4½ per cent bonds of the Altoona & Logan Valley Electric Railway Co., following the company's announcement of inability to meet the interest payment due August 15 next. The committee is headed by J. C. Neff, vice president of the Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Co.

Sinclair Company Bid For Richfield Oil Taken

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Harry F. Sinclair, chairman of the executive committee of the Consolidated Oil Corporation, returned today from the Pacific Coast, where he entered a bid in behalf of his company for the Richfield Oil Co.

Mr. Sinclair said representatives of the Richfield company's creditors had accepted the Consolidated Oil Corporation's offer of $23,000,000 cash and securities. He denied a rumor that in assenting the creditors had stipulated that they still be privileged to receive further bids from other companies.

LOCOMOTIVE LOSSES CLIMB TO $1,971,833

Unfilled Orders Are Less Than Last Year; Plane Profits Increase.

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—American Locomotive Co. reports net loss of $1,971,833 in the first half year against loss of $817,476 in the same 1931 period.

Unfilled orders on July 1 totaled $2,145,513, composed almost entirely of locomotive spare parts and special products of subsidiary companies. This compares with $4,621,456 on January 1.

William H. Woodin, chairman, said the company shipped only 23 new locomotives during the half year, all of which were carried over as unfilled orders at the beginning of the period, while it received an order for but one new engine.

"Never in the history of the company," he asserted, "has volume of sales been so low, this situation being the sequence of the terrific loss of traffic suffered by the railroads and their financial position."

Copper Continues Advance.

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Copper joined other commodities in registering further improvement in prices today. The trade heard that some fair-sized tonnages were sold in the domestic market at 5½ cents a pound, an advance of one-eighth of a cent over the previous level.

COTTON IS $5 HIGHER ON GENERAL BUYING

December Sells 104 Points Up, at 7.20; Liverpool Reports Covering.

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Heavy buying, promoted by smaller Government crop figures than expected and continued optimism over the business outlook, brought about an advance of over $5 a bale in cotton today.

December contracts sold up to 7.38, or 104 points above the Saturday close, and 208 points, or $10.40 a bale, above the June low, and closed at 7.20. The general market closed at net gains of 36 to 87 points.

The opening was 21 to 25 points, and after some early irregularity on Southern selling and realizing active months sold about 30 points above Saturday's closing figures before trading was suspended for the Government crop report. The strong stock market was also an influence.

Buying was more active after publication of the Government report, with the advance extending to 7.22 for October and 7.60 for March, or 102 to 106 points net higher during the early afternoon.

Today's fluctuations were the widest since August 10, 1931, when the market broke 120 to 136 points on a bearish Government report. Today's Government report, placing the condition of the crop at 56.6 and the indicated yield at 11,306,000 bales was more than 800,000 bales below the average of the recent private reports and more than 1,000,000 bales below the estimated world's consumption of American line cotton for the season just ended.

Liverpool cables reported covering and Bombay buying in the market, and said the demand for cotton cloths in Manchester was well sustained. Exports today, 14,840, making 92,537 so far this season.

NEW YORK.

RAW SUGAR was unchanged early today. No sales were reported and buyers seemed unwilling to raise their recent bid price of 3.00 for sugars in nearby positions, while holders continued firm in their ideas and were asking 3.10.

There was no change in the refined situation, withdrawals continuing to liberal proportions, while new business was light and supplied through second hands. Prices were quoted at 4.10 to 4.15 for fine granulated by refiners, with resales available at around 4.00.

Wright Temporary Chairman.

The convention was opened by County Chairman E. J. Spaulding, who called for the election of a temporary chairman. Judge W. W. Wright was elected.

Concluding the reports of the several committees, the permanent organization was effected with the election of Herbert H. Porter as chairman, a total of 144 delegates in attendance.

The convention unanimously adopted the following resolutions:

"That the Republican party in Arlington County is unalterably opposed to all acts of the Democratic party in their attempt to establish a centralization of power at Richmond.

"That the party pledges its wholehearted support at the coming election in November to Herbert Hoover and Charles Curtis.

"That the delegates to the district convention to be held at the Washington-Lee High School August 22 shall go instructed to cast the entire vote of the 36 delegates for Clarence R. Ahalt for the office of district chairman for the Eighth Congressional District.

"That the delegates cast their entire vote at district convention for John J. Clarkson as a member of the district committee."

School Drainage Survey Is Ordered by Hyattsville

A survey of drainage conditions around the Hyattsville High School was ordered last night by the town council.

A. H. Duvall appeared before the council to ask for a permit to hold a Socialist meeting on the Howard property and was told no permit was necessary.

Andrews Confers On Trial of Ball

Auditor to Remain in Arlington County Until Opening of Case Monday.

T. Coleman Andrews, State auditor for Virginia, was in Arlington County yesterday to confer with Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence W. Douglas in final preparation of the case of former County Treasurer E. Wade Ball, who goes on trial before Judge Walter T. McCarthy in the circuit court next Monday on charges of grand larceny of public funds. The alleged shortage in the accounts of Ball totaled, according to the report of the auditor, $564,405.40.

Mr. Andrews said he will remain in the county and will attend the opening of the trial.

Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence W. Douglas said everything is ready to proceed. Sheriff Howard B. Fields is now summoning 100 persons as jurors. Collins Denny, jr., assistant attorney general of the State, will arrive in the county Sunday and will assist Douglas.

Alexandria Greets Fireman Vanguard

Harrisonburg and Clifton Forge Companies Reach City for Convention.

Two fire companies arrived in Alexandria, Va., yesterday to attend the forty-sixth annual convention of the Virginia State Firemen's Association. They were Harrisonburg Company No. 4, with 40 men, and Clifton Forge, with 25 men. These companies are camped on the Alexandria High School grounds. In addition a number of visiting firemen registered yesterday, the first being W. C. Bohiken, of Wythe District, Hampton.

Battalion Chief Thomas O'Connor and Sergt. A. J. Bargagni, of the Washington Fire Department, were in Alexandria yesterday to confer with Fire Chief James M. Duncan, jr., on participation of the Washington Fire Department in the parade Friday afternoon. Chief George S. Watson, of the Washington Department, will be chief marshal of the parade, which will start at 2 o'clock and be followed by a barbecue on the high school grounds.

At 7:30 tonight the U. S. Navy Band will give a concert in South Washington street, and Wednesday night at the same hour a concert will be given by the U. S. Army Band, which will be followed by a block dance.

MONTGOMERY HITS TAX BOOST REPORT

Officials Deny 25-Cent Increase Announced by State Commission.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 8103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

Montgomery County officials last night issued a denial of published reports purporting to be statements of the State tax commission which held Montgomery County's tax rate to be the highest in the State. County officials also denied that there had been any increase in the tax rate, as stated in the report.

The report showed an increase of 25 cents over the tax rate of the previous year for each of the thirteen election districts of the county, and just for good measure added a fourteenth election district which does not exist. The report apparently has added the State tax rate of 25 cents to the county tax rate to obtain the figures, according to Lacy Shaw, president of the board of county commissioners.

Commissioner Shaw stated that in the first place it was not fair to add district tax rates to the county tax rate, since these are the equivalent of town tax rates and are not county rates at all.

"The county tax rate is $1.30 per $100 of assessed property value, Mr. Shaw said, "and all the juggling of figures possible can not change that fact. This is one of the lowest county tax rates in the State."

Henry Pugh, Bethesda taxicab driver, who was arrested last week on charges of attempting a criminal assault on a 14-year-old girl, yesterday pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and was sentenced to serve nine months in the Maryland House of Correction by Judge Charles W. Woodward in county police court at Rockville.

Austin Brown, of Bethesda, who was arrested July 20 on a charge of assaulting his wife, Mrs. Rose Brown, also of Bethesda, yesterday was sentenced to serve four months in jail. He appealed the decision to the Circuit Court and was released on bond of $100.

Warned that their quarry was a "bad actor, who once before had shot his way to freedom," Sergt. Leroy Rodgers and Policeman James S. McAuliffe, of the Bethesda substation, county police, yesterday arrested Lawrence Wallace, alias Chicken Little, alias Chick Wallace, colored, without any trouble. Wallace is wanted by police of Ellicott City on a year-old charge of assault with intent to kill.

Man Sentenced to Jail For Boulevard Racing

Convicted of racing with another automobile on the Baltimore boulevard, when tried in Laurel Police Court yesterday, John Vessell, of Baltimore, was sentenced to serve fifteen days in default of a fine of $25. Vessell was also fined $25 for exceeding 40 miles per hour, and given another fifteen-day sentence when he was unable to pay the second fine.

VIRGINIA ELKS OPEN STATE CONVENTION

114 Delegates Representing 14 Lodges Attend Sessions at Alexandria.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU, 907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va. Phone Alexandria 523.

The opening session of the twenty-third annual convention of the Virginia State Elks' Association was held in Alexandria yesterday, with 114 delegates, representing fourteen lodges of the State, in attendance. Others are expected for the final session today.

Representative Howard W. Smith, of Alexandria, delivered a welcoming address. Invocation was by the Rev. L. L. Bowers, State chaplain, and a response to the welcoming address was made by J. W. Morrison, of Harrisonburg, State president.

Reports submitted by representatives of the various lodges indicated approximately $35,000 was expended last year on State and community welfare work, the largest amount ever spent for these purposes in a single year. The State body also spent about $3,300 in caring for seven cases of tuberculosis at the Blue Ridge Sanitarium, Chairman Morris L. Masinter, of Roanoke, reported.

President Morrison announced the appointment of the following committees:

Resolutions: Roland Cock, of Hampton, chairman; W. P. Stewart, Portsmouth; Walter P. Shaner, of Lynchburg, and L. G. Muse, of Roanoke.

Auditing: William J. Walsh, Norfolk; Walter Paul, Clifton Forge, and R. J. Webster, Harrisonburg.

The night program included a ritualistic contest in the local lodge room, in which the participating lodges were Hampton, No. 386; Harrisonburg, No. 450; Norfolk, No. 36, and Roanoke, No. 197.

Business sessions will be resumed at 10 o'clock today, followed by the annual election of officers and the selection of a city for the next convention.

FIREMEN MAP PLANS FOR BOWIE SESSIONS

Prince Georges Volunteers Arrange Program for Saturday.

The program for the annual convention of the Prince Georges County Volunteer Firemen's Association at Bowie, Saturday, has been arranged, Noah Joffe, in charge of the program, said yesterday.

The business session of the association will be held in the Odd Fellows' Hall, while the ladies' auxiliary will meet in the auditorium of the school. A discussion of the future relations between the rescue squad and the county fire department is the most important topic on the program.

At 2:20 the companies will parade through the town. A cup will be given by the Bowie company to the best appearing department. At 3:30 the pumper contests will begin. Fire companies from out of the county will compete for the Cranford Memorial Cup, while the local units will try for cups given by The Post and the Bowie department. The Evening Star has offered a cup to the winning rescue squad unit.

The elections will be held at 7 o'clock, after a dinner to be served in the Odd Fellows' Hall. W. R. Beattie, of Bladensburg; William J. Tierney, of Greater Capitol Heights, and Mr. Joffe, of Bowie, are candidates for the presidency. A dance will conclude the program.

PRAISE FOR HOOVER RIOT STAND GROWS

Directors of Board of Trade and Police Laud His Firm Action.

Formal expression of praise of President Hoover, the District Commissioners and the Washington Police Department for the manner in which the Bonus Expeditionary Force was evicted was given by the board of directors of the Washington Board of Trade yesterday and in speeches by police and other officials at a dinner meeting last night of the public order committee of the organization.

Other developments in the aftermath of the bonus army eviction included grand jury questioning of riot witnesses and a repudiation of the leadership of Walter W. Waters by the executive committee of the Bonus Expeditionary Force, who made plans for a national home for the veterans "deserted" by Waters.

Inspector Ernest W. Brown, assistant superintendent of police, speaking at the dinner, declared that the summoning of the Army was the only possible resort. President Hoover, he said, acted wisely in taking this step as the police department was powerless to take any further step. Inspector Brown said that the situation was the most serious in his 36 years on the local police force.

Communists Are Blamed.

Joseph A. Burkart, Washington lawyer, recommended that future large groups of petitioners who show indications of trying to intimidate Congress should be escorted from the city 30 minutes after presenting their petition. He said this should have been done in the case of the bonus marchers. A mistake was made, he asserted, in encouraging them to stay here.

"There is nothing in the Constitution of the United States that gives citizens the right to be fed and housed by the District of Columbia," he said. "The Indians didn't get better treatment at the hands of the Federal Government than these men."

Both Mr. Burkart and Inspector Brown blamed the agitation on a communistic element.

Brief talks on the bonus eviction were made by Inspector Frank S. W. Burke, of the police department; Sheriff Fields, of Arlington County; John Petty, clerk of circuit court, Arlington County; Maj. Clark, Assistant Engineer Commissioner; Claude Owen, and Odell S. Smith, chairman of the committee. Jules A. Rodier, for 30 years a member of the office force of the White House, also spoke. The meeting was held at the Washington Golf and Country Club.

Lengthy Resolution.

The board of directors of the Board of Trade extended their praise to the heads of the Federal and District governments in the form of a lengthy resolution in which stress was laid on the manner in which the troops handled the eviction.

The resolutions called the invasion of the B. E. F. a serious menace to the community, and the resulting situation one beyond the control of civil authorities. The fact that the force contained many imported Communistic agitators and men of criminal records prompted a series of trying and serious problems, it was stated.

The directors pointed out they were not attempting to pass on the merits or demerits of the cause of the men, but opined such invasions of the community result in alienation of sympathy and hardship to the participants.

"Refusal of the men to heed peaceable requests," it was stated, "and the use by them of violent and physical force, left no other recourse than that taken by the President."

Business Men Called.

Members of business firms working in the vicinity of Third street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, were called before the District grand jury yesterday in that body's fourth day of investigation of the riots.

Besides the men who worked amidst the B. E. F. and were qualified to tell of their tempers, United States Attorney Leo A. Rover and Nugent Dodds, Assistant Attorney General, called upon Brig. Gen. Perry L. Miles, commander of the Sixteenth Infantry Brigade, and his aid, Lieut. John B. Sherman, who were in actual control of the military forces that routed the bonus marchers.

Allison Crump, 1323 Longfellow street northwest, was one of the civilians who testified. Crump, employed by a gasoline filling station, was in the midst of the bonus marchers when they were being evicted. Richard F. Wainright, William Raulin, Henry Fife, Ray S. Dunn and L. M. Cornwell, all of whom were eyewitnesses to the routing of the marchers, were called upon to testify.

Grand Jury Recesses.

Following the adjournment of the grand jury shortly after noon, Mr. Rover announced that no definite date had been set for further hearings on the riots. The intermission is being held so that Government agents, who are busily engaged in rounding up evidence, can gather together their loose strings.

Repudiating the leadership of Walter W. Waters, the executive committee of the Bonus Expeditionary Forces met yesterday at its headquarters at 1114 Eighth street southeast and made plans for a national home for the veterans "deserted" by Waters.

The committee, which was elected by the various units of the bonus army on June 7, named E. J. Heaney as its temporary head. He announced the program of the organization.

Riot Call Unneeded In Auto Rum Catch

Police Car Mobilization Caused by Excitable Citizen in Street.

An excited citizen turned in a riot call late yesterday afternoon after Privates H. C. Johnson and W. S. Rinker in the Third Precinct radio car had stopped an alleged liquor car at Massachusetts avenue and I streets northwest.

Three extra radio cars arrived to find that they were not needed and the situation well in hand, and 24 half-gallons of whisky was confiscated, according to police.

After chasing a suspicious-looking car for several blocks the police car drew abreast and the policemen saw the liquor inside, they said. The driver escaped on foot after being forced to the curb.

New Aids at White House Messmates Since Annapolis

Underwood & Underwood.

The three latest White House naval aids have been close friends since their Naval Academy days. Left to right, Lieuts. Harold C. Pound, Charles S. Weeks and Donald R. Tallman.

Weeks, Pound and Tallman Have Long Served and Played Together.

Three young naval lieutenants, who have served together and played together since their days as midshipmen at Annapolis, are the latest White House naval aids. Their appointment was announced yesterday by the Navy Department.

The new aids are Donald R. Tallman, attached to the information section of the Navy Department; Harold C. Pound and Charles S. Weeks, both attached to the office of naval communications. Their new duties of squiring fair guests at the White House will be undertaken in addition to those at the Navy Department.

All three served recently with the Asiatic fleet before their transfer to the Navy Department, and all live near each other on Connecticut avenue. Lieut. Tallman makes his Washington home at 3900, and Lieuts. Pond and Weeks at the Kennedy-Warren Apartments.

All three are natives of the Middle West. Tallman was born at Hillsdale, Mich.; Pound, at Hutchinson, Kans., and Weeks at Fort Crook, Nebr. The last named is the son of Col. Charles W. Weeks, U. S. A.

MALONE WILL LEAD K. OF C. PROCESSION

Details Fixed for Parade When Gibbons' Statue Is Unveiled Sunday.

Maj. Gen. Paul B. Malone, commander of the Third Corps Area, will head the parade next Sunday, when a memorial statue of the late James Cardinal Gibbons is unveiled in front of the Shrine of the Sacred Heart in Church on Sixteenth street.

This announcement was made last night following a meeting of the parade committee of the Knights of Columbus in the Mayflower Hotel. Col. John J. Phelan, chairman of the committee, said the Marine Band would be in the line of march, as well as the Army and Navy bands.

At least 20,000 persons will take part in the parade, it was declared.

Visiting members of the order are requested to meet at Sixteenth street and Florida avenue, the forming point of the parade.

Assistant marshals include William A. Kehoe, Albert J. Sardo, Capt. Joseph V. Bryne, Thomas J. Fitzgerald, Lieut. J. R. Koch, Harry Nelligan, Warren Atchison, Leo Codd and Edmund O'Sullivan.

Fire Causes $4,000 Damage to 3 Houses

Fire of undetermined origin yesterday caused $4,000 damage to three frame houses in the 3200 block of Ely place southeast.

The home of John Fork, which was unoccupied, was destroyed at a loss of $1,000. Damage to the home of Carl H. Shirly was placed at $500. Shirly and his family escaped without injury. The home of Ezra A. Snyder also was destroyed with all his furniture. No one was injured.

$35 Stolen From Service Station.

A gasoline service station at 1801 Fourteenth street northwest, was entered Sunday night and $35 in cash stolen. Entrance was gained by use of a duplicate key.

MARVIN TO ADDRESS FRATERNAL SESSION

Delegates of 85 National Benefit Groups Open Convention Today.

In accordance with the Bicentennial emphasis of the National Fraternal Congress, Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president of George Washington University and chairman of the District Bicentennial Commission, will make the opening address at today's session at the Mayflower Hotel.

Delegates to the congress are the officers of 85 leading fraternal benefit societies in the United States and Canada. Yesterday's sessions were devoted to the meetings of the various sections of the congress at which section officers were named.

New Section Officers.

In the presidents' section, Mrs. Anna R. Downes, of Chicago, was named president; in the secretaries' section, Thomas F. Heaney, of Chicago; in the editors' section, Paul Detzen, of Kansas City, and in the medical section, Dr. William H. Bradley, of Philadelphia.

The Washington newspaper corps was praised for painstaking and expert reporting of all events by Osgood Roberts, former Capital newspaperman, who spoke before the editors section. "This is the most thoroughly covered city in the world," Roberts said, not by the mere presence of numerous reporters but by the practice of skillful reporting that simply does not exist elsewhere.

400 Attend Banquet.

Mrs. Downes is high chief ranger of the Women's National Catholic Order of Foresters, one of the largest societies in the congress.

A feature of today's session will be the address of George R. Allen, president of the congress. Last night's meeting was concluded with a banquet attended by the 400 delegates.

$35 Is Apartment Loot.

The apartment of Alfred F. Helmar, of 704 Second street northwest, was entered Sunday morning by a duplicate key and $37 stolen from behind a chair cushion.

Youth Hurt Seriously In Elevator Shaft Fall

R. Melton, 19, of 1006 Massachusetts avenue northwest, an employe of a department store at Seventh and D streets, received a possible fractured spine when he fell three floors down an elevator shaft at the store yesterday.

Melton was removed to Emergency Hospital, where his condition is said to be serious.

$419 Burglary Reported By Owner of Grocery

Aaron Bialek, proprietor of a grocery store at 439 N street northwest, reported to police yesterday that his store and the living quarters above it were ransacked Sunday night and jewelry and merchandise valued at $419 stolen. Entrance was gained through a rear window on the second floor.

400 More Apply For Relief Fund

Checks Have Been Paid So Far to 145 Registered Applicants.

About 400 more applicants were registered yesterday at the special unemployment relief headquarters at the old Metropolitan Methodist Church, John Marshall place and C street, when it opened for the first time since Friday.

Checks for either a full or a partial week's work have been paid to 145, L. A. Halbert, director of the $350,000 fund, announced yesterday, and more were assigned jobs in the District Government service yesterday.

Some of the applicants have been assigned to assist the special welfare workers while the latter checked on cases at the homes, and several charitable agencies have lent workers to aid the relief staff.

Air Derby Entries Assure Big Race

Men and Women Eager to Compete in Flight to Start From Here.

Inquiries from men and women pilots in all parts of the country concerning the Cord Cup Race, National Sweepstakes Handicap Air Derby, have been received in such large numbers as practically to assure the race being the largest massed competitive flight in the history of aviation, according to word received by C. H. Warrington, president of the Washington Air Derby Association, Inc., from the national air race headquarters in Cleveland, Ohio. The Atlantic wing of the Derby will take off from the Washington-Hoover Airport August 21.

From these communications, Mr. Warrington said, it is learned that nearly every make and size of airplane will be entered in the Derby.

MURDER LAID TO SIX IN PRIVATE'S DEATH

Police Say Five Admit Part in Brutal Mob Attack on Park Policeman.

Six men were charged with murder last night in connection with the fatal beating administered to Park Policeman Milo J. Kennedy in Logan Circle early Sunday. Three others were charged with being accessories and police are still seeking three more men who are supposed to have had a leading part in the gang attack on Kennedy.

Metropolitan police claimed to have confessions from all of the men they charged last night except one. Nineteen had been held in connection with the mob plot, but all were released except the ones charged last night. A coroner's jury will hear the case today at 11:30 o'clock.

Names of Suspects.

Those against whom murder charges were placed are: Joseph Jackson, 20, 1320 Thirteenth street northwest; Irvin Murray, 26, 1509 R street northwest; Ralph Holmes, 25, 1518 Corcoran street northwest; Leroy Robinson, 26, 1623 Thirteenth street northwest; Louie Murray, 25, 1518 Corcoran street northwest, and Harry Duvall, 24, on 1514 Columbia street northwest. All the men are Negroes.

Police said they had taken statements from all the accused men, admitting their parts in the fatal attack on Policeman Kennedy, except Duvall, who denies any part in it.

The attack on Kennedy is said to have been plotted Friday night and the men gathered together a number of bricks and hid them in readiness.

Revolver Is Buried.

Jackson, according to police, admitted throwing the first brick, which brought Kennedy from his car into the park, and Irvin Murray is said to have admitted throwing the brick which knocked the policeman senseless. He also took Kennedy's service revolver and gave it to his brother, Walter, of Hamilton, Va., who is charged with being an accessory after the fact.

Walter Murray is accused of having taken the pistol to his home in Virginia, of filing the serial numbers away, and then burying the weapon.

Leroy Brazier, 19, of 1726 Seventeenth street northwest, and Grafton Baylous, 24, of 1411 Manchester lane northwest, are charged with being accessories to the murder.

RENT INQUIRY GROUP RAPS FEES CHARGED

Senate Committee to Draft Bill Against "Usurious" Realty Commissions.

The Senate District rent investigating subcommittee yesterday directed legislative counsel to frame bills aimed at bringing down the size of commissions charged for real estate loans in the National Capital.

Senator William H. King (Democrat), Utah, presiding in the absence of Chairman Arthur Capper, declared commissions "out of all reason" sometimes are charged in lieu of reasonable interest rates.

The proposed legislation would strike broadly at the practice of "usury" in the District, he said.

Oscar H. Brinkman, local attorney and former clerk of the Senate District committee, yesterday was named counsel-investigator of the rent subcommittee.

Will Conduct Inquiry.

He will conduct a preliminary investigation and report back at a meeting of the subcommittee August 20.

"We don't want any doubt left in the minds of the people that we are going to the bottom of the rent situation," said Senator Royal S. Copeland (Democrat), New York, a member of the subcommittee.

"We are fully determined to get at all the facts. If there are excessive rents here, and we think there are, we are determined to find out about them."

Senator King said "usurious commissions" clearly come within the scope of the subcommittee's investigation, as a contributing factor to high rentals.

Ring to Assist Brinkman.

Mr. Brinkman, who will begin his investigation immediately, assisted by James Ring, clerk of the Senate District committee, "has such authority as the committee possesses," Senator King said.

Data on comparative building charges and living costs in a number of cities, submitted by the Bureau of Labor statistics, were declared "unsatisfactory" by both senators. They will ask the bureau to bring their data up to date and analyze them, with a view to the local situation.

The District Commissioners advised the committee they would make an immediate survey of vacancies, alley dwellings and property assessments.

Building Basement Is Leased as Garage

Transformatoin of the entire available basement of the Woodward Building, eleven-story office structure at the southeast corner of Fifteenth and H streets northwest, into a parking garage was disclosed yesterday in the announcement of its lease for a period of five years from the Woodward Building Corporation to the B. H. C. Co. The company has been operating a parking lot at 1411 New York avenue northwest for the last five weeks. The consideration was not made public.

Officers of the B. H. C. Co. are L. G. Bray, president; Joseph Cranford, vice president and general manager, and Arthur B. Hayes, jr., secretary.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

BALI, that insular land of fascination lying off the coast of Java, where beauty lulls the senses and a native population of 1,000,000 merely tolerates the presence of 100 whites, has been made the subject of an extraordinary film that is to be given its world premiere at Loew's Columbia Theater a week from Friday, August 19. It is called "Isle of Paradise," thus making use of the informal and—so I am told—utterly inadequate descriptive phrase that has been appended to this garden spot by Fitzpatrick, the travelreeler, the makers of "The Blonde Captive" and divers others who have fallen under the magic spell of its enchantment.

The unusual quality of this particular film, however, rests in the novel circumstances of its production. It was made by the youthful Mr. Charles T. Trego, a 27-year-old wanderluster and amateur photographer, with a flair for apprehending the beautiful, who precipitately abandoned the prosaic pursuits of an office worker in New York and launched himself on a personal expedition to the other side of the globe in quest of adventure and a few rare camera shots. He found both in Bali.

So "Isle of Paradise" is the real thing, made by a young man with a keen appreciation of the marvels of a little known island and the courage to assemble them in a picture accurately representative of life as it actually is lived in Bali, rather than as some transient studio director thinks it ought to be lived. He had a tough time getting some of his most important sequences—but he got them. So will you on the 19th!

Mr. Trego, by the way, will be present in person at the Columbia during the premiere presentations of his picture. In fact, he is already in Washington and, in company with Gil Boag, also interested in the local engagement, said hello to the Washington dramatic desks at an informal handshaking bee last night.

Gil Boag, of course, is no stranger to the Capital and its theaters. You will recall him as the former husband of Gilda Gray, queen of the lemon jelly dancers, who major-domoed her personal appearance here at the Rialto Theater some four or five years ago, and, before that, as king of the New York night clubs, when night clubs were night clubs and not clip joints where they will put the slug on you for all you've got unless you turn your pockets wrong side out the minute you sit down! Gil had twelve of Manhattan's smartest night spots not so long ago—and the sound business acumen to get out at the top!

And since this seems to be visitors' day, Madeleine McMahon, recent star of "The Gingham Girl," and also associated with Ona Munson, this season's ingenue in Panjandrum Cochran's National Theater Players, and Eddie Buzzell, the former "Mr. Munson" in "No, No, Nanette," is vacationing in the Capital as guest of her parents in the Broadmoor Apartments.

Then, too, among the entertainers lending their talents to "Cuckoo Week" at the Earle, is another Washington girl, Helen Gorton, the rhythmic drummer with Helen Johns' Glorious Girls' Band, furnishing the background for much of the superlative clowning of Stuart and Lash, the vaudeville bill's principal nuts. Miss Gorton has mastered all the instruments in the band, but is making a name for herself with the percussion instruments—just as Margaret Ogden, of Adrianne and Her Aristocrats, Washington's own girls' band, will be doing one of these days.

Incidentally, both Stuart and Lash and Roy Rogers, in the "Veils" revue at Loew's Fox, are using the same "a guy just got a job" gag, and it's funny in both places. But funnier in whichever one you happen to catch it first.

Have you received your bid to Herbie Hoover's surprise party Thursday night? Please bring sugar!

SPEAKERS OUTLINE 10-DAY CHEST DRIVE

Elwood Street Also Tells of Plans for Laymen's Meeting September 15.

Plans for an extensive campaign, to be held from November 14 to 23, were outlined last night by the Community Chest speakers' unit at Camp Good Will, the Associated Charities summer health resort in Rock Creek Park.

Isadore Hershfield, director of the Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid Society of Washington, was the principal speaker. He stressed the importance of calling to the attention of the people the social work necessary in a city the size of Washington. The character building organizations, Mr. Hirshfield pointed out, consume but a small percentage of the Chest funds.

Plans to launch the greatest mobilization of welfare and relief resources in the history of the nation were outlined by Elwood Street, director of the Chest. He told of the laymen's meeting to be held here September 15, when the national citizens committee, headed by Newton D. Baker, opens its campaign.

Miss Louise O. Beall told of the thousands of families dependent on private organizations for aid and stressed the importance of continuing the work of these agencies.

2 Second Precinct Police Disabled

One Shoots Himself Accidentally; Other Oddly Dislocates Shoulder.

Freakish accidents yesterday reduced the strength of the Second Police Precinct personnel by two. One shot himself in the leg while preparing for weekly inspection and the other dislocated his shoulder when he leaned against a wall at police headquarters.

Private Lewis A. Wherle will be off duty for some time with his bullet wound. He is in Garfield Hospital. Wherle had just entered the squad room and was about to unload his service revolver for the inspection. The weapon discharged and the slug passed through his left thigh.

Private F. J. Haack was on guard outside the room in which nineteen colored men were being questioned at headquarters in connection with the death of Park Policeman Milo J. Kennedy. He eased back against the wall to rest his muscles. Something snapped and intense pain shot through his shoulder. Examination showed it was dislocated. He was admitted to Emergency Hospital.

Parks to Install Tree Stump Trash Burners

Artistically designed imitation tree stumps, to be used as trash burners, will be installed soon in the Washington parks, according to an announcement yesterday at the Office of Public Buildings and Parks. Frank T. Gartside, chief of the park division, said yesterday 24 of these stumps had been purchased.

Bids for 100 combination rustic picnic tables and benches and 300 rustic settees will be opened today. The new equipment will be distributed to picnic areas in the parks.

CAMP TOUR STARTED BY 121ST ENGINEERS

Popular Company Cook Is Rescued From Durance as Bonus Marcher.

Camp Ritchie, Cascade, Md., Aug. 9. Fifteen days of intensive military training are ahead of the 121st Engineers unit of the District National Guard. It is the first time since 1928 that this regiment has set up camp on the Maryland State military reservation.

Under command of Col. John W. Oehmann, the first day's activities included a formal guard mount and a regimental parade. Within a few hours after arrival the outfit had become firmly established and ready to devote the remaining period to intensive training.

Much consternation was aroused over the absence of Company A's cook. A check-up after the routine of settling was finished disclosed that Private Edward F. Czarnecki, a former Army mess sergeant, who has long served in the company kitchen, was missing. Private Czarnecki's meals are an institution in the company, and his comrades immediately launched an investigation into his whereabouts.

It was Capt. George L. Evans, his company commander, who first learned where Czarnecki was. A special delivery letter from Ligonier, Pa., explained that the guardsman was in custody of State police as a member of the bonus army driven from Washington.

Czarnecki related that he was caught in the roundup of B. E. F. stragglers and taken into Pennsylvania. His protests were to no avail, he said. His identity was soon established and it was only a short time before he reached Camp Ritchie, among great rejoicing.

The outfit was hampered in the transportaton of baggage. One of several wartime trucks used by the regiment broke down en route to camp. Another, equally old, was borrowed from the Regular Army at Fort Holabird. It also refused to run beyond a certain distance and had to be towed.

TERMINAL IS FOUND FOR GREYHOUND BUS

P. U. C. Permits Temporary Station Near Capitol Grounds for Lines.

The Public Utilities Commission yesterday established a temporary terminal for the Greyhound Bus Lines at 133 Pennsylvania avenue shortly after Justice James M. Proctor, of District Supreme Court, had denied the plea for an injunction against the utilities body to prevent enforcement of the year-old interstate bus order.

With this sole appeal apparently disposed of, the order appeared last night to be fully in effect. The Blue Ridge Transportation Co., which was one of the appellants, has been established at the Annapolis Hotel since August 1, but sought permission to make a stop at the Greyhound terminal so long as it remained at 1317 New York avenue.

Two routes were approved by the commission for the temporary Greyhound terminal, which is entirely outside the second traffic zone. Buses entering Washington from the north and east will reach the terminal via Bladensburg road, New York avenue, North Capitol street, B street and through the Capitol grounds. Returning, they will go west on Pennsylvania avenue to Second street, thence to B and to North Capitol street, and from there over the same route.

Buses coming from the south will enter via Highway Bridgeand will proceed over Fourteenth street to Constitution avenue, thence to Sixth street, to Pennsylvania avenue, around Peace Monument to the terminal.

General Air Express Starts Service Here

Local service on General Air Express, an interline system of seven of the country's leading air transport operators, was inaugurated yesterday at Washington Hoover Airport.

Three companies serving Washington, Eastern Air Transport, the Ludington Line and Pennsylvania Airlines, are members of the system.

Speed Over Arlington Bridge Cut to 22 Miles

Because motorists persist in driving over the Arlington Memorial Bridge at high rates of speed, Capt. E. N. Chisholm, jr., acting director of public buildings and parks, has announced a 22-mile-per-hour speed limit will be enforced by park police.

The new limit also applies to Columbia Island, on which the Mount Vernon Memorial highway begins, and will be enforced as far south as the Boundary Channel Bridge. The present speed limit of 45 miles an hour along the main part of the Memorial highway will be kept.

AMERICAN BOXERS WIN FIRST TESTS IN OLYMPICS

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

ALTHOUGH the destination of Washington Ball Club is taking on a firm fourth-place aspect, the front office is not aiding the cause of the Nats. With the release of Bobby Burke this week, a check-up reveals that the Nats' pitching staff, with all noses counted, numbers only six.

The Nats have as many infielders as pitchers. No big league team is expected to campaign in big league company with only six hurlers, yet this department has thumbed the roster, scoured the clubhouse and peeked underneath the tarpaulin and can identify no more than a half-dozen p'chers on the Washington Club.

The situation may only mean that Clark Griffith is tapping the sources frantically for some more pitching talent, but at the present writing Manager Johnson is forced to campaign with the half-dozen at his command, even if two of them are flattered by being called pitchers.

The Nats have been leading the league in hitting. They are acknowledged as the tightest defensive club in the circuit. Yet they are in fourth place. The answer is easy. The attacking and defensive virtues of the club are being sacrificed for the lack of twirling talent.

The double play record that the Nats have amassed is no accident. The pitchers have contributed almost as greatly to the twin-killing feats of Cronin, Myer and Bluege as have the infielders themselves. The Nats' double plays mean among other things, that there have been a lot of enemy runners on the paths, put there by the ineffectiveness of the Washington pitching.

With the exception of no more than three passable performances by the Nats' twirlers, every game won in the West has been annexed by the power in the Nats' bats. Comparatively little help has been received from the pitchers.

Any help that the Nats anticipate in the hurling department probably will come from the minors, with the interleague trading ban still in force. No assistance may be expected from Chattanooga, where Joe Engel's Lookouts are in the thick of a warm fight with Memphis for the lead. Bobby Burke was sent to the Lookouts to bolster their chances, although few here bemoan his passing.

Help may possibly come through the waiver route, but the type of talent released on waivers is not usually the sort to bolster a wabbly staff. They are either old timers on the way out or rookies found wanting. Bucky Harris had luck in 1924 and 1925, when he claimed Stanley Coveleskie, Dutch Ruether and Curly Ogden, but the Nats have been unsuccessful in waiver claims ever since.

The Nats are not in a position to compete with their more powerful rivals in the open-market bidding for the outstanding minor league stars. The attendance at Griffith Stadium this season has been the poorest in a decade and the Washington Club does not boast the sinking fund of the Yankees, Athletics, White Sox and Browns. As big league clubs go, Washington is a poor club.

Jimmy Foxx's home run pace has slowed in the last week and though, technically, he may be ahead of Babe Ruth's record pace of 1927, the Philadelphia slugger must maintain better than his present average if he is to eclipse Ruth's record of 60.

The Athletics' recent stand in Cleveland did not help Foxx's chances. With the fences so distant in all fields, Foxx had little chance to improve his total at the new Cleveland Municipal Stadium. If Foxx falls in his quest for Ruth's record by two or three homers, he may be able to blame his failure on the fact that the Indians moved into their new home.

Nats Win 4-2 Duel With Indians

Crowder Relieved in Ninth by Marberry, Rally Failing.

Manush, Cronin Lead Attack on Harder With 3 Hits.

Special to The Washington Post.

MUNICIPAL STADIUM, Cleveland, Aug. 9.—The Nationals enjoyed no big innings here this afternoon in the fourth game of their series with the Indians, but they managed to crowd six of the eight hits they made into three scoring frames to take the verdict, 4 to 2. The defeat dropped the Tribe a full game behind the second-place Mackmen, who idled because of rain in Chicago.

Mel Harder and Jack Russell did the flinging for the home team, while the victory was credited to "General" Al Crowder, of the Nationals. He ran into some trouble in the ninth, however, when the natives scored one run and had the tying runs on the paths with two dead and Fred Marberry had to go to his rescue.

Crowder pitched a good game, and, thanks to the stick work of Joe Cronin and Heinie Manush, each with a triple and two singles, had little trouble in protecting a small early lead given him until the Clevelanders threatened in the final round.

Nats Open With Two-run Attack.

The Nationals started off with a rush and scored twice in the opening session, when they inserted three hits. Rice opened with one and, after Myer had lofted out, Manush followed suit. On Cronin's one-baser to center Rice checked in and Manush reached third. The latter registered while Kuhel's infield tap was being turned into a force-play at second.

Both teams were busy in the fourth, the Nats scoring once and the Tribe getting this run back in its half. Manush pried the top off of the round with a single to center and completed the base circle when Cronin followed with a three-bagger to deep right-center. The Nats were unable to get Cronin home, Kuhel lining to Morgan, West rolling to the pitcher and Bluege flying to Vosmik.

Averill and Vosmik singled in order opening the home half, and the former crossed the counting block while the Cronin-to-Myer-to-Kuhel combination was turning Morgan's hopper into a double play.

The Indians gave the Nats a real scare in the ninth, when they were within a lone hit of knotting the string. Burnett led off with a single and advanced on Averill's infield out. After Vosmik flied to Rice, Morgan singled the runner home. When Myatt watched four balls pass him, Marberry was hustled to the peak, and he ended things by forcing Cissell to bound to him.

Schmeling Fights Walker 15 Rounds

New York, Aug. 9 (U.P.).—Negotiations were virtually completed today for Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion, to meet Mickey Walker, of Rumson, N. J., in a fifteen-round bout at the new Long Island bowl on September 19 or 26. Madison Square Garden is expected to make announcement of the definite date tomorrow. The New York milk fund will share in the proceeds.

Plans for the bout were rushed through this afternoon after the New York State Athletic Commission had closed the book on the Sharkey-Schmeling title bout controversy by reinstating Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager.

The commission reinstated Jacobs after his public apology for charging over the radio that Schmeling had been "robbed" of his title in the Sharkey bout. Jacobs had been suspended late in June.

10TH DEFEAT IN ROW FOR PIRATES

Shutout by Betts, of Braves, 4-0, Making Only 4 Hits.

BOSTON, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Huck Betts, star right-hander for the Boston Braves, handed the Pirates a 4-0 shutout today, giving the Braves their third win in a row over the league leaders and the Pirates their tenth straight defeat.

The Tribe fell on Remy Kremer for three runs in the second inning.

Betts was in rare form and was never in trouble. The four hits obtained by the Pirates were scattered over as many innings, and in the fifth, after Floyd Vaughan singled, a fast double-play averted the danger.

Baxter Jordan, new trial first sacker obtained from Baltimore, to replace Art Shires, fielded sensationally, hit a single and stole a base. Urbanski also played a big part in the Braves' victory, handling six chances without an error, getting two hits in four trips to the plate, stealing home and starting a double-play that took Betts out of trouble.

Retzlaff Loses By Knockout In First

Sent Down 3 Times by Gastanaga, of Spain.

Battle Ends Quickly After Pair Comes Out Swinging.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Isadoro Gastanaga, Spanish heavyweight, knocked out Charley Retzlaff, the Duluth dynamiter, in the first round of their ten-round fight at the Queensboro Stadium tonight. Retzlaff was knocked down three times before taking the count after 2 minutes and 43 seconds of fighting. Gastanaga weighed 191 pounds, Retzlaff 183½.

Retzlaff did not have time to land one solid blow in the brief battle. They both came out of their corners swinging hard and Gastanaga landed the first wallop, a hard right to the jaw. He followed it with a left that opened a cut under Charley's left eye and then smacked him with a left hook to the jaw that sent the Minnesotan down for a count of nine.

Retzlaff arose and promptly ran into a crashing right to the chin that sent him down for a seven count. Staggering from the punishment, the Duluth lad came back for more and got it in the form of a left and right that sent him down for the third and last time.

Two preliminaries ended in technical knockouts. Marty Fox, New York heavyweight, stopped Tommy Destefano, of New Haven, Conn., in the third round of an eight rounder and Prince Saunders, Chicago Negro, stopped Marty Goldman of New York, in the fifth round of a six-round bout. Saunders weighed 137, Goldman, 140.

In a four-rounder, Armando Vidal, 123, Argentina, outpointed Ernest Torres, 119½, Puerto Rico.

Ruth's Homer Aids Gomez to Win 19th

St. Louis, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Vernon ("Lefty") Gomez, the New York Yankees' star southpaw, recorded his nineteenth victory of the season today with the aid of Babe Ruth's thirty-second home run of the season, defeating the Browns, 5 to 3.

Gomez allowed eight hits, two of which were homers by Rick Ferrell and Jim Levey. Ruth clouted his homer in the sixth behind singles by Combs and Sewell to provide the margin of victory. Sewell batted in the other Yankee runs with a double and a fly.

NATS OBTAIN PITCHER OF BRAVES

McAfee Claimed on Waivers; Was to Go to Baltimore.

WITHIN the next few days the Nationals expect to have another pitcher to replace Bobby Burke on the staff, President Clark Griffith announced last night. The lad in question is William F. (Bill) McAfee, a 6-foot 2-inch right-hander, who is scheduled to come here via the waiver route from the Boston Braves.

McAfee is one of the players sent by the Braves to the Baltimore Orioles in exchange for First-baseman Baxter Jordan. In making the deal, Judge Emil Fuchs, owner of the Braves, neglected the formality of obtaining waivers on the pitcher. When he made a belated effort to get the O. K. of the other clubs in the two major leagues, all complied except the Washington Club.

President Griffith was advised yesterday by William Harridge, American League head, that McAfee would become the property of the Nats provided the Braves do not cancel their waiver request, which they have a right to do not later than tomorrow. The Nat owner, however, already has talked over long-distance telephone to Judge Fuchs, who advised that the Washington deal would not be blocked, and so McAfee probably will join the team when it returns here Friday night.

SPEER KICKS MANICH INTO SUBMISSION

Wins 2 of 3 Falls at Bolling as 1,000 Boo Victory.

FRANK SPEER, the former Georgia Tech football player who graduated from the Southern institution of learning a full fledged and licensed rassler, added a cluster of fine boos to his scrapbook last night when he defeated George Manich in two out of three falls.

The Bolling Field match drew about 1,000 fans, two of whom stirred up more belligerency than all the wrestlers concerned by coming to actual blows over one of the most trifling problems one might uncover in the entire realm of sport, namely, which is better—Speer or Manich? They had to be separated by the authorities.

Manich won the first fall with some conventional-looking hold in eighteen minutes, most of which was taken up by not very subtle punch-pulling and Speer's infallible knack of bringing down a chorus of boos upon himself by simply staring at audience.

Speer Sits on Foe For Second Fall.

Speer won the second fall in 11 minutes. Manich was "hurled" up against the ropes at a speed estimated to be about seven-eighths of a mile an hour. He fell backwards off the ropes as though some fan had obeyed an inclination to shoot him and Speer sat on top of him.

Speer won the last fall on a nice kick to the stomach.

In other bouts, the lot of them pretty dull, Charley Hansen and Ivan Zirkoff drew, the "Masked 'Marvel" threw Fazil Douis in 6 minutes; Jack McArthur dumped Tony Rocco in 13 minutes, and Mike Mizurki beat Mihaly Orgavany in 14 minutes, or something.

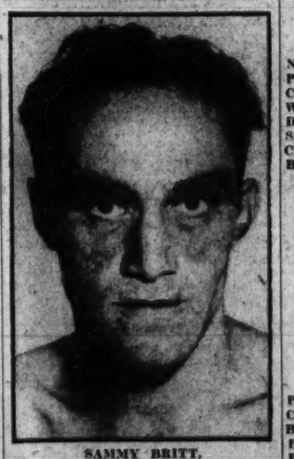
Banovic-DeCapua Renew Old Feud at Laurel Tonight

In Semifinal



SAMMY BRITT,

District middleweight, who avenged a previous defeat by Young Van by knocking out the latter in one round, meets Van tonight in the rubber battle.

HALTED by rain Monday night, the wheels of the cauliflower industry will attempt to function again tonight at Twin City Arena, where 32 rounds of boxing in which Jimmy De Capua, the Daytona Beach, Fla., flash, and "Bingo Joe" Banovic, from Binghamton, N. Y., have been headlined for ten, will be served up to fans, starting at 8:30 o'clock.

An old rivalry will flare anew when De Capua and Banovic clash. Banovic's manager recalls the days when De Capua, welterweight champion of central New York, and "Bingo Joe" traded punches as amateurs. De Capua has fought all over the country, meeting and beating such stalwarts as Reds Barry, Bob Godwin and the veteran Mike Mc-tigue. Banovic has licked Joe Sekyra, Billy Jones, Charley Bellanger and Bob Olin, in addition to a number of other top-notch punchers.

Of particular interest will be the six-round semifinal bout between Young Van and Sammy Britt, District middleweight rivals. Having met twice previously, each winning, tonight's battle is expected to produce some torrid fighting, perhaps rivaling the main go. Britt knocked out Young Van in the first round last week to arrest the latter's winning streak. Both have been working feverishly in training.

In the postponed fours, Kid Monte, hailing from Norfolk, Va., and Johnny Koles, of Baltimore, will clash; Johnny Maya, product of the Pacific Coast, will tangle with Sailor Leonard, another Virginian, and Young Zinkhan, of Baltimore, will step with Arthur DeBeve, French lightweight.

Until rain washed out hostilities after the completion of the match between Joe Raspi and Sam Romano, the Laurel mitt program had prospects of luring the largest crowd of the season. There were easily 1,200 who clicked the turnstiles and several hundred mulling around outside, ready to qualify as spectators.

All stubs and tickets good for Monday's show will be honored tonight, it was announced.

SEVEN VEILS NEVER HEADED IN FEATURE AT HAWTHORNE

Wright Rides Hertz Colt To Victory

Leads From Start to Outrun Mad Wind by a Length.

HAWTHORNE RACE TRACK, Chicago, Ill., Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Mrs. John D. Hertz's Seven Veils, ably ridden by Wayne Wright, conquered a field of six today in the Gateway Purse at Hawthorne.

Wright had the Hertz thoroughbred out in front at the rise of the barrier and kept it there all the way through the 6½ furlongs, finishing with a margin of a length over Mad Wind, which made a strong bid in the stretch.

Mad Wind led Dr. J. F. Adams' Rehoboth by two and one-half lengths. Seven Veils was the favorite and paid $4.20 in the $2 mutuels. The time was 1:19, and the race was run in the rain.

The long-shot players connected in the first race when Sweet Peach, ridden by Gene King, popped in by a half length over Babee, and paid $55.80 to win, $31.62 to place, and $19.78 to show.

JOE AND ASBESTOS

(Watch Sunday's Post for New Secret Code) —By Ken Kling

Woolorac, the horse given yesterday, was scratched on account of a bad post position, so the roll stood still at $47.38. Today he tries some more long shot sleepers.

SMITH BOWS IN TENNIS UPSET

Defending Champ Is Defeated in Playground Event.

CLYDE SMITH, defending champion, went down to defeat in the semifinal round of the senior playground tennis championship yesterday at the Chevy Chase Playgrounds, losing to Lou Chatlen, of Corcoran Playground, former Business High School basket ball star, 2—6, 6—4, 6—2.

Smith, representing Bloomingdale, raced to an easy win in the first set, but erratic tennis thereafter spelled his deefat. Chatlen had none of the brilliant strokes which Smith commanded, but his flat orthodox drives kept coming back over the net with such a regularity that Smith's errors soon began to foretell the eventual outcome of the match

Chatlen and Jacob In Final.

Chatlen will play Happy Jacob for the championship today at 2 o'clock, with Jacob, a Montrose boy, favored to come through. Jacob holds several junior championships, including the Maryland and eastern Pennsylvania titles.

The junior finals will be played at 3 o'clock between Levelle Dean, of Virginia avenue and either Spencer Howell, of Montrose, or Mike Raedy, of New York avenue. Dean already is in the final round, while Howell and Raedy reached the semifinal round yesterday, beating Burke, of Garfield, 6—0, 6—2, and John Ray, of Chevy Chase, 6—2, 6—4.

Middle States Canoes To Race Here Aug. 27

The ninth annual Middle States Canoe Racing Association's championships will be held Saturday, August 27, under auspices of the Potomac Boat Club as a part of the local Bicentennial sports program. The meeting is open only to racing class canoes.

Races will be over a half-mile straightaway on the Potomac just above Arlington Memorial Bridge. There will be 14 events on the program, for both seniors and juniors with a large number of prizes at stake. Entries are being received by R. A. Begley, Hibbs Building.

D. C. Racqueters Win In Oakland Tourney

Oakland, Md., Aug. 9.—Bertrand Welsh and Betty Cochran, Washington entries, emerged the victors in their matches in the tennis tournament here today.

Seeded No. 3, Welsh turned back the bid of S. W. Byrer, of Pittsburgh, 6—1, 6—0, in the second round, and Paul Sullivan, of Pittsburgh, 6—1, 6—0, in the third round.

Miss Cochran defeated Mrs. L. W. Hodgson, of Cumberland, 6—4, 2—6, 6—1, in the opening round.

Welsh teamed with Shields in the men's doubles to score a first-round victory over Atkins and Haught, of Pittsburgh, 6—4, 6—2.

Tomorrow's first-round matches will find Helen Philpitt meeting Evelyn Claybrook, of Cumberland; Marion Butler facing Frances Grimes, of Morgantown; Ruth Martinez opposing Margaret Carspecker, of Morgantown; Frances Walker clashing with Helen Coulahan, of Cumberland, and Margaret Graham vying with Miriam Sullivan, of Pittsburgh.

Colored Tennis Title Retained by Robinson

Milton Robinson, Cardozo High School football player, retained his senior colored playgrounds tennis championship yesterday at Howard Playgrounds, beating Harry Jackson, Cardozo, in the final round, 6—3, 6—4. The junior crown went to Tom Jackson, of Cardozo, who beat Ed Yearwood, of Howard, 6—1, 6—1.

Robinson, representing Logan playgrounds, played a consistently even game to break up the hard drive and net playing of his Cardozo opponent. Jackson went to 4—2 in the second set, but a streak of wildness hit him and he quickly lost the last four games.

Tom Jackson was an underdog before the start of the junior match, but once it got under way it was soon evident that his chopstroke was going to break up the driving game of his opponent.

AT THE POST

DEAR AL: HAWTHORNE RACE TRACK, CHICAGO, AUG. 9.

The races today were about on par with the weather. A drizzle, then a sprinkle and always a threat of a deluge. Couldn't tell all day what was going to happen or when. Tomorrow is an off day and the card has little to recommend it. Class is conspicuous by its absence. Better pick out a few spots and "shoot," for any attempt to beat the full card is folly. FANFERN, BALLYGRAN and SISKIN should make an excellent place parlay, while, over at Saratoga, DARK SECRET, with Hank Mills in the pilot house, should towrope his field. It is winners and not idle chatter that you are after. So long Al. Yours, BILL.

FIRST RACE—FANFERN, with No. 1 post position, should get away winging and lead all the way. FOUR PENCE and WARBLE for what's left.

SECOND RACE—A lovely bunch of gee gees from which to attempt to select a winner. CHARM, LAZY MARY and FLYING are my candidates in the order named.

THIRD RACE—THE POINT is a quick breaker with a bit of class. Will be a fair price. May grab this heat, followed by CAMP BOSS and JAZZ ACE.

FOURTH RACE—BALLYGRAN is the best bet of the day. HOPE TO DO and SNORKY for what is left.

FIFTH RACE—SISKIN should lead this band. BROWN WISDOM and CHARLEIGH for the balance of this purse.

SIXTH RACE—Here's a chance for the Bradley colors to make it a double for the day. B'AR HUNTER seems much the best. KINCSEN and ROYAL RUFFIN for the balance.

SEVENTH RACE—BLUE LAW, an overdue thing, may get home in front. WATCH TOWER and LIMBUS will be battling it out.

EIGHTH RACE—GAY PARTY, KNEE HIGH and OLD DEPOT all figure in the nightcap. Will pay good prices, and I prefer them in the order named.

BELL BEATEN IN RYE NET UPSET

Epidemic of Double-Faults Costly as McCauliff Wins.

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 9 (A.P.).—An epidemic of double-faulting removed Berkeley Bell from the Eastern grass court tennis championships today, but other favorites marched into the third round. Bell made at least a score of double-faults in his match with Eugene McCauliff, of Yonkers, N. Y., eight of them in one game, and was eliminated, 1—6 6—2, 6—0.

Advancing into the third round with McCauliff were Cliff Sutter, New Orleans; Manuel Alonso, former Spanish Davis Cup player; Lester Stoefen, Los Angeles; Jack Tidball, Hollywood; Eddie Jacobs, Baltimore; Wilbur Coen, Kansas City; Gregory Mangin, Newark; John McDiarmid, Fort Worth; Elbert Lewis, Los Angeles, and Edward Burns, New York.

Buxby Proves Easy For Sutter.

Sutter had no troubles with Martin Buxby, University of Texas, 6—3, 6—2, and Alonso disposed of Henry Culley, Los Angeles, 6—4, 6—3. Stoefen eliminated the Charlotte, N. C., star, Clayton Lee Burwell, 6—4, 6—4, while Tidball disposed of the veteran, J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., 6—4, 4—6, 6—2.

Mangin was in excellent form as he whipped Richard F. Murphy, Utica, N. Y., 6—1, 7—5, and Coen defeated Keith Werner, Los Angeles, 6—2, 6—3. Lewis won from Harold MacGuffin, New York, 6—3, 6—1, and Jacobs from Joe Coughlin, Stanford, 6—2, 6—4. Burns won the hardest fought match of the day, a 6—2, 1—6, 11—9 conquest of Fritz Mercur, of Bethlehem.

Virginia Rice, Boston; Mrs. Dorothy Andrus Burke, Stamford, Conn.; Mrs. J. B. Pittman, England; Mrs. Penelope Anderson McBride, New York, and Mrs. N. V. Hester, New York, all reached the fourth round of women's singles.

Tigers Beat Red Sox; Walker Benched, Fined

Detroit, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Detroit made it three in a row over the Boston Red Sox by winning both ends of a double-header today, 5 to 2 and 9 to 7. In the second game Gerald Walker, Tiger outfielder, was benched and fined an unannounced sum for failing to run out a grounder.

The Tigers got thirteen hits off three Red Sox hurlers in each game. Stone got a homer for the Tigers in the first game and Walker in the second.

Stock Advance Is Halted By Profit-Taking Drives

Loss of Three-Tenths Gives Market Setback in Sale of 3,801,610 Shares.

New York, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—The advance in stocks and some commodities began to look a little frayed today as offerings by profit takers and other sellers made a sharper impression on quotations.

For the first time in a week the share average closed lower, although the decline amounted to only three-tenths of a point. Sales totaled 3,801,610 shares, well under yesterday's volume.

Stocks churned nervously through the session. Bulls attempted several times to get the market to throw off what appeared to be a tired feeling, using rails, utilities and oils for their purpose, but getting only temporary advantages so far as the general list was concerned. Power and light company equities displayed some durability and closed higher; both rail and industrial groups were off on the day.

Brokers with foreign customers said European orders were still being received in volume, although the selling side was slightly favored.

American Telephone swayed up and down, 2 points higher and 2 points lower, closing with a small net advance. Wall street watched closely the market fortunes of this leader, whose advance has been fought by a stubborn short interest. Steel shares were rather heavy. There seems to be some shading off in current production, and tomorrow's backlog report of the industry's largest unit is expected to show its sixteenth consecutive monthly decrease. Steel common was down 1½ net, while the preferred lost more than 2.

Narrow net changes either way were recorded by American Can, Allied Chemical, General Electric, Du Pont, General Motors, Case and International Harvester.

Banking statistics leaned rather definitely toward the constructive or antideflation side. The weekly condition statement of reporting reserve member banks in 101 cities showed an expansion of credit for the successive week, and, although most of the total rise was due to absorption of recent Treasury financing, security loans increased $44,000,000, and other investments gained $6,000,000. At the same time, "all other" loans, including commercial accommodations, were off $40,000,000.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Overnight Wall street reaction checked activity of international shares wherein were some recessions. Renewed selling again caused a marked weakness in leading British funds despite the betterment in sterling. Dealings generally were on a smaller scale. Argentine rails were in good demand.

Paris—The feature of trading on the bourse was the weakness in venues which showed losses of a point. All other sections were quiet, with international shares strong, following the strength in Wall street. The closing was irregular.

Berlin—Trading on the boerse was listless, but closed slightly better.

BONDS STILL CLIMB IN LIGHTER SELLING

Average Profit Also Drops to Four-tenths; Market Holds Firmness.

New York, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Continued strength of railway and utility issues brought further firmness to the bond market today, although the advance and trading volume slowed down somewhat under the preceding session.

Sales totaled $13,219,000 par value, or more than $1,300,000 below yesterday's aggregate, while the average for 60 selected corporate loans gained four-tenths of a point.

Advances among the carriers generally ranged from fractions to 2 or more points. After overcoming early profit taking, the most conspicuous carrier gainers included some loans of Baltimore & Ohio, Central of New England, Central Pacific, Central of New Jersey, Chesapeake Corporation, Chesapeake & Ohio, Burlington, St. Paul, Chicago & Northwestern, Rock Island, Erie, Great Northern, Hudson & Manhattan, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Nickel Plate, Northern Pacific, Reading, St. Louis Southwestern, Southern Pacific and Texas & Pacific.

The United States Government list held to a quiet but steady range.

U.S. Grain Exports Increase 442,000 Bushels in Week

(Associated Press.)

Grain exports from the United States last week amounted to 1,449,000 bushels, compared with 1,007,000 the previous week and 2,003,000 the corresponding week last year.

Commerce Department figures yesterday gave the following comparisons between last week's exports and those of the week before: Wheat, 781,000 bushels, against 594,000; barley, 237,000, against 143,000; corn, 113,000, against 54,000; oats, 318,000, against 216,000. No exports of rye were reported for either week.

Canadian grains exported last week from United States ports totaled 607,000 bushels, against 535,000 the previous week.

Heavy Sales Clog Exchange.

New York, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—The New York Stock Exchange machinery was clogged somewhat today as a result of yesterday's 5,500,000 share turnover.

CURB GAINS PERSIST IN HEAVIER TRADING

560,000 - Share Turnover Gives Leaders Better Prices at Close.

New York, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—After a mild reaction in the first hour, a new wave of buying came into the curb market today to push the list further along on its upward course.

The advance presented a less solid front than in the two or three preceding sessions, but a big majority of the leaders showed plus signs at the close. Transactions amounted to 560,000 shares, a high record for 1932.

The chief beneficiaries of this buying movement were Electric Bond & Share, which nosed ahead another 2 points; American Gas & Electric, 3; American Superpower second preferred, 9; Columbia Gas & Electric preferred, 5¾; Northern States Power preferred, 4, and Cities Service preferred, 4.

Aluminum Co. of America, one of the pacemakers of the rise, slid back more than 5 points on realizing not difficult to account for, after its 20-point bulge over the past week. Other industrial specialties, however, plowed ahead regardless of profit taking, Babcock & Wilcox gaining 3 points; A. O. Smith & Co., 3½; Great Atlantic & Pacific, 1.

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

What the Stock Market Did

	Tues.	Mon.
Number of advances	345	562
Number of declines	282	140
Stocks unchanged	138	108
Total issues traded	766	805

Stocks.

Profit taking halted the general advance with a three-tenths of a point average loss. There were many scattered gains. The day's sales dipped to 3,801,610 shares.

Bonds.

Rail and utility issues forced firmness, and trading added four-tenths of a point in average gains. The volume dropped to $13,219,000.

Curb.

The advance continued despite selling for profits. The turnover of 560,000 shares was high for 1932.

Wheat.

Part of Monday's gains were dropped under profit-taking pressure. Other gains joined the decline.

Cotton.

A rally failed to weather heavy realizing. The upturn had followed earlier declines, but gave ground under selling. The general market closed 4 to 6 points down. December sold at 7.15.

WHEAT YIELDS PART OF RECENT ADVANCE

Loss Is Nearly Two Cents; Other Grains Down on Profit Taking.

Chicago, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Swinging backward from an 8-cent straight-away advance, wheat today lost 2 cents of the gain, and then showed power to rally.

General selling to realize profits attended the reaction, which was influenced also by declines in stocks and cotton and was preceded by sudden downturns of wheat quotations at Liverpool. With United States and Canadian government crop reports due tomorrow, the aggressive new buying that of late has been so conspicuous was missing today.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1¾ to 1¾ under yesterday's finish; corn ⅞ to 1¼ down; oats, ⅝ to 1 off, and provisions varying from 12 cents decline to a rise of 5 cents.

Suggestions that reduced crop estimates in Canada were likely, owing to heat, drought and premature ripening, tendered to spur late rallies in wheat prices.

A drag on the wheat market came from heavy rural offerings of corn and oats. Pit gossip said farmers were letting go of corn they had stored in cribs and on which loans had been obtained payable August 15.

Provisions averaged lower with grains.

BUSINESS MACHINES BUYS SCALES PLANT

Stock, Tools and Equipment of Massachusetts Factory Added in Expansion.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

International Busines Machines Corporation has purchased the counting and weighing machine division of National Scale Corporation of Chicopee Falls, Mass. This acquisition includes the entire line of machines, patents and tool equipment of this division, according to announcement of President Thomas J. Watson of the former corporation.

The newly acquired products will in the future be made in the industrial scale division of International Business Machines Corporation's main plant at Endicott, N. Y. The sales and service organizations of National Scale Corporation, which have maintained in important industrial centers, will join International Business Machines Corporation, the announcement states.

National Scale Corporation pioneered in the exclusive manufacture of weight-counting machines, or scales used to count a number of uniform articles by automatically comparing their total weight with the weight of one unit. For more than 30 years, it has supplied these machines to the majority of users of such devices in American industry.

It is believed that the recently acquired products will make the lines of scales and counting machines of International Business Machines Corporation one of the most comprehensive in the world, Mr. Watson states, with models designed to meet the individual requirements of large and small industries.

The counting machines involved in the acquisition range from scales with a capacity of 2 pounds.

5 Swedish Banks Told To Plead in Match Suit

New York, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Federal Judge Julian W. Mack today granted a motion by the Irving Trust Co., as trustee in bankruptcy for International Match Corporation, requiring five Swedish banks which are defendants in the suit to recover $50,000,000 in German Reich bonds, to appear, plead and answer to the complaint not later than September 26.

The bonds were allegedly misappropriated by the late Ivar Kreuger, Swedish match king.

London Investors Take To Cover With Profits

London, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—With prices slightly off in Wall street today, London traders were snatching their profits and taking to cover, although general confidence appeared maintained in the soundness of the movement toward American recovery.

The fear here was that recovery might progress too rapidly. How much the blaze of activity in Wall street might be due to political influences was the subject of wide speculation, and there was much advice to the British investing public to the effect that breakers were ahead in the American upsurge and that holders of high-class investment securities should think twice before entering American markets on higher levels.

SCRAP STEEL LOAN URGED TO AID IDLE

Advance of $15,000,000 Is Sought From Federal R. F. C. Funds.

New York, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—The granting of credits for $15,000,000 to scrap steel and iron companies would provide employment for 75,000 persons, Benjamin Schwartz, director general of the Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel, said in messages sent to Charles A. Miller, president of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and Eugene Meyer, governor of the Federal Reserve Board.

This sum, according to Mr. Schwartz, is required to enable dealers to maintain about 1,000,000 tons of reserve scrap in their yards and to purchase scrap now on the market. He asserted that because of poor demand for scrap, a large tonnage is being dumped or wasted with consequent drains upon iron ore reserves.

Crude Oil Production Is Up 34,400 Barrels

New York, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Daily average gross crude oil production in the United States increased 34,400 barrels in the week ended August 6, totaling 2,171,900 barrels, the American Petroleum Institute's weekly summary indicates. Daily average production east of California increased 35,400 barrels, to 1,703,700 barrels.

Refineries representing 95.1 per cent of estimated total capacity, operated at 59.4 per cent of their capacity, reported daily average runs of crue oil to stills as 2,127,600 barrels. Daily average the previous week for refineries representing 95.1 per cent of total, operated at 59.4 per cent of capacity, was 2,176,300 barrels.

COTTON PRICES SAG ON REALIZING RUSH

December Closes at 7.15; Loss Runs to 6 Points; Liverpool Sells.

New York, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—An opening decline in cotton under realizing and selling for a reaction after yesterday's big advance was followed by rallies on trade buying and covering today.

December contracts sold up from 7.01 to 7.34, but the advance encountered increased offerings, and that delivery closed at 7.15. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 4 to 6 points.

Prices worked up to 7.16 for October and 7.53 for March, or 12 to 14 points above yesterday's finals, but the market met another wave of liquidation and closing quotations were 16 to 19 points off from the highs.

Houses with Liverpool connections were sellers here, presumably on the differences, and some Southern selling was reported early and again toward the close, which was supposed to include a moderate volume of hedging.

Liverpool cables reported continental and Bombay selling in that market. Exports today, 5,85, making 98,192 so far this season. Port receipts, 10,763. United States port stocks, 3,357,743.

Commodity Price Gains Forecast by Merchants

Kansas City, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Gradual improvement in commodity prices is forecast in the report of a committee appointed by the officers and directors of the Midwest Retail Merchants' Council to survey general business conditions.

"We are of the opinion that prices of all commodities, both farm and manufactured products, have seen the low mark, and that from now on there will be a gradual improvement in all commodity prices," the report said.

Maryland to Offer Bonds.

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Bonds for $8,076,000 will be offered for sale at the State treasurer's office tomorrow for financing construction of new building, and other public works in various parts of Maryland.

COCA COLA'S PROFIT DROPS TO $3,805,317

Moderate Loss Recorded in June Quarter, Compared With 1931 Period.

New York, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Coca-Cola Co. today reported for the quarter ended June 30 net profit of $3,805,317, compared with $3,906,861, in the June, 1931, quarter. For the six months ended June 30 net profit was $6,128,537 compared with $6,438,208 in the 1931 period.

The company declared the usual extra dividend of 25 cents with the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 on the common stock.

Profits for the June quarter were equal to $3.28 a share on the common stock, against $1.80 a share in the preceding quarter and $3.39 a share in the June quarter last year. For the first half year the company earned $5.08 a share compared with $5.40 a share in the first half of 1931.

New York, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Foster Wheeler Corporation had net loss of $846,028 in the first half year against net profit of $70,838 a year ago. Unfilled orders on June 30 totaled $3,299,000 compared with $4,947,880 at the end of June, 1931.

New York, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Directors of United States Dairy Products Corporation today took no action on the quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share on the Class A stock.

Montreal, Que., Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway announced today their decision to defer consideration of the dividend on the company's common stock for the first six months of 1932 until the full year's earnings are known.

The customary half-yearly dividend on the company's preferred stock was declared, the payment being 2 per cent, or at the rate of 4 per cent annually.

New York, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—The American Power & Light Co. reports for the twelve months ended June 30 a balance of $15,748,380 applicable to interest, equal to more than five times the total interest of the company. The balance applicable to the common stock was equal to $1.18 a share on the common stock compared with $2.48 a share for the twelve months ended June 30, 1931. The company is of the Electric Bond & Share Co. group.

Crop Values Up $400,000,000.

Kansas City, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Estimates received by the Federal Reserve Bank here from its correspondent banks place the increase in valuation of crops in the hands of farmers in the Tenth District at $400,000,000 since the current increase in commodity prices. This represents a conservative estimate, George H. Hamilton, governor of the bank, said.

COUNTY ANNOUNCES SCHOOL CALENDAR

Institutions in Montgomery to Start Year's Work on September 14.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4305.

The school calendar for Montgomery County, Md., was approved yesterday by the County Board of Education at its meeting in Rockville.

Schools will open September 14. Teachers will be in session in Rockville on September 12 and will work in the classrooms September 13.

The calendar provides 186 school days for white children and 187 days for colored children. Two days will be devoted to conference meetings of teachers. Eleven days will be given as holidays as follows: Thanksgiving, two days; Christmas, six days; Easter, two days; general election day and one day to plan the work in the buildings.

Provision is made for exercises a portion of the day and schools in session as provided by the school law on George Washington's Birthday, Armistice Day, Maryland Day, Arbor Day and Memorial Day.

The board appointed Mrs. Leo Roberson trustee of the Dickerson School, and Mrs. Leslie King trustee of the Kings Valley School.

Examinations were fixed for August 22 at the Rockville High School to fill scholarships due to Montgomery County.

Preliminary plans for the proposed new school at Fairland have been approved by the State superintendent of schools, it was announced. The board authorized transportation of children from the Avenel section provided it can be arranged with the present equipment after a delegation from the section pointed out that no school facilities are provided within walking distance.

Philip H. Buehler has been named chief of the Chevy Chase Fire Department, it was announced yesterday. He succeeds William F. Lanahan, who has been in command of the department since its organization in 1927. Chief Lanahan had submitted his resignation July 22 to take effect upon appointment of his successor. Ill health was given as the reason for the resignation.

Frank Pyles, of Section, 8, Chevy Chase, was elected captain of Company No. 1, of the Bethesda Volunteer Fire Department at a meeting of the department held Monday night. He succeeds Scott Imirie, resigned. Hugh Poates, of Bethesda, was named lieutenant and J. Paul Andrews, of Arlington road, Woodmont, was elected a member of the department.

The department will be represented in the parade of the Virginia State Firemen's Association at Alexandria, August 12, under command of Chief J. Fred Imirie. The department also will be represented in the Prince Georges County convention parade at Bowie, August 13.

A permit for the erection of the Montgomery farm women's market at Kingsmoor will be granted by the county commissioners if the farm group insists, County Commissioner Lacy Shaw said yesterday. The commissioners have no other alternative since the property affected is zoned commercial and the park and planning commission has approved the design of the structure, he said.

Commissioner Shaw said, however, that in view of the general disapproval of the location it is probable that the farm market group will reconsider its location.

Organized objection to the location would be a great disadvantage to the farm women who depend to a large degree upon the housewives of the area affected for their trade, he said, and this probably will be taken into consideration by the leaders of the market movement when definite location is decided upon.

In the meantime a committee was appointed at a mass meeting of residents of Edgemoor, Battery Park, Leland and Bethesda held under the auspices of the Bethesda Chamber of Commerce Monday night in the Bethesda County Building, to combat the location of the market in Edgemoor.

This committee included Thomas F. Laffin, president of the Bethesda Chamber of Commerce; Judge R. Granville Curry, president of the Battery Park Citizens Association; J. Harry Welch, president of the Section 8, Chevy Chase, Citizens Association, and Maj. John E. Upp, president of the Edgemoor Citizens Association.

A second committee was appointed to appear tomorrow at noon before the meeting of the Maryland National Park and Planning Commission in the Tower Building, Washington, and ask that the property be rezoned as residential. This committee includes Judge Curry, T. Harry Todd, F. C. Brown, W. J. Norfleet, Harrison R. Hathaway, Eugene G. Adams, William Buckley, J. Harry Welch, Samuel E. Stonebraker, John Overholt, Mrs. Thomas T. Mott, Mrs. S. Coleman, Mrs. E. J. Gray, Mrs. E. H. Harthett Mrs. F. A. Coolidge and Walter Bogley.

R. F. C. Refuses Loan To Iowa for Local Use

(Associated Press).

Iowa was informed by the Reconstruction Corporation yesterday that it could not lend money directly to the State for operation of counties and cities whose money is tied up in closed banks.

John Fletcher, attorney general, and Ray Johnson, State treasurer, conferred with corporation officials and were told they should look to banks within the State for the money needed. The banks then could come to the corporation and obtain the money, it was added. The relief bill passed by Congress makes provisions for loans only for purposes that will create employment.

Religious Census Plans Progressing.

Plans for the religious census and the meetings in the upper part of Prince Georges County in November were made at a meeting of the county ministers' Association to be held in Hladensburg on August 15. Accordingly the Rev. R. T. Robertson, president of the association, Pastors and church officials from Dodge Park, East Riverdale, Berwyn, Colmar Manor, Bladensburg, Cheverly, Tuxedo, Landover and Mitchellville will be present.

Tournament to Be Held Today.

An old-fashioned tournament, to be followed by a chicken supper and ball, will be held today and tonight at St. John's Church at Broad Creek, Md. S. Marvin Peach is the orator of the day, while Alan Bowie, State's attorney, will be the coronation orator.

Road Work Urged In Prince Georges

Use of Federal Loan for Livinston Highway Shoulders Asked.

Asking that Prince Georges County's share of the Federal loan to Maryland for road-building be used to put shoulders on the Livinston road, a delegation of persons living between Silesia and Oxon Hill appeared before the county commissioners yesterday. They pointed out that the State roads commission is improving the section from the District line to Oxon Hill and that there is a great deal of traffic to Fort Washington on the Livinston road. The request was filed.

The commissioners yesterday appropriated $280 for a bridge on Sixty-first street in Greater Capitol Heights, on the request of George N. Palmer, and $150 for a bridge on Fairmont avenue in Fairmont Heights.

J. R. Coomes, of Landover, an employe of the navy yard, sent in his resignation as constable. This action, he said in an accompanying letter, was taken at the request of the Navy Department, who held that he was violating the rule against political activity.

AUDITORS TO CHECK ACCOUNTS OF BALL

Three to Review Records of Former Arlington Official to Aid Defense.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon Va.

F. L. Worcester, certified public accountant of Richmond, Va., came to Arlington County yesterday to check the accounts of former County Treasurer E. Wade Ball, which, according to the report of State Auditor T. Coleman Andrews, showed an alleged shortage of $564.405.40.

Mr. Worcester comes to the county, he said, as adviser to counsel for the defendant. He will be assisted in his work by T. Haxwell and W. C. Brown, also of Richmond.

Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence W. Douglas announced last night that the books of former County Treasurer Ball had been turned over to the accountants and that they will make their check in the presence of Mr. Andrews and his corps of assistants.

J. W. Rixey Smith, secretary to Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, will be the principal speaker at a mass meeting tonight at the courthouse under the auspices of the Arlington County Democratic Club.

According to Robert N. Anderson, president, the meeting will consider the question of organizing the various precincts for the coming presidential election campaign. The public is invited.

Taxpayers League Elects C. W. Pope

Laytonsville Citizens Form Group to Seek Cut in County Payments.

Carson W. Pope has been elected president of the Nonpartisan Taxpayers League of Laytonsville district, Montgomery County, Md., which has organized to seek a reduction in county taxes. William H. Fulks was elected vice president; Gillis Owings, secretary, and Mrs. Roger Hawkins, treasurer.

The meeting was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Griffith, Gaithersburg.

The following committee was named to prepare a constitution and by-laws: E. R. Codwise, Carson W. Pope, Gillis Owings, F. W. Dorsey and T. D. Griffith. A mass meeting will be held August 22 at 8 p. m. at Woodmen's Hall, Laytonsville.

Two Arrested in Raid On Still Near Clinton

Arrested in a raid on a 300-gallon still near Clinton, George S. Richardson, of Washington, and Charles A. Jackson, of Meadows, were released on bond of $1,000 each. The men, captured by Federal agents, were charged with manufacture, possession, and possession of articles for the manufacture of liquor. In addition to the still, 6,000 gallons of alleged mash were seized.

H. W. Pilkerton, of Chaptico, Md., was freed yesterday on liquor charges after a hearing before United States Commissioner J. Frank Parran. Pilkerton was arrested after a raid near his home, but released when it was learned the still was not on his property.

Boy Horseman Injured When Auto Hits Mount

Lee Wilbur Reese, 11, of Contee, Md., was seriously injured late yesterday when the horse he was riding along the Baltimore boulevard near Muirkirk, Md., was struck by an automobile.

The boy was brought to Casualty Hospital where it was found he had suffered a fractured left arm, fractured left elbow and a possible fracture of the left foot. Harry Lawson, 45, of Underwood, N. J., who police said was driving the machine, was arrested and held at the Hyattsville Jail under charges of reckless driving.

Manhattan to Fly Flag Of Marine Naval Branch

(Associated Press).

On starting her maiden voyage across the Atlantic today the steamship Manhattan will fly the Merchant Marine Naval Reserve pennant as token that her captain and 50 per cent of her officers are members of the Merchant Marine Reserve, the Navy Department announced yesterday.

The Manhattan, commanded by Capt. George Fried, veteran seaman of several noted exploits in the Atlantic, is the largest transatlantic liner built in the United States.

NINE WILL FACE JURY IN PRIVATE'S DEATH

Three Men Charged as Chief Assailants of Park Policeman Kennedy.

Nine colored men, three of them charged as principals and six as accessories, were held for the grand jury yesterday by a coroner's jury in connection with the death of Park Policeman Milo J. Kennedy, who died after being beaten by a gang of men early Sunday in Logan Circle.

Three men are being sought by the homicide squad as accessories in the killing. Two of them are William Wood and Stanley Clark. The third has not been named.

The three men charged with taking an active part in the brutal attack are Joseph Jackson, 20, of 1210 N street northwest; Irving Murray, 26, of 1509 R street northwest, and Ralph Holmes, 25, of 1518 Corcoran street northwest.

Murray, according to a statement given the coroner's jury by the homicide squad, hit Policeman Kennedy on the back of the head with a brick after Jackson threw a stone at his car. Holmes is alleged to have admitted picking up the policeman's baton and striking him several times over the head. Murray snatched the policeman's pistol from its holster and ran to the home of his two brothers in Hamilton, Va., police said the man confessed. Murray said he gave the pistol to his brother Walter, according to police. He was arrested in Hamilton.

Plot Laid to 15 Men.

Testimony presented at the inquest purported that the attack was the result of a plot by about fifteen men, instigated by a desire "to get Kennedy because he was too smart." Kennedy, who patroled Logan Circle, had a number of verbal conflicts with the men, it was revealed.

A climax was reached after Kennedy arrested two boys who were making a disturbance during a band concert. A crowd gathered and jeered the officer. Kennedy ordered them back, and Jackson was struck with a nightstick.

Between the time Kennedy went to the Second Precinct with the two he had arrested and when he returned to Logan Circle to get his automobile, the plot was developed by the three alleged participants, police told the coroner's jury.

Six Accessories Held.

The accessories held are Louis Murray, 25, of 1518 Corcoran street northwest; Harry Duvall, 24, of 1514 Columbia street northwest; Leroy Robertson, 23, of 1709 Sixteenth street northeast; Leroy Brazier, 20, of 1726 Seventeenth street northwest; Grafton Baylous, 23, of 1326 Eighteenth street northwest; Walter Murray, of Hamilton, Va.

Funeral services for Policeman Kennedy will be held at Hines funeral parlors, 2910 Fourteenth street northwest, at 1:30 today. A military funeral will follow in Arlington National Cemetery. Police precincts, headquarters and park police will be represented.

Bonus Seeker Returns Here And Is Jailed

"I said I was coming back—and here I am."

Thus did William Earl Brown, of Chicago, Ill., explain why he was driving down Wisconsin avenue last night in an automobile bearing the slogans, "On to Washington," "Camp Marks," "Pay the Bonus" and "Official Car, B. E. F."

He was stopped at Massachusetts avenue by Policeman J. J. Loftus, of the Seventh Precinct. Loftus asked if he hadn't heard about the bonus army being driven from town.

"Yeah," Brown replied, "I heard about it, but when I left for home to get my wife I said I was coming back, so here I am."

Brown said he paid $5 for his car in Chicago and set out for his site in Camp Marks without license tags. He was jailed and charged with driving without license plates and no District operator's permit.

Polo Spectator Is Hurt by Horse

Man, 75, Suffers Lacerations to Head Watching Park Game.

A spectator at the polo matches in Potomac Park yesterday afternoon was seriously injured when trampled by one of the player's horses.

Joseph Zea, 75, of 2108 G street northwest, was standing at the outskirts of the field watching a game between two branches of the War Department. One of the horses, mounted by Maj. Wilfred Blunt, of the Munitions Building, overstepped the small guard rail around the field and knocked Zea to the ground.

He was taken to Emergency Hospital, where it was found he suffered severe lacerations to his head and injuries to the back.

Bishop to Attend Women's Session

Catholic Daughters of America to Hear Talk by Carolina Prelate.

Bishop William J. Hafey, of Raleigh, N. C., has accepted the invitation of the Catholic Daughters of America, meeting here August 14-18, to speak at their annual banquet in the Mayflower Hotel.

Bishop Hafey, national chaplain of the organization, will arrive in Washington this week-end to be the guest of the Rev. Mgr. Connolly, pastor of St. Peter's Church, Second and C streets southeast. National officers of the Catholic Daughters of America, led by Miss Mary C. Duffy, supreme regent, are coming here for their first national conclave, to be held in honor of the George Washington Bicentennial.

With a membership of 200,000, this national order is said to be one of the largest women's organizations in the world. Plans will be discussed for the care of destitute families.

Militia Tackles Routine of Camp

District Guardsmen Stage Regimental Parade; Practice Firing.

Special to The Washington Post.

Camp Ritchie, Cascade, Md., Aug. 9.—Firmly established in their new camp, the 121st Engineers, of the District National Guard, today settled down to routine training. The various companies were on the drill field shortly after reveille at 5:30 a. m.

A regimental parade, reviewed by Col. John W. Oehmann, commander of the camp, was a feature of yesterday's program. The rifle range proved popular. Many camp records are expected to be broken during the fifteen day encampment. After several hours of drilling, the troops spent the remainder of the day learning the various duties required of an engineer outfit.

A battalion parade, headed by Maj. Clarence Shields, was held shortly before nightfall.

$300 Awarded in Capture of Murderer

A reward of $300 was awarded by the District Commissioners yesterday to Horace Thomas, of 516 Second street southeast, for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Garry Robert Owens for the murder of James H. Lane, a motorman, in a hold-up on March 18.

Steam Shovel Contract Awarded.

William Meyer, of Baltimore, was awarded a contract yesterday by the District Commissioners to furnish the District repair shop with two steam shovels and crew at $29.50 a day for use in improving school grounds.

Glassford Reassured On Dual Pay Tangle

Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, who has forgone all pay as superintendent of police since July for fear of impairing his Army retired pay status, was reassured yesterday by Comptroller General J. R. McCarl.

The economy act requires retired officers to choose between retired pay and private compensation, where both combined run above $3,000. The police superintendent was afraid he would lose future claim to retired pay if he accepted police compensation now.

Without mentioning Glassford by name, the Commissioners put his case up to Mr. McCarl. The Comptroller evaded a formal ruling, holding the question not properly before him. He suggested, however, that "the officer in question" would lose his retirement income only so long as he held his other office and accepted pay for it.

Business High School Plans Are Approved

Plans for the remodeling of the Business High School, which next fall will be supplanted by Roosevelt High School, were approved yesterday by the District Commissioners.

Bids for the project, the estimated cost of which is $90,000, will be advertised this month by the chief clerk of the Engineer Department.

Mrs. Remey's Will Filed for Probate

Husband Is Given Engagement Ring and Life Interest in Residue of Estate.

Mrs. Gertrude H. Remey, who committed suicide in her Massachussetts avenue home early last Friday, named her husband, Charles H. Remey, as the principal beneficiary of her estate, it was disclosed yesterday when her will was filed in District Supreme Court.

The husband is given a diamond engagement ring and a life income from the estate. Anna M. Schaumann is to receive the income from a $25,000 trust fund, and an aunt, Mannie Hucke, is given a life annuity of $50 a month.

Adolph Myer, Kansas City, Mo., and Henry S. Taylor, Winchester, Mass., are given $10,000 each. At the death of Mr. Remey the estate is to be divided between four Kansas City hospitals. Ferdinand Helm is named executor. No valuation was given.

Hunting Tale Fails to Free Pistol Toter

"I was just hunting rabbits."

This declaration, however, didn't save Owen Young, 22, of Ballston, Va., from being charged with carrying concealed weapons at the Seventh Precinct police station, last night.

Young was found on the front lawn of a house at 3421 Reservoir road northwest, brandishing a pistol at Mrs. Lucille Crismond. Mrs. Crismond is the mother-in-law of Young's brother.

Responding to a call of trouble, police arrived in time to find the pair in a heated argument, they said. Young's explanation was that he was "hunting rabbits."

Stories from members of the Crismond family differed, however, and Young was arrested.

Revue Will Begin Tonight at Hotel

Wardman Park Show's Receipts to Aid Local Unemployed.

First of a series of productions planned for the fall season, the Revue Intime will be presented by the Shoestring Productions at the Wardman Park Hotel tonight, tomorrow and Friday nights at 8:15. Theodore Tiller, jr., wrote and is directing the revue.

Dances by three local studio groups; a burlesque on cannibal etiquette; "Juliette," a skit; original songs by Frank Westbrook and Harry Stevens and the University of Maryland Collegians, with Gardner Brooks directing their music, will feature the program.

Tickets are on sale at Wardman Park Hotel, the Willard, Droop's and the local A. A. A. office. All proceeds of the revue will be turned over to Ernest Daniels for use among the children of District unemployed.

Retired Civil Service Worker Is Given Desk

Dr. John T. Doyle, who was retired on June 30 from the position of secretary of the Civil Service Commission, was presented with a desk yesterday on behalf of his fellow employes. The presentation was made by E. Claude Babcock, who succeeded, Dr. Doyle.

Dr Doyle had served the commission from the time of its organization 52 years ago. He was clerk of the first commission. Commissioners George R. Wales and Jessie Dell spoke briefly at yesterday's ceremony.

School to Gain Playground Space.

The District Commissioners yesterday accepted the offer of John T. and Mary T. Cull to sell lot 832 square 73, as part of the added playground for the Stevens School, Twenty-first and K streets, at a price of $6,175. The 1900 square foot tract has on it a two-story frame dwelling.

FRATERNAL SESSION ADDRESSED BY HEAD

Financial Condition of Group Called Thoroughly Sound by George R. Allen.

In face of the fact that nearly 500 municipalities in the United States are now in default in interest or principal upon bond obligations, not a single fraternal society connected with the National Fraternal Congress of America has been reported to have delayed for a single day the payment of any just obligation in the past twelve months, George R. Allen, of Topeka, Kans., president of the congress, declared in his annual report yesterday at the nineteenth annual convention at the Mayflower Hotel.

Mr. Allen, whose address was the high light of the second day of the congress, declared that the fraternal societies of the congress have surmounted the difficulties of the past year because of the courage with which members have faced conditions and through the fact that the lodges in some degree have been able to give assistance and mitigate hardship.

A feature of last night's session was a drill by junior members of the congress. The youngsters conducted an initiation ritual and other ceremonies. They are trained along these lines so that they will be equipped to carry on the work of the congress when they are grown.

Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president of George Washington University, and head of the District George Washington Bicentennial Commission, spoke earlier in the day. He urged greater community activity and interest rather than dependence on bureaus of the Federal Government.

The convention will continue today and tomorrow. More than 300 persons, representing 83 societies, are in attendance.

Boy Scouts Will Greet Hoover on His Birthday

A group of Boy Scouts from the District of Columbia Council, accompanied by representatives from Brooklyn, N. Y., and other parts of the country, will call on the President today at 12:30 p. m. to extend birthday greetings to him.

This is an annual custom of the Scouts of the District of Columbia. Each year they take to the White House some token which has been made at Camp Roosevelt. This year they will present a pair of moccasins to President Hoover.

Auto Crash Injuries Are Fatal to Driver

Complications resulting from injuries received in an automobile accident near Quantico, Va., last Thursday, proved fatal last night to Donald A. Dye, 26, in Naval Hospital.

According to information obtained by police, the machine Dye was driving on the Washington-Richmond highway was forced from the road and overturned. He was brought to Washington by a passing motorist. It is believed his home is in Virginia.

Gen. Goodloe Edgar Succumbs in Paris

War-Time Chief of Aviation Construction Dies While on Visit.

Brig. Gen. Goodloe Edgar, prominent sugar manufacturer of Detroit, Mich., and in charge of aviation construction operation in Washington during the World War, died yesterday in an American hospital in Paris, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Gen. Edgar was 60 years old. His death was caused by a cerebral hemorrhage. He went to Paris last week on a short vacation, and at that time appeared in good health. He complained of being ill last Sunday and was taken to a hospital.

The body was placed in a vault awaiting the arrival of relatives, who sailed yesterday aboard the Leviathan.

COMMODORE BULL RITES.

Will Be Held at Arlington Cemetery at 11 A. M. Today.

Funeral services for Commodore James Henry Bull, U. S. N., retired, will be held at 11 a. m. today at Arlington National Cemetery. The Rev. Dr. Herbert Scott Smith, rector of St. Margaret's Church, will officiate.

Commodore Bull died July 19 in San Francisco, Calif. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Katherine Bull, 2910 Pacific avenue, San Francisco, and by a son, Col. Henry T. Bull, U. S. A., now on duty at the War Department here.

Commodore Bull was born in West Chester, Pa., June 13, 1852, and was appointed a midshipman at the Naval Academy July 25, 1866. He was retired with the rank of commodore after 41 years' active service in the Navy on July 8, 1907.

Two Boys Are Arrested As Suspects in Thefts

With the arrest of two small colored boys last night, police believe they have solved at least a dozen housebreakings over a period of several weeks.

The boys were arrested as they allegedly were attempting to force entrance to a house at 2122 Kalorama road northwest, owned by Mrs. Helen Dunigan, wife of the late J. J. Dunigan, prominent Washington real estate operator. A passerby saw the youths in the rear of the house and summoned police.

Cave-in Suit Asks $25,000.

Negligence on the part of the District government was charged in a damage suit filed yesterday in the District Supreme Court by Wilton E. Disney, of 7732 Blair road northwest. In a suit filed by Attorney Albert D. Esther, Mr. Disney asked for $25,000 because he fell into a cave-in on a sidewalk near his home February, 1931.

SCHOOLGIRLS SEEING CAPITAL

A dozen high-school girls from the Middle West, members of a travel-camp are camped on American University grounds while seeing Washington. The group, which travel by auto under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Olmstead, has covered 2,500 miles. When they leave here Friday they will visit Gettysburg battlefield and return to Oberlin, Ohio, August 17. They are shown writing in their diaries in which they enter their impressions daily under the watchful eyes of two senior councilors, standing, left to right, Misses Frances Robinson and Marjorie Beck.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

WHEN is a revue not a revue? Or perhaps the point at issue is when is vaudeville definitely vaudeville and when not?

At any rate, Chamberlain Brown ran right smack into a snag with the new season's first production, "Scrapbook," which he insists is vaudeville and Equity is equally positive is a revue. Equity, the actors' union, it seems, was irked because Mr. Brown was presenting his charade at daily matinees when its own requirement is that revues be limited to eight performances a week. It's vaudeville, said Mr. Brown; it's a revue, said Equity. So what?

So all of his actors agreed with Mr. Brown that their masquerade was a vaudeville show and refused to quit work in it as Equity had ordered. Incidentally, the only players of wide renown in the cast are Fritzi Scheff and Ethel Norris. The action presents them in loosely connected skits, for the most part consisting of reminiscences of the theater presenting imitations of familiar bits in famous successes of the past.

Now then, what do you think? Is a "Scrapbook" vaudeville or revue? And don't send your answer to me; send it to Equity!

Furthermore, don't tell me all these film folks take their cuts, willy-nilly, and like it!

Rufus LeMaire resigned on immediate notice as Warner Brothers' casting head when the studio refused to give him a salary raise as provided in his contract option it continued for another year. It is reported that he may go to Universal after a short vacation.

Then there was Robert Z. Leonard, celebrated director and former husband of Mae Murray, who balked when Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer suggested that he take a 35 per cent salary reduction and sign a new contract. He will not return to M-G-M following his four-week vacation. It is understood that he has offers from Paramount and Fox.

Then, of course, there was, too, the case of Samuel Blythe Colt, Ethel Barrymore's son, who walked out on Columbia stating that the salary offered him was "too small for a Barrymore." That, it seems to me, would all depend upon what Barrymore it was.

Speaking of the Barrymore's, it is reported that no difficulty whatever has been encountered by M-G-M in arranging billing for the senior members of the royal family in "Rasputin." The order is to be John, Ethel and Lionel, representing, I presume, the inverse of their ability. But what is Emily Post going to say about this total indifference to the old social nicety of "ladies first?"

It is being bruited about that "fun by the bushel will be poured out" at the Shoreham Terrace tonight, when "Country Store Night" will be observed in an impressive bucolic way. Barnee and his Riviera Orchestra will be done up appropriately as farmer boys, in wide-brimmed straw hats, trick overalls and hickory shirts, and will present a specially arranged program of entertainment and musical specialties during which practically every popular song harking back to the land will be introduced—"Out in I-o-way," "On the Banks of the Wabash," (heigh-ho for those boyhood Hoosier days!) "Carry Me Back to Ole Virginny," and all the rest of them. The highlight of the evening, though, will be the midnight distribution of "Country Store" prizes.

But what are you going to do with a live pig, even if you win it?

Paramount has posted notice that the following players can be borrowed: Jack Oakie, Phillips Holmes, Richard Bennett, Adrienne Ames, Sari Maritza, Claire Dodd and Kent Taylor.

Thanks, boys, that's swell, but how about a couple of bucks in cash until Saturday?

Sergt. Lockwood's Funeral Set Today

Marine Corps Veteran to Be Buried in Arlington With Full Honors.

Funeral services for Sergt. Maj. Charles A. Lockwood, Marine Corps veteran, will be held at 1:30 p. m. today at the Tabler Funeral Home, 928 M street northwest. Burial with full military honors will be in Arlington National Cemetery. Sergt. Lockwood died Sunday at Naval Hospital.

He was a resident of Sligo Park Hills, Montgomery County, Md., where he had resided with Mr. and Mrs. David D. Harger, of 102 Sunnyside road, for more than a year. Sergt. Lockwood had served 30 years in the Marine Corps and would have been placed on the retired list next month. He was promoted to sergeant-major from first sergeant three days before his death.

He was a thirty-second degree Mason, his membership being in Cape Haitien Lodge, of the Island of Haiti. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Harriet I. Lockwood; one stepson, David D. Harger, of Sligo Park Hills, and a grandson.

Bids Are Asked to Hide Ruins of Bonus Camps

One of the final chapters of a national incident was written yesterday when the Treasury Department asked for bids for the filling, grading and fencing of the old bonus army camp area on Pennsylvania avenue. They will be opened on August 18.

At the present time a contractor is engaged in demolishing the old buildings on the site between Third and Sixth street south of Pennsylvania avenue. Dirt for the filling work will be taken from the excavation work being done on the foundation of the Department of Agriculture extensible building and the central heating plant.

Bonus Marcher's Infant Son Dies at Gallinger

A 12-week-old infant, Bernard Myers, son of a Pennsylvania bonus marcher, died yesterday in Gallinger Hospital. The father, John Henry Myers, told physicians the baby had been ill for some time, and was on the road to recovery when tear gas used during the bonus rout caused a relapse.

Doctors said the child was suffering from malnutrition and stomach ailments. They admitted, however, there was a possibility the tear gas had aggravated the condition, and that, at any rate, "it didn't do it any good."

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from W. W. Chambers funeral home. Interment will be in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

HOOVER WILL SPEAK AT FALL CEREMONY

Impressive Rites Arranged for Markers at Two New Federal Buildings.

Impressive ceremonies will be held next fall when the corner stones of two great Federal buildings will be laid—the Supreme Court of the United States on October 13 and the Postoffice Department on September 26.

Plans are being completed for the ceremonies. The President and Postmaster General Walter F. Brown will speak at the Postoffice structure at Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue. The Marine Band will play.

When the corner stone of the Supreme Court is placed, Chief Justice Hughes and John W. Davis will speak. Guy Thompson, president of the American Bar Association, will preside.

Plans for this event are in charge of Thomas Thacher, solicitor general, and David Lynn, architect of the Capitol. State governors and attorneys general, justices of high State and Federal courts and distinguished foreign jurists have been invited to attend.

Mrs. William Howard Taft and Mrs. Edward Douglass White, widows of two former Chief Justices, have been asked to attend and to place important relics into the corner stone.
